International Organizations and Ethnic Conflict Milton J. Esman, Shibley Telhami, 2019-06-30 From Rwanda to Somalia to the former Yugoslavia one feature of the post Cold War world has become dreadfully clear Ethnic conflicts are escalating and with them demands for international intervention But legally most ethnic conflicts are internal matters How are international organizations their resources stretched woefully thin to know when intervention is appropriate or possible This volume addresses the changing nature of relations between war torn multiethnic states and international organizations particularly the United Nations and its agencies Are the established norms that limit intervention in ethnic conflicts adequate to contemporary conditions Can international organizations meet the increasing demand If not what are the consequences of the disparities between established norms current capabilities and expanding expectations and how might these disparities be narrowed The contributors explore the desirability and potential effectiveness of international interventions in ethnic conflicts Detailed studies of two specific cases of severe and violent tensions in Lebanon and

Yugoslavia complement the general discussion with particular insights into the risks and exigencies of international attempts to manage ethnic civil war A deeply thoughtful overview of one of the most pressing and perplexing issues confronting the world today this volume clarifies the changing role of international organizations in an increasingly fragmented world

Race and Urban Space in Contemporary American Culture Liam Kennedy, 2019-07-31 This innovative book looks at representations of ethnic and racial identities in relation to the development of urban culture in postindustrialised American cities The concept of urban space organises the detailed illustration of a series of themes which structure chapters on white paranoia and urban decline memories of urban passage the racialised underclass urban crime and justice and globalisation and citizenship The book focuses on a range of literary and visual forms including novels journalism films narrative and documentary and photography to examine the relationship between race and representation in the production of urban space Texts analysed include writings by Tom Wolfe The Bonfire of the Vanities Toni Morrison Jazz John Edgar Wildeman Philadelphia Fire and Walter Mosley Devil in a Blue Dress Films covered include Falling Down Strange Days Hoop Dreams and Clockers Provocative and absorbing this interdisciplinary treatment of urban representations engages contemporary theoretical and sociological debates about race and the city Issues of space and spatiality in representations of the city are explored and the author shows how expressive forms of literary and visual representation interact with broader productions of urban space

Race and Urban Space in American Culture Liam Kennedy, 2013-04-11 This innovative study looks at the formation of ethnic and racial identities in relation to the development of urban culture The concept of urban space provides the means of organization for comprehensive illustrations of a series of themes including white paranoia and urban decline imagined urban communities urban crime and justice the racialized underclass globalization and new ethnicities Race and Urban Space in American Culture focuses on a wide range of contemporary film and literature including works by African American Irish American Hispanic Puerto Rican and Iranian American authors and examines the ways in which representations of urban space define issues of rights community and citizenship

Political Geography Richard Muir, 1997-05-28 An entirely new text for students of political geography following in the footsteps of the author's highly successful Modern Political Geography Unlike other texts in this field it takes a broad and inclusive view of its subject matter a pluralist and humanistic approach and combines coverage of theory and empirical developments drawn from a wide range of countries throughout

Citizenship and Rights in Multicultural Societies Michael Dunne, 2019-07-29 This topical book examines the debates around contemporary conflicts between liberal democracies and increasingly vociferous special interest groups within society It analyses the way a new sense of difference and the growth of multi culturalism are straining modern notions of citizenship and rights looking in particular at how ethnic conflicts in Eastern Europe have escalated to international tragedies while in the US and Canada race ethnicity and radical feminism are at the heart of a social conflict which challenges national identity and the unity of the state

Ethnic Frontiers and Peripheries Oren

Yiftachel, 2019-03-12 The idea for editing this book originated during an international conference titled Regional Development The Challenge of the Frontier held in December 1993 at the Dead Sea and which was organized by the Negev Center for Regional Development at Ben Gurion University of the Negev In this conference we noticed that little has been said about the impact of Israel's complex mosaic of ethnic groups on the shaping of the country's social and spatial frontiers We have therefore endeavored to bring together a number of perspectives on the evolution of ethnic frontiers in Israel and the role they play in shaping the cultural landscape of this country Yet we later realized that frontier is too limited a term and that it may through various processes have turned into a mosaic of spatial social economic and political peripheries More specifically we attempted to present the process of frontier development as perceived by Israel's ethnic and national minorities We therefore invited contributions from various other Israeli experts on these issues geographers sociologists anthropologists and political scientists which have now become the main body of chapters in this book We trust that they are representative of the main dimensions of the subject
