Physico-chemical Aspects of Textile Coloration Stephen M. Burkinshaw, 2016-02-08 The production of textile materials comprises a very large and complex global industry that utilises a diverse range of fibre types and creates a variety of textile products As the great majority of such products are coloured predominantly using aqueous dyeing processes the coloration of textiles is a large scale global business in which complex procedures are used to apply different types of dye to the various types of textile material The development of such dyeing processes is the result of substantial research activity undertaken over many decades into the physico chemical aspects of dye adsorption and the establishment of dyeing theory which seeks to describe the mechanism by which dyes interact with textile fibres Physico Chemical Aspects of Textile Coloration provides a comprehensive treatment of the physical chemistry involved in the dyeing of the major types of natural man made and synthetic fibres with the principal types of dye The book covers fundamental aspects of the physical and chemical structure of both fibres and dyes together with the structure and properties of water in relation to dyeing dyeing as an area of study as well as the terminology employed in dyeing technology and science contemporary views of intermolecular forces and the nature of the interactions that can occur between dyes and fibres at a molecular level fundamental principles involved in dyeing theory as represented by the thermodynamics and kinetics of dye sorption detailed accounts of the mechanism of dyeing that applies to cotton and other cellulosic fibres polyester polyamide wool polyacrylonitrile and silk fibres non aqueous dyeing as represented by the use of air organic solvents and supercritical CO₂ fluid as alternatives to water as application medium The up to date text is supported by a large number of tables figures and illustrations as well as footnotes and widespread use of references to published work The book is essential reading for students teachers researchers and professionals involved in textile coloration American Publishers' Circular and Literary Gazette, 1855 The Publishers Weekly, 1924 Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly, 1897 The Marine World Frances

Dipper, 2021-06-08 The Marine World is a book for everyone with an interest in the ocean from the marine biologist or student wanting expert knowledge of a particular group to the naturalist or diver exploring the seashore and beyond With colour illustrations line drawings more than 1 500 colour photographs and with clear accessible text this book encompasses all those organisms that live in on and around the ocean bringing together in a single text everything from the minuscule to the immense It includes sections on all but the most obscure marine groups covering invertebrate phyla from sponges to sea squirts as well as plants fungi bacteria fish reptiles mammals and birds It incorporates information on identification distribution structure biology ecology classification and conservation of each group addressing the questions of what where and how Today global warming overfishing ocean acidification and pollution are just a few of the ever increasing number of threats and challenges faced by ocean life Without knowledge of the animals plants and other organisms that live in the marine world we cannot hope to support or implement successful conservation and management measures nor truly appreciate the incredible wealth and variety of marine life The Marine World is the product of a lifetime spent by Frances Dipper happily observing and studying marine organisms the world over It has been brought to colourful life by a myriad of enthusiastic underwater photographers and by Marc Dando the renowned natural history illustrator A History of Credit and Power in the Western World Scott B. MacDonald,Albert L. Gastmann,2001 This volume examines the evolution of credit in the western world and its relationship to power Spanning several centuries of human endeavour it focuses on western Europe and the United States and also considers how the western system became the global credit system Groundwater Ecology and Evolution Florian Malard,Christian Griebler,Sylvie Retaux,2023-03-11 Groundwater Ecology and Evolution Second Edition is designed to meet a multitude of audience needs The state of the art in the discipline is provided by the articulation of six sections The first three sections successively carry the reader into the basic attributes of groundwater ecosystems section 1 the drivers and patterns of biodiversity section 2 and the roles of organisms in groundwater ecosystems section 3 The next two sections are devoted to evolutionary processes driving the acquisition of subterranean biological traits section 4 and the way these traits are differently expressed among groundwater organisms section 5 Finally section 6 shows how knowledge acquired among multiple research fields sections 1 to 5 is used to manage groundwater biodiversity and ecosystem services in the face of future groundwater resource use scenarios Emphasis on the coherence and prospects of the whole book is given in the introduction and conclusion Provides a modern synthesis of research dedicated to the study of groundwater biodiversity and ecosystems Bridges the gap between community ecology evolution and functional ecology three research fields that have long been presented isolated from each other Explains how this trans disciplinary integration of research contributes to understanding and managing of groundwater ecosystem functions Reveals the contribution of groundwater ecology and evolution in solving scientific questions well beyond the frontiers of groundwater systems
