Shanghai's Role In The Economic Development Of China Reform Of Foreign Trade And Investment:

Shanghai's Role in the Economic Development of China Gang Tian, 1996-11-25 This pioneering work presents for the first time a comprehensive study of the role of Shanghai in the economic development of China. Shanghai experienced stagnation and setbacks in comparison with other big cities and provinces in South China with the open door policy of 1979 and other economic reforms. In terms of export volume, use of foreign capital and overall economic growth, Shanghai remained behind Guangdong and Jiangsu. The fundamental question of why Shanghai maintained a lead position in the national economy and how it was neglected in the Special Economic Zones established in early 1980 is examined herein. In addition, the benefits of trade reform, comparative advantage and foreign direct investment in Shanghai's recent expansion is discussed.

Provincial Strategies of Economic Reform in Post-Mao China Peter T. Y. Cheung, Zhimin Lin, 1998 This book studies economic decentralization in eight Chinese provinces: Shanghai, Zhejiang, Guangdong, Shaanxi, Shandong, Fujian, Hainan, and Sichuan, by focusing on the role of provincial leadership in the initiation and implementation of economic reform.

Exports, Foreign Direct Investment and Economic Development in China X. Fu, 2004-08-20 This volume, based on a series analysis using up-to-date econometric technique, systematically investigates the role that exports and foreign direct investment (FDI) have played in China's development process and questions the received wisdom that exports and FDI are always an unalloyed blessing. It focuses on the transmission mechanisms through which exports and FDI influence growth and economic development and investigates the impact of exports and FDIs on employment, development, financing, and productivity growth amongst other issues in China.

Economic Development and Inequality in China Hong Yu, 2017-09-29 The conventional belief that all regions have equally benefited from China's remarkable development over the last three decades is subjected to criticism in this book, as Hong Yu systematically analyses the issue of regional inequality during the post 1978 period, using the case of Guangdong. Guangdong is one of the key industrial centres and economic powerhouses in China and as a pioneer province instigating economic reform as China opened up to the world, it offers an ideal focus upon which to question and enrich the Western theories of economic geography and regional disparity. Based on field research, analysis of geographic characteristics and regression models, this book illustrates how Guangdong's impressive development record has been marred by its rising regional disparity, investigates the main causes of this disparity and draws conclusions regarding the lessons China can learn from it. Economic Development and Inequality in China will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese economics, Chinese regional studies, economic geography and China Studies. Hong Yu is a Visiting Research Fellow at the National University of Singapore. His research interests lie in the field of regional economy. He is the author of a chapter on China's two delta regions in the book China and The Global Economic Crisis. Globalization, the Third World State and Poverty-Alleviation in the Twenty-First Century B. Ikubolajeh Logan, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2002. Bringing together an inspiring mix of US and African contributors, this book explores the dynamics of the unfolding globalized economic political socio cultural and environmental systems Featuring incisive international commentary on the causes and consequences of poverty in the Third World it presents a powerful study of the strategies by which Third World governments and civil society can overcome poverty by insinuating themselves more creatively into the global order The result is one of the defining works so far produced on the tensions between globalization and development

Chinese Science and Technology Industrial Parks Susan M. Walcott, 2017-11-30 Title first published in 2003 This book examines types of advanced technology Chinese districts set aside for developing products for national and global markets Culminating in a proposed best practice model for Chinese integration into global networks based on China's own particular political economy

Business and Politics in Asia's Key Financial Centres J. J. Woo, 2015-12-14 This book provides unique insights into the politics of finance and the socio political relations which drive financial policymaking in Hong Kong Singapore and Shanghai While the existing literature in the field focuses mainly on economic explanations for financial centre development this book fills a gap by focusing on the socio political relations which underpin the financial policy making process Drawing on extensive interviews with senior policy makers and financial sector professionals the book describes how state industry relations drive financial policy making in three major financial hubs Insights and policy recommendations drawn from these interviews will be particularly useful for policy makers and financial sector professionals hoping to draw lessons from the successful development of the three leading Asian financial centres Business and Politics in Asia's Key Financial Centres draws on public policy theoretical frameworks for its analytical basis The three chapters focusing on the historical development of Hong Kong Singapore and Shanghai also provide a consolidated narrative with regard to the development of these three cities as leading financial centres while also serving as independent case studies Scholars focusing on policy processes and political factors that underpin financial sector development as well as instructors and students of public policy international political economy and financial sector policy will find this book useful for their research

The Chinese Economy in the 21st Century Barbara Krug, Hans J. Hendrichske, 2007-01-01 The authors discuss the role of local institutions in coordinating business activities and unleashing entrepreneurship arguing that the sudden growth of new firms and industries is facilitated by changes in business behaviour and institutions Initial private exchange and investment in an environment of ill functioning markets are shown to depend on local networks and local business culture which in turn rely on local tax regimes setting incentives for inherited bureaucracies to engage in economic transformation Finally the book establishes local institutions and local governance as crucial dimensions of China's emerging business system
