Sharks: A History of Fear in Australia Callum Denness, 2019-09-24 For as long as people have lived in Australia the shark has loomed large in our fears From the Noongar people of Western Australia who stayed out of the water for fear of being taken to media hysteria about attacks and even sightings today sharks occupy the dark recesses of our national psyche unlike any other predator They challenge the very sense of ourselves as Australians a people who hug the coastline and love the freedom of the surf And the dispute between whether to kill or protect sharks cuts to the political core of our nation yet another divide between the right and the left There is no denying that shark attacks have been increasing in recent years and so have our fears Where do we go from here How worried should we be Journalist Callum Denness deep dives into the history of our relationship with sharks and circles our fear by talking to activists marine biologists politicians surfers survivors and those who've lost loved ones Compelling and challenging this is the clearest picture yet of whether or not we can co exist with sharks Don't get back into the water until you read Sharks A History of Fear in Australia International Wildlife

Smit, 2012-11-27 The Great White shark that is one of the most feared and completely misunderstood creatures in the ocean became part of my 38 years of free diving and spearfishing on the South African and Mozambique coast I had several encounters with this creature and not only the White shark but numerous of the other shark species were encountered during this time Since the White shark fascinated me and although I had some close encounters I never felt that this shark was a man eater but rather a curious creature wanting to inspect the unknown A swimming human kicking with the legs will attract a White shark and most swimmers are bitten on the legs All of this was motivation to start a cage diving operation to introduce the White shark to the many tourists that visit South Africa This book was written to give people an insight into part of my experiences and also better understand the Great White shark Animals and Science Education Michael P. Mueller, Deborah J. Tippins, Arthur J. Stewart, 2017-06-15 This book discusses how we can inspire today's youth to engage in challenging and productive discussions around the past present and future role of animals in science education Animals play a large role in the sciences and science education and yet they remain one of the least visible topics in the educational literature This book is intended to cultivate research topics conversations and dispositions for the ethical use of animals in science and education This book explores the vital role of animals with in science education specimens protected species and other associated issues with regards to the role of animals in science Topics explored include ethical curriculum and pedagogical dimensions involving invertebrates engineering solutions that contribute to ecosystems the experiences of animals under our care aesthetic and contemplative practices alongside science school based ethical dialogue nature study for promoting inquiry and sustainability the challenge of whether animals need to be used for science whatsoever reconceptualizing museum specimens cultivating socioscientific issues and epistemic practice cultural integrity and citizen science the care and nurturance of gender balanced curriculum choices for science education and theoretical conversations around cultivating critical thinking skills and ethical dispositions The diverse authors in this book take on the logic of domination and symbolic violence embodied within the scientific enterprise that has systematically subjugated animals and nature and emboldened the anthropocentric and exploitative expressions for the future role of animals At a time when animals are getting excluded from classrooms too dangerous too many allergies too dirty this book is an important counterpoint Interacting with animals helps students develop empathy learn to care for living things engage with content We need more animals in the science curriculum not less David Sobel Senior Faculty Education Department Antioch University New England Amazing Sharks Steve Parker, 2016-07-15 The great white shark is the biggest predatory fish on Earth Its formidable teeth and ability to swim up to 37 miles 60 km per hour make it a deadly enemy Readers can check out the great white shark up close as well as 19 other amazing species of shark Full color photographs introduce readers to the teeth fins and other body adaptations that make sharks some of the coolest animals out there Fact boxes detail each shark's behaviors including hunting practices and statistics telling their lifespan size and range Wild Capital Barbara K. Jones, 2019-11-11 In Wild Capital Barbara Jones demonstrates that looking at nature through the lens of the marketplace is a surprisingly effective approach to protecting the environment Showing that policy makers and developers rarely associate wild places with monetary values Jones argues that nature can and should be viewed as a capital asset like any other in order for environmental preservation to be a competitive alternative to development Jones describes how the ecosystem services model a tool that connects human well being with the services nature provides can play a critical role in assigning species and their habitats measurable values She uses five highly recognizable animal species moose manatees sharks wolves and bald eagles as examples to show how highly valued charismatic fauna can serve as symbolic representations of entire ecosystems at risk Through an emphasis on branding incentives and ecotourism Jones advocates for channeling the social and economic power of these and other faces of nature to inspire greater environmental awareness and stewardship Contending that many people don t realize how fiscally pragmatic environmental initiatives can be Jones is optimistic that by recognizing the costs of habitat destruction and diminished biodiversity we will make better choices regarding conservation and development In doing so we can more readily move toward co existence with nature and a sustainable future The Azores Marine Ecosystem: An Open Window Into North Atlantic Open Ocean and Deep-Sea Environments Telmo Morato,Mónica Almeida Silva,Gui Manuel Machado Menezes,Ricardo Serrão Santos,Pedro Afonso,Tony J.
