Measurement Of Household Welfare:

The Measurement of Household Welfare R. W. Blundell, Ian Preston, Ian Walker, 1994-09-15 The measurement of household welfare is one of the most compelling yet demanding areas in economics To place the analysis of inequality and poverty within an economic framework where individuals are making decisions about current and lifetime incomes and expenditures is a difficult task made all the more challenging by the complexity of the decision making process in which households are involved and the variety of constraints they face This 1994 book examines the conceptual and practical difficulties of making inferences from observed behaviour It addresses the problems of making comparisons across a range of very different households and discusses how data for such comparisons should be collected The contributions from experts from Europe North America and Australia have the unifying theme that there is a strong relationship between theoretical concepts from microeconomics and the appropriate use of micro data in evaluating household welfare

The Oxford Handbook of the Malawi

Economy Hopestone Chavula, Thomas Chataghalala Munthali, Harold P. E. Ngalawa, Boniface Dulani, 2024-08-28 The Oxford Handbook of the Malawi Economy is an essential reference material with new research contributions and insights across the different areas of economic development to shape the country's future growth and development trajectory. The volume is the first publication that tries to assess the performance of the Malawi economy since independence by examining how the underpinning political and economic history and the associated policies and strategies have affected the country's long-term socio-economic development. It captures a broad range of opinions, approaches, and conclusions which serve to underline both the complexity of the issues and challenges facing Malawi and the immense difficulties in tackling them. Common themes emerge as many authors agree that the country needs to learn from its past experiences in terms of policy design and implementation and the need to implement dynamic policies that could spur productive and sustained growth and development by tackling challenges associated with the continuously evolving global economic environment.
