New Garden Heritage Of New Zealand:

Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand Joanna Boileau, 2017-07-27 This book offers a fresh perspective on the Chinese diaspora. It is about the mobilisation of knowledge across time and space exploring the history of Chinese market gardening in Australia and New Zealand. It enlarges our understanding of processes of technological change and human mobility highlighting the mobility of migrants as an essential element in the mobility and adaptation of technologies. Truly multidisciplinary Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand incorporates elements of economic agricultural social cultural and environmental history along with archaeology to document how Chinese market gardeners from subtropical southern China adapted their horticultural techniques and technologies to novel environments and the demands of European consumers. It shows that they made a significant contribution to the economies of Australia and New Zealand developing flexible strategies to cope with the vagaries of climate and changing business and social environments which were often hostile towards Asian immigrants. Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand will appeal to students and scholars in the fields of the Chinese diaspora in particular the history of the Chinese in Australasia the history of technology horticultural and garden history and environmental history as well as Asian studies more generally.

Design and Heritage Grace Lees-Maffei, Rebecca Houze, 2021-12-29 Design and Heritage provides the first extended study of heritage from the point of view of design history. Exploring the material objects and spaces that contribute to our experience of heritage the volume also examines the processes and practices that shape them. Bringing together 18 case studies written by authors from the United States the United Kingdom Canada Brazil Norway India South Africa Australia and New Zealand the book questions how design functions to produce heritage. Including provocative case studies of objects that reinterpret visual symbols of cultural identity and buildings and monuments that evoke feelings of national pride and historical memory as well as landscapes embedded with trauma contributors consider how we can work to develop adequate shared conceptual models of heritage and apply them to design and its histories. Exploring the distinction between tangible and intangible heritages the chapters consider what these categories mean for design history and heritage. Finally the book questions whether it might be possible to promote a truly equitable understanding of heritage that illuminates the social cultural and economic roles of design. Design and Heritage demonstrates that design historical methods of inquiry contribute significantly to critical heritage studies. Academics researchers and students engaged in the study of heritage design history material culture folklore art history architectural history and social and cultural history will find much to interest them within the pages of the book.

The New Garden Heritage of New Zealand Mary Burnard, 1990

Archaeology and History of the Chinese in Southern New Zealand During the Nineteenth Century Neville A. Ritchie, 2023-11-01 This revised edition of Dr Neville A Ritchie's 1986 PhD dissertation explores the history and archaeology of the 19th century Chinese mining communities in the Clutha Valley New Zealand. Lavishly illustrated with black and white line drawings of Chinese domestic and industrial sites and of the artefacts excavated from them this study offers unprecedented insight into the life and material culture of these male only sojourner communities Widely considered the most comprehensive archaeological study of overseas Chinese miners experience anywhere in the world this volume contains the total summation and analysis of artefacts found in 23 Chinese sites excavated over nine years which included two camps with 40 individual huts and other features a Chinese store and 20 rural sites including miner s huts and rock shelters Considered by the Australian Society for Historical Archaeology to be a seminal work in the field of historical archaeology this 2023 edition introduces Dr Ritchie s groundbreaking work to the next generation of archaeologists

New Zealand's First World War Heritage Imelda Bargas,Tim Shoebridge,2015-04-01 Rediscover New Zealand s hidden First World War history through the places where it happened No battles were fought here yet the First World War intruded into the daily life of every New Zealander who remained at home This ground breaking book provides vivid new insights into their experiences through exploring the places where they lived worked coped and mourned army camps fortifications soldier settler farms town halls wharves convalescent homes and hospitals cemeteries and war memorials dairy factories and woollen mills From Northland to Stewart Island our landscape is signposted with thousands of poignant memorials and behind the fa ades of old buildings beneath scrub and behind farm fences lies a less visible landscape of war and hundreds of hidden stories waiting to be told a soldier s name carved on a remote railway station a once bustling uniform factory in the heart of a city a long abandoned gun battery This unique book will be a revelation to all New Zealanders Extensively illustrated with new and period photographs and fascinating maps it contains original research and information that will open the eyes of every reader to places and stories in their community hidden in plain sight The impact of the First World War on New Zealanders was immense its legacy can be seen all around us today

Changing Representations of Nature and the City Gabriel N. Gee,Alison Vogelaar,2018-07-04 The turn of the 1960s 70s characterized by the rapid acceleration of globalization prompted a radical transformation in the perception of urban and natural environments The urban revolution and related prospect of the total urbanisation of the planet in concert with rapid population growth and resource exploitation instigated a surge in environmental awareness and activism One implication of this moment is a growing recognition of the integration and interconnection of natural and urban entities The present collection is an interdisciplinary inquiry into the changing modes of representation of nature in the city beginning from the turn of the 1960s 70s Bringing together a number of different disciplinary approaches including architectural studies and aesthetics heritage studies and economics environmental science and communication the collection reflects upon the changing perception of socio natures in the context of increasing urban expansion and global interconnectedness as they are were manifest in specific representations Using cases studies from around the globe the collection offers a historical and theoretical understanding of a paradigmatic shift whose material and symbolic legacies are still accompanying us in the early 21st century
