Reading Miscellany in the Roman Empire Scott J. DiGiulio, 2024 Aulus Gellius and his sole surviving work the Noctes Atticae NA have long stood on the periphery of Classical scholarship This second century CE compilation conventionally termed a miscellany collects vast amounts of otherwise lost ancient literature and the depictions of scholarly activity throughout the work have led some to see in Gellius a kindred spirit a Classicist avant la lettre Yet the NA is a fascinating work of literature in its own right depicting the intellectual and literary culture at the height of the Roman Empire and offering invaluable evidence for the evolution of Latin prose as a literary form in the Antonine period In contrast to previous scholarship that looks past the randomness of the NA this book argues that the conceit of disorder enabled Gellius to probe the nature of reading in the second century CE Gellius central preoccupation is articulating a distinct set of ways of reading that may be employed to navigate the web of literature in the Roman Empire In turn each of these ways of reading through material framing devices focal characters recurrent citations in dialogue with one another and allusive references to other near contemporary works can be used to examine Gellius collection and appreciate its literary qualities Incorporating inter and intratextual analysis alongside narratology informed approaches this book investigates the strategies used by Gellius to innovate within the Latin literary tradition and provides a framework for interpreting his varietas on its own terms

Theory for Religious Studies William E. Deal, Timothy Kandler Beal, 2004 First Published in 2005 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Reading Romantics Peter J. Manning, 1990 These thirteen essays some previously published and others appearing here for the first time are united by a continuing endeavour to join formalism with wider concerns They seek to reconnect literature with the motives from which it springs and the social relations within which it exists There is fusion of psychoanalytic insight textual criticism and historical scholarship Amongst the writers discussed are Wordsworth and Byron Channeling the Future Lincoln Geraghty, 2009-04-02 Though science fiction certainly existed prior to the surge of television in the 1950s the genre quickly established roots in the new medium and flourished in subsequent decades In Channeling the Future Essays on Science Fiction and Fantasy Television Lincoln Geraghty has assembled a collection of essays that focuses on the disparate visions of the past present and future offered by science fiction and fantasy television since the 1950s and that continue into the present day These essays not only shine new light on often overlooked and forgotten series but also examine the look of science fiction and fantasy television determining how iconography location and landscape special effects set design props and costumes contribute to the creation of future and alternate worlds Contributors to this volume analyze such classic programs as The Twilight Zone Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea and The Man from U N C L E as well as contemporary programs including Star Trek The Next Generation Angel Firefly Futurama and the new Battlestar Galactica These essays provide a much needed look at how science fiction television has had a significant impact on history culture and society for the last sixty years Branding and Designing Disability Elizabeth DePoy, Stephen Gilson, 2014-06-27 Over the past fifty years design and branding have become omnipotent in the market and have made their way to other domains as well Given their potential to divide humans into categories and label their worth and value design and branding can wield immense but currently unharnessed powers of social change Groups designed as devalued can be undesigned redesigned and rebranded to seamlessly and equivalently participate in community work and civic life This innovative book argues that disability as a concept and category is created reified and segregated through current design and branding that begs for creative change Transcending models of disability that locate it either as an embodied medical condition or as a socially constructed entity this book challenges the very existence and usefulness of the category itself Proposing and illustrating creative and responsible design DePoy and Gilson include thinking and action strategies that are useful and potent for undesigning redesigning and rebranding to meet the full range of human needs and to enhance full participation in local through global communities Divided into two parts the first section presents a critical examination of disability as a designed and branded phenomenon exploring what exactly is being designed and branded and how The second part investigates the redesign of disability and provides principles for redesign and rebranding illustrated with examples from high tech to place based sustainable strategies The book provides a unique and contemporary framework for thinking about disability as well as providing relevant design and branding guidance to designers and engineers interested in embodiment issues

The Social Life of Sound Sophia Maalsen, 2019-01-28 The Social Life of Sounds argues for the agency of sounds and music and the acceleration of their social lives in the Digital Age Drawing upon research with composers producers record collectors DJs and record labels the book problematises the notion of artistic authorship as it is framed in Western systems of property Acknowledging that things sounds samples and recorded music and people are co constituted and that personhood is distributed through things and their reuse Maalsen makes a case for understanding sound as multibiographical and challenges the possessive individual that is the basis of artistic copyright

The Modern Construction and Postmodern Deconstruction of Self Kire Sharlamanov, Mia Kostovska, 2025-02-21 This book aims to explain the self as understood decades ago and its evolution in the time of postmodernism Approaching it primarily from a sociological perspective while incorporating insights from psychology and philosophy it portrays the modern self as a unitary coherent unified subject created in the time of modernity which during postmodernism has evolved into a fluid decentralized and fragmented subject with increasingly independent multiple identities The creation of the modern self has been influenced by individualization rationalization and power Each factor is explored in a separate chapter detailing its impact on the development of the modern Cartesian self The authors draw on the theories of Goffman Bauman and Baudrillard to illustrate the changing nature of the self viewing it as a performer a fluid entity and a simulacrum While Goffman is not strictly a postmodern author his ideas foreshadow postmodernism particularly regarding the transformation of the self Bauman and Baudrillard as key figures in postmodern thought provide valuable insights into this transformation of the self in contemporary times The book uniquely connects two time periods in which the self evolves arguing that social factors influence its changing characteristics As these social factors shift over time so does the self Key aspects of the self and its evolution are examined through an original multidimensional approach that spans a longer time interval Narrative after Deconstruction Daniel

Punday,2003-01-01 Interrogating stories told about life after deconstruction and discovering instead a kind of afterlife of deconstruction Daniel Punday draws on a wide range of theorists to develop a rigorous theory of narrative as an alternative model for literary interpretation Drawing on an observation made by Jean Francois Lyotard Punday argues that at the heart of narrative are concrete objects that can serve as lynchpins through which many different explanations and interpretations can come together Narrative after Deconstruction traces the often grudging emergence of a post deconstructive interest in narrative throughout contemporary literary theory by examining critics as diverse as Jacques Derrida Gilles Deleuze

Elizabeth Grosz and Edward Said Experimental novelists like Ronald Sukenick Raymond Federman Clarence Major and Kathy Acker likewise work through many of the same problems of constructing texts in the wake of deconstruction and so provide a glimpse of this post deconstructive narrative approach to writing and interpretation at its most accomplished and powerful The Hummer Elaine Cardenas, Ellen Gorman,2007-01-01 The Hummer Myths and Consumer Culture is a study of the notorious automobile sports utility vehicle Featuring more than fifteen essays this collection analyzes the Hummer through a wide array of disciplines including material culture marketing and advertising popular culture military technology urban planning and political economy It provides a complete overview of the vehicle production marketing aspects and cultural significance The only book of its kind The Hummer is of great value to cultural studies and American studies scholars and students as well as to any general reader with an interest in contemporary American culture Kathy Acker Margaret
