discusses film noir as a cultural phenomenon whose history is more extensive and diverse than American black and white crime thrillers of the forties. An extended Background Chapter situates film noir within its cultural context describing its origin in German Expressionism, French Poetic Realism and in developments within American genres: the gangster, crime, thriller, horror and the Gothic romance and its possible relationship to changes in American society. Five chapters are devoted to classic film noir, 1940-59; chapters explore its contexts of production and reception, its visual style and its narrative patterns and themes; chapters on character types and star performances elucidate noir's complex construction of gender with its weak ambivalent males and predatory femmes fatales and also provide a detailed analysis of three noir auteurs: Anthony Mann, Robert Siodmak and Fritz Lang. Three chapters investigate neo-noir and British film noir; chapters trace the complex evolution of neo-noir in American cinema from the modernist critiques of Night Moves and Taxi Driver to the postmodern hybridity of contemporary noir including Seven, Pulp Fiction and Memento; the final chapter surveys the development of British film noir, a significant and virtually unknown cinema stretching from the thirties to Mike Hodges' Croupier. Films discussed include both little-known examples and seminal works such as Double Indemnity, Scarlet Street, Kiss Me Deadly and Touch of Evil. A final section provides a guide to further reading, an extensive bibliography and a list of over 500 films referred to in the text. Lucidly written, Film Noir is an accessible, informative and stimulating introduction that will have a broad appeal to undergraduates, cinema teachers and researchers. Great Lives from History Frank Northern Magill, 1995

After the War is Over Maureen Lee, 2012-05-10. A heart-warming tale set in Liverpool and London during the post-war years from bestselling author Maureen Lee. Queen of saga writing, My Weekly Liverpool, 1945. Three women, firm friends, return home from the war and try to fit back into their old lives after they've been demobbed. They've been thrown together by the war and have shared all sorts of good and bad times. Now their old lives seem dull in comparison. But not for long. The younger women, Maggie and Nell, are both twenty-one and are full of hope and excitement. Iris, on the other hand, is feeling apprehensive about returning to civilian life. At the age of thirty, her only wish in life is to have a baby, but sadly, this wish has yet to come true. When one of the women falls pregnant, there begins a dramatic sequence of events so far-reaching that the three friends' lives will become more intricately interwoven than they could ever have imagined. Over the next quarter of a century, this story of three remarkable and very different women unfolds into an uplifting tale of how three ordinary families become extraordinary.

A Woman's View Jeanine Basinger, 2013-09-04. Now Voyager. Stella Dallas. Leaver Her to Heaven. Imitation of Life. Mildred Pierce. Gilda. These are only a few of the hundreds of women's films that poured out of Hollywood during the thirties, forties and fifties. The films were widely disparate in subject, sentiment and technique; they nonetheless shared one dual purpose to provide the audience of women primarily with temporary liberation into a screen dream of romance sexuality luxury suffering or even wickedness and then send it home reminded of reassured by and resigned to the fact that no matter what else she might do a woman's most important job was to be a woman Now with boundless knowledge and infectious enthusiasm Jeanine Basinger illuminates the various surprising and subversive ways in which women's films delivered their message Basinger examines dozens of films exploring the seemingly intractable contradictions at the convoluted heart of the woman's genre among them the dilemma of the strong and glamorous woman who cedes her power when she feels it threatening her personal happiness and the self abnegating woman whose selflessness is not always as noble as it appears Basinger looks at the stars who played these women and helps us understand the qualities the right off screen personae the right on screen attitudes the right faces that made them personify the woman's film and equipped them to make believable drama or comedy out of the crackpot plots the conflicting ideas and the exaggerations of real behavior that characterize these movies In each of the films the author discusses whether melodrama screwball comedy musical film noir western or biopic a woman occupies the center of her particular universe Her story in its endless variations of rags to riches boy meets girl battle of the sexes mother love doomed romance inevitably sends a highly potent mixed message Yes you women belong in your proper place that is content with the Big Three of the women's film world men marriage and motherhood but meanwhile and paradoxically see what fun glamour and power you can enjoy along the way A Woman's View deepens our understanding of the times and circumstances and attitudes out of which these movies were created
