Race Intelligence:

Race in Mind A. Alland, 2002-10-18 The notion that intelligence is somehow related to race is a notoriously tenacious issue in America Anthropologist Alexander Alland provides the most comprehensive overview of the recent history of research on race and IQ offering critiques of the biological determinism of Carlton Coon Arthur Jensen Cyril Burt Robert Ardrey Konrad Lorenz William Shockley Michael Levin and others This reasoned authoritative history also explains the basis of evolutionary genetics for the general reader concluding that biologically race cannot explain human variation Written in a lively conversational style Alland imparts real substantive scientific arguments cuts through the ideological posturing and jargon that so often characterizes discussions about race and shows us a more nuanced and scientifically valid way to understand the diversity that is the human condition

Race and Intelligence Jefferson M. Fish, 2013-05-13 In recent years reported racial disparities in IQ scores have been the subject of raging debates in the behavioral and social sciences and education What can be made of these test results in the context of current scientific knowledge about human evolution and cognition Unfortunately discussion of these issues has tended to generate more heat than light Now the distinguished authors of this book offer powerful new illumination Representing a range of disciplines psychology anthropology biology economics history philosophy sociology and statistics the authors review the concept of race and then the concept of intelligence Presenting a wide range of findings they put the experience of the United States so frequently the only focus of attention in global perspective They also show that the human species has no races in the biological sense though cultures have a variety of folk concepts of race that there is no single form of intelligence and that formal education helps individuals to develop a variety of cognitive abilities Race and Intelligence offers the most comprehensive and definitive response thus far to claims of innate differences in intelligence among races

Race in Mind Paul Spickard, 2015-11-19 These essays analyze how race affects people's lives and relationships in all settings from the United States to Great Britain and from Hawai'i to Chinese Central Asia They contemplate the racial positions in various societies of people called Black and people called White of Asians and Pacific Islanders and especially of those people whose racial ancestries and identifications are multiple Here for the first time are Spickard's trenchant analyses of the creation of race in the South Pacific of DNA testing for racial ancestry and of the meaning of multiplicity in the age of Barack Obama

Race, Racism and Psychology Graham Richards, 2003-09-02 Topics with racial implications have been hotly debated in the psychological literature for most of this century and are often in the news Graham Richards takes a historical look at how the concepts of race and racism emerged within the discipline and charts the underlying premises of some famous studies in their social and political contexts No one is allowed to be objective in this arena as opponents will always argue that they are not This account is bound therefore to be controversial and excite interest whether or not readers agree with Richards' stance

IQ Stephen Murdoch, 2009-05-18 Advance praise for IQ A Smart History of a Failed Idea An up to date reader friendly account of the continuing saga of the mismeasure of women and men Howard Gardner author of Frames of Mind and Multiple Intelligences New Horizons The good news is that you won't be tested after you've read Stephen Murdoch's important new book The better news is that IQ A Smart History of a Failed Idea is compelling from its first pages and by its conclusion Murdoch has deftly demonstrated that in our zeal to quantify intelligence we have needlessly scarred if not destroyed the lives of millions of people who did not need an IQ score to prove their worth in the world IQ is first rate narrative journalism a book that I hope leads to necessary change Russell Martin author of Beethoven's Hair Picasso's War and Out of Silence With fast paced storytelling freelance journalist Murdoch traces now ubiquitous but still controversial attempts to measure intelligence to its origins in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Murdoch concludes that IQ testing provides neither a reliable nor a helpful tool in understanding people's behavior nor can it predict their future success or failure A thoughtful overview and a welcome reminder of the dangers of relying on such standardized tests Publishers Weekly Stephen Murdoch delivers a lucid and engaging chronicle of the ubiquitous and sometimes insidious use of IQ tests This is a fresh look at a century old and still controversial idea that our human potential can be distilled down to a single test score Murdoch's compelling account demands a reexamination of our mania for mental measurement Paul A Lombardo author of Three Generations No Imbeciles Eugenics the Supreme Court Buck v Bell

The IQ Argument: Race, Intelligence, and Education Hans Jurgen Eysenck, 1971 The author argues that the observed variability in IQ scores between Black and white people is genetically determined but should not be a factor in supporting segregation

Race and the Genetic Revolution Sheldon Krimsky, Kathleen Sloan, 2011-09-27 Do advances in genomic biology create a scientific rationale for long discredited racial categories Leading scholars in law medicine biology sociology history anthropology and psychology examine the impact of modern genetics on the concept of race Contributors trace the interplay between genetics and race in forensic DNA databanks the biology of intelligence DNA ancestry markers and racialized medicine Each essay explores commonly held and unexamined assumptions and misperceptions about race in science and popular culture This collection begins with the historical origins and current uses of the concept of race in science It follows with an analysis of the role of race in DNA databanks and racial disparities in the criminal justice system Essays then consider the rise of recreational genetics in the form of for profit testing of genetic ancestry and the introduction of racialized medicine specifically through an FDA approved heart drug called BiDil marketed to African American men Concluding sections discuss the contradictions between our scientific and cultural understandings of race and the continuing significance of race in educational and criminal justice policy

IQ in Question Michael J A Howe, 1997-09-29 In this remarkably economical clear and informed book Mike Howe sets about unravelling the formidable semantic logical and empirical knots into which IQ testers and their supporters have tied themselves Howe suggests that we have for decades been asking the wrong kinds of questions He points to the number of alternative theoretically richer views of human intelligence that don't reduce all to a single dimension this is rendered with an easy readable style which assumes no previous technical knowledge British Journal of Educational Psychology In this provocative and accessible book Michael Howe exposes serious flaws in our most widely accepted beliefs about intelligence He shows that cr
