Sharks In Question The Smithsonian Answer:

SHARKS IN QUESTION Victor Gruschka Springer, Joy P. Gold, 1989-04-17 Answers the thousands of questions that have been asked since Jaws about the fish that can see smell hear feel touch taste and detect vibrations Sharks in Question Victor G. Springer, Joy P. Gold, 1989-02-17 Sharks in Question is a collective response to the thousands of questions about sharks received annually by scientists at Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History Written in a question and answer format accompanied by more than 100 photographs and illustrations the book provides knowledge for a general audience as well as students of marine biology Victor Springer provides a comprehensive review of the biology of sharks in three broad divisions shark biology and evolutionary history the supersharks notable for their life history size or temperament and the interactions between sharks and humans including the risk of shark attack The Mammoth Book of Shark Attacks Alex MacCormick, 2013-11-07 The biggest ever selection of first hand accounts and news reports of shark attacks both recent and historical shows how sharks are masters of the ocean and how we enter their domain at our own risk Think you're safe in the Med Read about the Great Whites that thrive near holiday beaches Think you're safe in large groups Read about the sinking of the USS Indianapolis in 1945 when hundreds of sailors floated for days in shark infested waters being picked off one by one Think you're safe at home Read about the 69 year old man taking his regular evening swim jumping off his backyard dock straight into the mouth of a bull shark Many more extraordinary and gruesome accounts including the shark boat skipper who slit open the belly of a 360 kg tiger shark only to have a human head pelvis and arm come tumbling out provide horrific and moving tales of shark encounters The courage of survivors and those who have risked their lives to save shark attack victims is truly inspirational Where can you find sharks Features on different shark species with illustrations fact boxes and maps show where they lurk around the world Also included are a selection of full colour photographs and special sections on the life cycle of a shark how to avoid a shark attack and how to survive one Sharks: An Eponym Dictionary Michael Watkins, Bo Beolens, 2015-01-30 This fascinating reference book delves into the origins of the vernacular and scientific names of sharks rays skates and chimeras Each entry offers a concise biography revealing the hidden stories and facts behind each species name Full of interesting facts and humorous tidbits the authors extensive research and detective work has made this book a comprehensive source of knowledge on everyone associated with the naming of a species A fascinating resource for anyone with an interest in sharks from curious naturalist to professional ichthyologist it is an essential addition to the library of anyone wishing to satisfy those tickling questions on the mysteries behind the names Sometimes a name refers not to a person but to a fictional character or mythological figure Eptatretus eos is named after the Greek goddess of the dawn in reference to the pink colouring of the hagfish The Chilean Roundray Urotrygon cimar named after Centro de Investigaci n en Ciencias del Mar y Limnolog a in honour of its 20th anniversary and the Angular Angelshark Squatina Guggenheim named after the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation are both named after institutions The Whiteleg Skate Amblyraja taaf is just a shorthand way of describing a toponym Territoire des Terres australes et antarctiques françaises There are also entries which are light hearted such as the one for a lady who told us that decoration of her cakes have included rougetail skate Bathyraja trachura red abalone Haliotis rufescens and chinook salmon Oncorhynchus tshawytscha Following the success of their previous Eponym Dictionaries the authors have joined forces to give the Elasmobranch group of fishes a similar treatment but they have also included the describers and authors of the original descriptions of the fishes involved in addition to those names that are or appear to be eponyms They have tracked down some 850 names of living as well as dead people Of these half are eponyms after people who have fish named after them and may also have described a fish or fishes The other half are ichthyologists marine biologists and other scientists who have become involved in the description and naming of sharks rays skates and chimeras For each person mentioned there is brief pithy biography Additionally there are some 50 entries for what sound like eponyms but turned out not to have any connection to a person such as the Alexandrine Torpedo is named after the city in Egypt and not Alexander the Great In some cases these are a reminder of the courage of scientists whose dedicated research in remote locations exposed them to disease and even violent death The eponym ensures that their memory will survive aided by reference works such as this highly readable dictionary Altogether 1 577 fishes are listed Sharks Gene Helfman, George H.

Burgess, 2014-05-15 Do sharks lay eggs or give birth to live young Do sharks sleep How long do they live How likely are shark attacks This book answers your questions about some of nature's most misunderstood animals Answering every conceivable question about sharks authors Gene Helfman and George H Burgess describe the fascinating biology behavior diversity there are more than 1 000 species worldwide and cultural importance of sharks their close relationship to skates and rays and their critical role in healthy ecosystems Helfman and Burgess take readers on a round the world tour of shark habitats which include oceans as well as lakes and even rivers as far up the Mississippi as St Louis They describe huge ferocious predators like Great White and Tiger sharks and species such as Basking and Whale sharks that feed on microscopic prey yet can grow to lengths of more than 40 feet The mysterious and powerful Greenland shark the authors explain reaches a weight of 2 200 pounds on a diet of seal flesh Small less than 2 foot long Cookiecutter sharks attack other sharks and even take a chunk out of the occasional swimmer Despite our natural fascination with sharks we have become their worst enemy Many shark species are in serious decline and a number are threatened with extinction as a result of overfishing and persecution Sharks The Animal Answer Guide presents a perfect mix of current science history anthropology intriguing facts and gripping photographs Whether your fascination with sharks stems from fear or curiosity your knowledge of these animals will improve immensely when you consult this book Snakes in Question, Second Edition George R. Zug, Carl H. Ernst, 2015-03-10 This new edition of Snakes in Question has been completely updated to take into account the most recent research available offering useful scientific information about snakes while dispelling many widely circulated myths and common fears

Accompanied by 100 stunning color photographs and written in the popular question and answer format of Smithsonian's In Question series the book tells how snakes breathe hear smell and much more It covers not only the life cycle of snakes but also explores such phenomena as the rattlesnake's rattle the viper's hiss and the snake charmer's secrets It addresses common folktales about snakes do snakes milk cows and describes giant snakes both real and imaginary The authors also give expert advice on such subjects as distinguishing venomous species from harmless look alikes and keeping snakes as pets

Marine Fisheries Review, 1989 In Harm's Way Doug Stanton, 2003-05-01 A harrowing adrenaline charged account of America's worst naval disaster and of the heroism of the men who against all odds survived On July 30 1945 the USS Indianapolis was torpedoed in the South Pacific by a Japanese submarine An estimated 300 men were killed upon impact close to 900 sailors were cast into the Pacific Ocean where they remained undetected by the navy for nearly four days and nights Battered by a savage sea they struggled to stay alive fighting off sharks hypothermia and dementia By the time rescue arrived all but 317 men had died The captain's subsequent court martial left many questions unanswered How did the navy fail to realize the Indianapolis was missing Why was the cruiser traveling unescorted in enemy waters And perhaps most amazing of all how did these 317 men manage to survive Interweaving the stories of three survivors the captain the ship's doctor and a young marine journalist Doug Stanton has brought this astonishing human drama to life in a narrative that is at once immediate and timeless The definitive account of a little known chapter in World War II history In Harm's Way is destined to become a classic tale of war survival and extraordinary courage Guide to Reference and Information

Sources in the Zoological Sciences Diane Schmidt, 2003-11-30 Animals have been studied for centuries But what are the most important and relevant reference and information sources in the zoological sciences This work is a comprehensive thoroughly annotated directory filled with hundreds of esteemed resources published in the field of zoology including indexes abstracts bibliographies journals biographies and histories dictionaries and encyclopedias textbooks checklists and classification schemes handbooks and field guides associations and Web sites A complete revision of the award winning Guide to the Zoological Literature The Animal Kingdom 1994 this new title includes extensive up to date coverage of invertebrates arthropods vertebrates fishes amphibians and reptiles birds and mammals In addition the work features a detailed introduction by the author as well as thorough subject title and author indexes Students and researchers can now quickly and easily pinpoint works in their field of study The book is of equal importance to LIS students specializing in science or biology librarianship as it provides a comprehensive straight forward overview of zoological information sources An essential addition to the core reference collection of public and academic libraries Shark Mark Carwardine, 2004 A richly illustrated reference Sharks are awe inspiring beautiful mysterious and frightening However perceived they never fail to excite and impress They predate the dinosaurs and have ruled the seas for 400 million years Shark presents the facts and explores the fallacies about these nearly perfectly adapted fish from their prehistoric beginning to their struggle for survival today The book covers Their origins and ancestors Diversity of the species Shark behavior and physiology Research projects Face to face encounters Conservation efforts A detailed chapter on shark attacks explains where when and why attacks occur The book also describes the different types of attacks hit and run bump and bite and sneak attacks and provides useful tips for not becoming a statistic Engagingly written and illustrated with stunning photographs Shark combines the latest scientific findings and celebrates the mystery and diversity of a remarkable species
