

The effectiveness of measurement of students' writing ability of recount text using Writing Assessment Measure

Abstract

The study examined whether it was significantly effective to measure students' writing ability of recount text using Writing Assessment Measure (WAM). The researchers conduct this assessment of WAM to analyse the problem on the tenth grade of High School's students, particularly in less ability to write recount text. The basic competences of less ability such as getting difficulty to find an idea, to arrange the generic structure, to use a correct grammar, to integrate paragraph and combine each of sentences in writing recount text. WAM is one of strategy using in writing which is expected can develop the different skills or abilities of students in achieving written expression. The study was conducted with 15 high school students in the second semester at Kedung Waringin 1 High School by using qualitative method. The data were collected through a questionnaire as instrument to analyse the overview of writing assessment. In this research, the questionnaire designed in the close-restricted questionnaire and proposed to the tenth grade students. The findings indicate that WAM strategy is effective to the tenth grade students to achieve their ability in writing recount text. Furthermore, it has potential strategy in assessing student's writing.

A. Background of Study

The ability of learning a foreign language (i.e. English) means learning the four skills such as listening, speaking, reading and writing. The skills are intimately related to each other, though one is a recognition skill and the others are production skills. Among the four language skills are writing skill included in productive skills. In this skill, the student's writing product becomes a final target of the learning process. Hence, writing has been taught by the learners or students on the High School level. In the context of teaching English at High School level, writing skill is absolutely necessary considering one of the goals in learning English. The goal is to develop the competence of communicating in the form either oral or written and the student's ability in writing.

In this study, the researchers will employ the qualitative method to conduct the research on the High School's students in the tenth grade. In order to gather data related to the research goal, the researchers use questionnaire to analyse the overview of writing
