Objects of My Affection Jill Smolinski, 2012-05 Struggling to start over after a failed relationship and her son's entry into drug rehab a struggling Lucy Bloom tackles an unexpectedly challenging job clearing the cluttered home of a reclusive artist and hoarder who hides an astonishing secret Exhibition Galleria Schwarz, 1964 The Objects of My Affection Sarah Lugg, 2000-10 Shaping everyday ordinary objects such as dried flowers shells and buttons into fascinating collages English artist Sarah Lugg creates what she likes to call visual diaries In her first major gift book The Objects of My Affection Sarah's visual diaries take a turn toward the romantic Sarah marries her collections of feathers stamps stones and flowers with the romantic poetry of classic writers such as Burns Shakespeare Keats Shelley and Longfellow to give readers and collectors a message of love and romance This beautiful gift collection of Sarah's artwork features love hearts and romantic creations that are sure to capture readers' emotions Objects of My Affection Man Ray, 1983 Eroticisms Jerry S. Piven, 2003 Eroticisms Love Sex and Perversion explores the elusiveness of human sensuality In an era of conflicting moral relativism political correctness validation of lifestyle choices liberation hedonism and postmodern pansexualism versus resurgent puritanism conservatism fundamentalism and theological anti sexualism this fifth volume of Psychological Undercurrents of History penetrates current debates and delves into the past to grasp the viscous ambiguities of sexuality and reassess the question of whether the erotic can be perverse Man Ray Jennifer Mundy, 2016-03-01 Man Ray 1890-1976 was a pioneer of the Dada movement in the United States and France and a central protagonist of Surrealism Today he is one of the best known American artists of the twentieth century celebrated above all for his innovative and often seductively glamorous photography Surprisingly given Man Ray's key role in the history of early twentieth century Modernism a comprehensive collection of his writings on art has not been published in English until now Man Ray Writings on Art fills a conspicuous gap in scholarship on the artist and his period It brings together his most significant writings many of them published here for the first time These occasionally quixotic texts which include artist books essays interviews letters and visual poems reveal the incredible scale of the artist's output and the remarkable continuity of his aesthetic and political beliefs This volume offers a long overdue vision of Man Ray as someone who used words both as a creative medium and as a means of articulating ideas about the nature and value of art With richly reproduced illustrations it provides powerful insight not only to scholars of art history and academics but also to working artists and those who count themselves as Man Ray fans

Designing Women Lucy Fischer, 2003-07-30 Grand sensational and exotic Art Deco design was above all modern exemplifying the majesty and boundless potential of a newly industrialized world From department store window dressings to the illustrations in the Sears Roebuck Co catalogs to the glamorous pages of Vogue and Harper's Bazar Lucy Fischer documents the ubiquity of Art Deco in mainstream consumerism and its connection to the emergence of the New Woman in American society Fischer argues that Art Deco functioned as a trademark for popular notions of femininity during a time when women were widely considered to be the primary consumers in the average household and as the tactics of advertisers as well as the content of new magazines such as Good Housekeeping and the Woman's Home Companion increasingly catered to female buyers. While reflecting the growing prestige of the modern woman, Art Deco inspired consumerism helped shape the image of femininity that would dominate the American imagination for decades to come. In films of the middle and late 1920s the Art Deco aesthetic was at its most radical. Female stars such as Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford and Myrna Loy donned sumptuous Art Deco fashions while the directors Cecil B. DeMille, Busby Berkeley, Jacques Feyder and Fritz Lang created cinematic worlds that were veritable Deco extravaganzas. But the style soon fell into decline and Fischer examines the attendant taming of the female role throughout the 1930s as a growing conservatism challenged the feminist advances of an earlier generation. Progressively muted in films, the Art Deco woman once an object of intense desire gradually regressed toward demeaning caricatures and pantomimes of unbridled sexuality. Exploring the vision of American womanhood as it was portrayed in a large body of films and a variety of genres from the fashionable musicals of Josephine Baker and Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers to the fantastic settings of Metropolis, The Wizard of Oz and Lost Horizon, Fischer reveals America's long standing fascination with Art Deco, the movement's iconic influence on cinematic expression and how its familiar style left an indelible mark on American culture.

The Secret Life of Things Mark Blackwell, 2007. This collection enriches and complicates the history of prose fiction between Richardson and Fielding at mid century and Austen at the turn of the century by focusing on its narratives, a once popular form largely forgotten by readers and critics alike. The volume also advances important work on eighteenth century consumer culture and the theory of things. The essays that comprise The Secret Life of Things thus bring new texts and new ways of thinking about familiar ones to our notice. Those essays range from the role of its narratives in period debates about copyright to their complex relationship with object-riddled sentimental fictions from anti-Semitism in Chrysalis to jingoistic imperialism in The Adventures of a Rupee from the its narrative as a variety of whores' biography to a consideration of its contributions to an emergent middle class ideology.

Remaking the Readymade Adina Kamien-Kazhdan, 2018-05-11. Replication and originality are central concepts in the artistic oeuvres of Marcel Duchamp and Man Ray. Remaking the Readymade reveals the underlying and previously unexplored processes and rationales for the collaboration between Duchamp, Man Ray and Arturo Schwarz on the replication of readymades and objects. The 1964 editioned replicas of the readymades sent shock waves through the art world. Even though the replicas undermined ideas of authorship and problematized the notion of identity and the artist they paradoxically shared in the aura of the originals becoming stand-ins for the readymades. Scholar-poet-dealer Arturo Schwarz played a crucial role opening the door to joint or alternate authorship, an outstanding relationship between artist and dealer. By unearthing previously unpublished correspondence and documentary materials and combining this material with newly conducted exclusive interviews with key participants, Remaking the Readymade details heretofore unrevealed aspects of the technical processes involved in the recreation of iconic long lost Dada objects Launched on the heels of the centenary of Duchamp's Fountain this new analysis intensifies and complicates our understanding of Duchamp and Man Ray initial conceptions and raises questions about replication and authorship that will stimulate significant debate about the legacy of the artists the continuing significance of their works and the meaning of terms such as creativity originality and value in the formation of art researching the custom known as lovelocking for about five years at that point it was with a peculiar sense of pride that I realised love locks had accomplished the status of a stock image

Conversion to Modernism Francis M. Naumann, Man Ray, 2003

Man Ray 1890 1976 has long been considered one of the most versatile and innovative artists of the twentieth century As a painter writer sculptor photographer and filmmaker he is best known for his intimate association with the French Surrealist group in Paris during the 1920s and 1930s particularly for his highly inventive and unconventional photographic images These remarkable accomplishments however have tended to overshadow the importance of his earlier work significant not only for comprehending Man Ray's future artistic development but also for fleshing out our understanding of the visual arts in America during one of the most important and crucial phases of the evolution of modernism The book and the exhibition for which this work will serve as the catalog concentrate on Man Ray's production from 1907 to 1917 Conversion to Modernism will be the first comprehensive fully illustrated work to examine this artist's seminal years The show and the catalog begin with Man Ray's high school years in Brooklyn his studies at the Art Students League and the American Academy in New York and the time he spent in life drawing classes at the more progressive Ferrer Center From 1913 to 1915 Man Ray lived in a small artists colony in Grantwood New Jersey It was here studying with Samuel Halpert a former student of Matisse that Man Ray began to become the artist we know today The last section of the show and of the book include recently discovered photographs and other works that are influenced by a knowledge of the emergent Dada movement Here is Man Ray in recognizable form just before he leaves the country for France in 1921 This exhibit will first be on display at the Montclair Art Museum from January 26 through March 2003 It will then travel to museums in Athens Georgia Philadelphia and Chicago
