Michel de Montaigne

Past Forgetting A True Story Of Memory:

Transformations of Memory and Forgetting in Sixteenth-Century France Nicolas Russell, 2011-04-29 This book proposes that in a number of French Renaissance texts produced in varying contexts and genres we observe a shift in thinking about memory and forgetting Focusing on a corpus of texts by Marguerite de Navarre Pierre de Ronsard and Michel de Montaigne it explores several parallel transformations of and challenges to traditional discourses on the human faculty of memory Throughout Classical Antiquity and the Middle Ages a number of influential authors described memory as a powerful tool used to engage important human concerns such as spirituality knowledge politics and ethics This tradition had great esteem for memory and made great efforts to cultivate it in their pedagogical programs In the early sixteenth century this attitude toward memory started to be widely questioned The invention of the printing press and the early stages of the scientific revolution changed the intellectual landscape in ways that would make memory less important in intellectual endeavors Sixteenth century writers began to question the reliability and stability of memory They became wary of this mental faculty which they portrayed as stubbornly independent mysterious unruly and uncontrollable an attitude that became the norm in modern Western thought as is illustrated by the works of Descartes Locke Freud Proust Foucault and Nora for example Writing in this new intellectual landscape Marguerite de Navarre Ronsard and Montaigne describe memory not as a powerful tool of the intellect but rather as an uncontrollable mental faculty that mirrored the uncertainty of human life Their characterization of memory emerges from an engagement with a number of traditional ideas about memory Notwithstanding the great many differences in concerns of these writers and in the nature of their texts they react against or transform their classical and medieval models in similar ways They focus on memory's unruly side the ways that memory functions independently of the will They associate memory with the fluctuations of the body the organic soul rather than the stability of the mind the intellectual soul In their descriptions of memory these authors both reflect and contribute to a modern understanding of and attitude towards this mental faculty Published by University of Delaware Press Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press

True and False Recovered Memories Robert F. Belli, 2011-11-18 Beginning in the 1990s the contentious memory wars divided psychologists into two schools of thought that adults recovered memories of childhood abuse were generally true or that they were generally not calling theories therapies professional ethics and survivor credibility into question More recently findings from cognitive psychology and neuroimaging as well as new theoretical constructs are bringing balance if not reconciliation to this polarizing debate Based on presentations at the 2010 Nebraska Symposium on Motivation True and False Recovered Memories Toward a Reconciliation of the Debate assembles an expert panel of scholars professors and clinicians to update and expand research and knowledge about the complex interaction of cognitive emotional and motivational factors involved in remembering and forgetting severe childhood trauma Contrasting viewpoints elaborations on existing ideas challenges to accepted models and intriguing experimental data shed light on such issues as the intricacies of identity construction in memory post trauma brain development and the role of suggestive therapeutic techniques in creating false memories Taken together these papers add significant new dimensions to a rapidly evolving field Featured in the coverage The cognitive neuroscience of true and false memories Toward a cognitive neurobiological model of motivated forgetting The search for repressed memory A theoretical framework for understanding recovered memory experiences Cognitive underpinnings of recovered memories of childhood sexual abuse Motivated forgetting and misremembering perspectives from betrayal trauma theory Clinical and cognitive psychologists on all sides of the debate will welcome True and False Recovered Memories as a trustworthy reference an impartial guide to ongoing controversies and a springboard for future inquiry

Thou Shalt Forget: Indigenous Sovereignty, Resistance and the Production of Cultural Oblivion in Canada

Pierrot Ross-Tremblay, 2019-12-31 What is cultural oblivion and psychological colonialism and how are they affecting the capacity of Indigenous Peoples in Canada to actively resist systematic and territorial oppression by the state Following a decade long research project this new book by Pierrot Ross Tremblay examines the production of oblivion among his own community the Essipiuunnuat or People of the Brook Shells River and the relationship between a colonial imperative to forget The book illustrates how the cultural oblivion of vulnerable minority communities is a critical human rights issue but also asks us to reflect upon both the role of the state and the local elite in creating and warping our perception and understanding of history

The Real of Reality: The Realist Turn in Contemporary Film Theory, 2021-08-30 This book provides philosophical insight into the nature of reality by reflecting on its ontological qualities through the medium of film The main question is whether we have access to reality through film that is not based on visual representation or narration Is film in spite of its immateriality a way to directly grasp and reproduce reality Why do we perceive film as real at all What does it mean to define its own reproducibility as an ontological feature of reality And what does film as a medium exactly show The contributions in this book provide from a cinematic perspective diverse philosophical analyses to the understanding of the challenging concept of the real of reality

Dancing the New World Paul A. Scolieri, 2013-05-01 Winner Oscar G Brockett Book Prize in Dance Research 2014 Honorable Mention Sally Banes Publication Prize American Society for Theatre Research 2014 de la Torre Bueno Special Citation Society of Dance History Scholars 2013 From Christopher Columbus to first anthropologist Friar Bernardino de Sahag n fifteenth and sixteenth century explorers conquistadors clerics scientists and travelers wrote about the Indian dances they encountered throughout the New World This was especially true of Spanish missionaries who intensively studied and documented native dances in an attempt to identify and eradicate the idolatrous behaviors of the Aztec the largest indigenous empire in Mesoamerica at the time of its European discovery Dancing the New World traces the transformation of the Aztec empire into a Spanish colony through written and visual representations of dance in colonial discourse the vast constellation of chronicles histories letters and travel books by Europeans in and about the New World Scolieri analyzes how the chroniclers used the Indian dancing body to represent their own experiences of wonder and terror in the New World as well as to justify lament and or deny their role in its political spiritual and physical conquest He also reveals that Spaniards and Aztecs shared an understanding that dance played an important role in the formation maintenance and representation of imperial power and describes how Spaniards compelled Indians to perform dances that dramatized their own conquest thereby transforming them into colonial subjects Scolieri's pathfinding analysis of the vast colonial dance archive conclusively demonstrates that dance played a crucial role in one of the defining moments in modern history the European colonization of the Americas

Awakening the Eye George Kouvaros, 2015-09-01 Until now celebrated photographer Robert Frank's daring and unconventional work as a filmmaker has not been awarded the critical notice it deserves In this timely volume George Kouvaros surveys Frank's films and videos and places them in the larger context of experimentation in American art and literature since World War II Born in 1924 Frank emigrated from Switzerland to the United States in 1947 and quickly made his mark as a photojournalist A 1955 Guggenheim Foundation fellowship allowed him to travel across the country photographing aspects of American life that had previously received little attention The resulting book The Americans with an Introduction by Jack Kerouac is generally considered a landmark in the history of postwar photography During the same period Frank befriended other artists and writers among them Allen Ginsberg Peter Orlovsky and Gregory Corso all of whom are featured in his first film Pull My Daisy which is narrated by Kerouac This film set the terms for a new era of experimental filmmaking By examining Frank's films and videos including Pull My Daisy Me and My Brother and Cocksucker Blues in the framework of his more widely recognized photographic achievements Kouvaros develops a model of cross media history in which photography film and video are complicit in the search for fresh forms of visual expression Awakening the Eye is an insightful compelling and at times moving account of Frank's determination to forge a personal connection between the circumstances of his life and the media in which he works

Memories Forgotten Mary Joyce Lawhorn, 2002-03-27 My Life In Poetry was written about memories long past as well as current events in my own life and my family Writing has been therapeutic for me and I hope will be so for the readers of this book of poems Memories Forgotten Some of them are funny while other are inspirational I have written about sad events in my life as well as the happy times I know that many of you will see your own life unfolding as you read many of the true events of my life

The Myth of Repressed Memory Elizabeth Loftus, Katherine Ketcham, 2013-06-25 According to many clinical psychologists when the mind is forced to endure a horrifying experience it has the ability to bury the entire memory of it so deeply within the unconscious that it can only be recalled in the form of a flashback triggered by a sight a smell or a sound Indeed therapists and lawyers have created an industry based on treating and litigating the cases of people who suddenly claim to have recovered memories of everything from child abuse to murder This book reveals that despite decades of research there is absolutely no controlled scientific support for the idea that memories of trauma are routinely banished into the unconscious and then reliably recovered years later Since it is not actually a legitimate psychological phenomenon the idea of recovered memory and the movement that has developed alongside it is thus closer to a dangerous fad or trendy witch hunt German Post-Socialist Memory Culture Amieke Bouma,2025-10-01 After German unification former officers of the GDR state security service united with GDR professors and cultural managers to establish the East German Committee of Associations OKV On the basis of encompassing oral history into this complex web of interest organizations and memory clubs Bouma argues that these activists are driven by an epistemic nostalgia a longing for the time when their political understanding of the world was seemingly unchallenged Far from constituting a second life of the Stasi the main goal of OKV associations has been to validate the personal biographies of their activists against the now prevalent view that the GDR was a state of injustice While the OKV quickly adapted to the new legal procedures in post socialist Germany their staunch defence of the GDR heritage complicates their relation to SED successor party Die Linke and other radical left parties and associations even when they share practical goals Breaking new ground in the study of post socialist memory culture this book explains why former GDR cadres replicate GDR memory culture against their stigmatized status in unified Germany Trauma, Taboo, and Truth-Telling Nancy J. Gates-Madsen,2016-07-20 Silences taboos and public secrets carry their own deep meaning about Argentina s painful legacy of repression forum for inter-american research Vol 1 Wilfried Raussert,2023-07-20 Volume 1 of 6 of the complete premium print version of journal forum for inter american research fiar which is the official electronic journal of the International Association of Inter American Studies IAS fiar was established by the American Studies Program at Bielefeld University in 2008 We foster a dialogic and interdisciplinary approach to the study of the Americas fiar is a peer reviewed online journal Articles in this journal undergo a double blind review process and are published in English French Portuguese and Spanish The Missing Link in Cognition Herbert S. Terrace,Janet Metcalfe,2005-01-20 Are humans unique in having self reflective consciousness Or can precursors to this central form of human consciousness be found in non human species The Missing Link in Cognition brings together a diverse group of researchers who have been investigating this question from a variety of perspectives including the extent to which non human primates and indeed young children have consciousness a sense of self thought process metacognitions and representations Some of the participants Kitcher Higgins Nelson and Tulving argue that these types of cognitive abilities are uniquely human whereas others Call Hampton Kinsbourne Menzel Metcalfe Schwartz Smith and Terrace are convinced that at least the precursors to self reflective consciousness exist in non human primates Their debate focuses primarily on the underpinnings of consciousness Some of the participants believe that consciousness depends on representational thought and on the mental manipulation of such representations Is representational thought enough to ensure consciousness or does one need more If one needs more exactly what is needed Is reflection upon the representations that is metacognition the link Does a realization of the contingencies that is knowing that in Gilbert Ryle s terminology ensure that a person or an animal is conscious Is true episodic memory needed for consciousness and if so do any animals have it Is it possible to have episodic memory or indeed any self reflective processing without language Other participants believe that consciousness is inextricably intertwined with a sense of self or self awareness From where does this sense of self or self awareness arise Some of the participants believe that it develops only through the use of language and the narrative form If it does develop in this way what about claims of a sense of self or self awareness in non human animals Others believe that the autobiographical record implied by episodic memory is fundamental To what extent must non human animals have the linguistic metacognitive and or representational abilities to develop a sense of self or self awareness These and other related concerns are crucial in this volume s lively debate over the nature of the missing cognitive link and whether gorillas chimps or other species might be more like humans than many have supposed Essentials of Psychology Saul Kassin,Gregory J. Privitera,Krisstal D. Clayton,2022-02-14 In Essentials of Psychology authors Saul Kassin Gregory J Privitera and Krisstal D Clayton propel students into a clear vibrant understanding of psychological science with an integrative learn by doing approach Students assume the role of a psychologist carrying out experiments and making predictions Compelling storytelling real life examples and the authors active practice approach encourages critical thinking and engagement
