Australia's Toxic Medical Culture Vicki Adele Pascoe, 2018-10-11 This book explores dominance in Australia's medical culture through the positioning of international medical graduates IMGs It argues that IMGs are othered and ultimately positioned as an underclass a positioning validated and reinforced by the intersecting inequalities of class race and nation It also suggests that the positioning of IMGs is organised through the dimensions of structural power hegemonic power and interpersonal power which allow an exploration of power relations between the structures of the health system the Australian medical profession and the agency of IMGs The Australian narrative presented to the world espouses a community of social justice and human rights Instead an historical lens traces the formation and persistence of difference represented in ethnocentrism racism and xenophobia from 1788 to the present The research presented is multidisciplinary in scope An anti oppressive theoretical framework enables the voices of lived experience to penetrate throughout and a social justice platform engages the participants and the reader into the interwoven conversations The data set comprises a focus group 10 individual interviews with IMGs and a selection of inquiry submissions revealing rich and sometimes shocking evidence to paint a stark picture Other medical voices join the conversation via media responses to revelations of experiences not only by IMGs but also by Australian trained doctors It exposes a toxic culture endemic with bullying and sexual harassment This book is of interest to practitioners researchers and administrators in the fields of medical education human resource management legal studies health sciences social sciences health services government departments universities and hospitals as well as those tasked with duty of care and the provision of a safe workplace The voices gifted to this study raise awareness of current issues within medicine in Australia at a very personal level and begin to formulate a policy and practical response to address these disturbing revelations Race, Identity, and Representation in Education

Cameron McCarthy,1993 Despite differing orientations the contributors here all share a common concern for stressing the importance of social context nuance and language in understanding the dynamics of race relations I'm Not Racist But ... 40 Years of the Racial Discrimination Act Tim Soutphommasane,2015-06-01 Is Australia a racist country Why do issues of race and culture seem to ignite public debate so readily Tim Soutphommasane Australia s Race Discrimination Commissioner reflects on the national experience of racism and the progress that has been made since the introduction of the Racial Discrimination Act in 1975 As the first federal human rights and discrimination legislation the Act was a landmark demonstration of Australia s commitment to eliminating racism Published to coincide with the Act s fortieth anniversary this book gives a timely and incisive account of the history of racism the limits of free speech the dimensions of bigotry and the role of legislation in our society s response to discrimination With contributions by Maxine Beneba Clarke Bindi Cole Chocka Benjamin Law Alice Pung and Christos Tsiolkas Race and Racism in Australia ,1989

Australia's Doomed-Race Protective Myth Grant Rodwell,2024-12-27 Periodically in Australian society racial chasms emerge portraying the great divide between Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians exposing the sustained influence of the doomed race protective myth and its residue This book exposes that a long and powerful influence on Australian society economy culture and history has been the doomed race protective myth While most nations harbour protective myths of one form or another often endorsed by Australian governments at all levels and steeped in a cruel racism and inter alia a quest for pastoral lands Australia s doomed race protective myth has asserted an undue influence on First Nations people This book argues the doomed race protective myth warped the vision of power elites politicians and bureaucrats For centuries sustained by representations in official and public history schools churches and a whole host of public institutions the doomed race protective myth has been voiced by almost every facet of non Indigenous Australian society with pastoral Australia particularly benefiting This book opens fresh vistas to the continuing racism in Australian society through an examination of the long politicised doomed race protective myth which was foisted on First Nations people and with vested interests in pastoral Australia Key events in Australia s race relations history such as the 2023 First Nations Voice to Parliament Referendum have new light shed on them Transnational themes relevant to Indigenous history have been examined People with an interest in non Indigenous Indigenous affairs academics politicians and bureaucrats and students will enjoy this book

The ethics of researching the far right Antonia Vaughan,Joan Braune,Meghan Tinsley,Aurelien Mondon,2024-05-07 At a time when far radical and extreme right politics are becoming increasingly mainstream globally sometimes with deadly consequences research in these fields is essential to understand the most effective ways to combat these dangerous ideologies Yet engaging with texts and movements that do physical and verbal violence raises a number of urgent ethical issues Until recently this has remained understudied as scholarship on the far right rarely delves explicitly and critically into the ethics of research This book seeks to remedy this significant gap in an otherwise extensive and growing literature Originating from a workshop series in 2020 in which an international group of academics at various career stages shared the ethical challenges and best practices they had developed in their research this edited collection draws together insights from these ongoing conversations offering urgent critical reflections on key ethical issues

Boarding and Australia's First Peoples Marnie O'Bryan,2022-02-03 This book takes us inside the complex lived experience of being a First Nations student in predominantly non Indigenous schools in Australia Built around the first hand narratives of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander alumni from across the nation scholarly analysis is layered with personal accounts and reflections The result is a wide ranging and longitudinal exploration of the enduring impact of years spent boarding which challenges narrow and exclusively empirical measures currently used to define success in education Used as instruments of repression and assimilation boarding or residential schools have played a long and contentious role throughout the settler colonial world In Canada and North America the full scale of human tragedy associated with residential schools is still being exposed By contrast in contemporary Australia boarding schools are characterised as beacons of opportunity and hope places of empowerment and in the best of cultural restitution In this work young people interviewed over a span of seven years reflect in real time on the intended and unintended consequences boarding has had in their own lives They relate expected and dramatically unexpected outcomes They speak to the long term benefits of education and to the intergenerational reach of education policy This book assists practitioners and policy makers to critically review the structures policies and cultural assumptions embedded in the institutions in which they work to the benefit of First Nations students and their families It encourages new and collaborative approaches Indigenous education programs The Australian People James

Jupp, 2001-10 Australia is one of the most ethnically diverse societies in the world today From its ancient indigenous origins to British colonisation followed by waves of European then international migration in the twentieth century the island continent is home to people from all over the globe Each new wave of settlers has had a profound impact on Australian society and culture The Australian People documents the dramatic history of Australian settlement and describes the rich ethnic and cultural inheritance of the nation through the contributions of its people It is one of the largest reference works of its kind with approximately 250 expert contributors and almost one million words Illustrated in colour and black and white the book is both a comprehensive encyclopedia and a survey of the controversial debates about citizenship and multiculturalism now that Australia has attained the centenary of its federation Australia's New Migrants Maria Elena Indelicato, 2017-09-22 This book offers a comprehensive and critical analysis of the tropes employed in the categorization of international students living and studying in Australia Establishing the position of migrant students as subjects of the border the author employs various models of emotion in an analysis of the ways in which public debates on migration and education in Australia have problematised international students as an object of national compassion or resentment in relation to other national concerns at the time such as the country's place in the Asia Pacific region the integrity of its borders and the relative competitiveness of its economy Applying an innovative methodology which combines the breadth of a diachronic study with the depth afforded by the close analysis of a diverse range of case studies including the protests staged by Indian international students against a spate of violent attacks which led to their labelling as soft targets in national discourses Australia's New Migrants constitutes an important contribution to our understanding of the ways in which emotions shape national collectives orientation towards others As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology cultural studies and education with interests in migration race and emotion
