

An abstract painting of a landscape. The foreground is a vast, textured expanse of blue and teal, resembling water or a dry lake bed. In the center-left, there is a large, dark, circular crater or hole, with a smaller, lighter-colored, irregular shape inside it. The background features horizontal bands of color, including shades of brown, orange, and red, suggesting a distant shore or a sky at sunset. The overall texture is rough and painterly.

New Directions in Australian Foreign Policy John David Legge, 1997 The Australian School of International Relations J. Cotton, 2013-07-10 This book offers the first comprehensive account of the emergence of the IR discipline in Australia Initially influenced by British ideas the first generation of Australian international relations practitioners demonstrated in their work a strong awareness of the unique local conditions to which their theorizing should respond JB

Chifley Julie Soares, 2019-03-19 This combined with his rural background and commitment to the labour movement played a major role in the development of his internationalist perspective Often overlooked by historians Chifley believed that the only way to avoid war and economic depression was through the establishment of international rules based economic and collective security institutions These were beliefs he had held since the early 1930s Chifley was a prime minister with a keen interest in post war Asia who understood that the old colonial order was ending He was a great admirer of the Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru This book reveals the extraordinary convergence of worldviews of two fellow internationalists Chifley and Nehru This convergence can be seen in their views on the need to adjust to a changing post colonial world their internationalism their support for the United Nations their opposition to Western colonialism their anti war attitudes and their animosity towards the American and British Cold War framework through which the post war world was viewed Historian Frank Bongiorno wrote about Julie s work on Chifley it is a tremendous achievement to produce such a new vision of a major political figure it is an important contribution to Australian political foreign policy and intellectual history John W. Burton: A Pioneer in Conflict Analysis and Resolution David J. Dunn, Hans Günter Brauch, Pamela Burton, 2024-04-26 This book charts John W Burton s transition from practitioner in diplomacy to pioneer in the theory of peace research thinking on world society and conflict resolution Born in 1915 given his father s name it was assumed that he would follow his father and become a Christian missionary He did not he joined the Australian Public Service From a junior position he rose rapidly He was forthright and some found him irritating or worse He progressed to the highest levels of policy making Amidst some controversy he resigned abruptly in 1951 He then worked on his farm outside Canberra writing avidly He did not intend to become an academic but in 1963 he was offered a position in International Relations at University College in London and he accepted He was key to the foundation of the International Peace Research Association IPRA in 1964 and of the Conflict Research Society in the UK because he thought that words and ideas were not enough there needed to be instruments of change Looking back he was in fact a secular missionary His aim Simple to change the world This book is an exploration of how conflict should be reinterpreted The ideas of his work are a product not of any metaphysical approach but of experience Burton knew the field Cold War diplomacy civil strife reforming organisations resistance to change He had been there and he found much to criticise This book illustrates what he had to offer and explains why These readings reveal shifts in his ideas cohering incrementally integrated into a new framework This book presents his pioneering and relevant work Transcending disciplinary boundaries it will be of interest to students as well as professionals who address conflict at all levels of society from family to state Rising Power and Changing People David Lowe, Eric Meadows, 2022-09-13
