

THE 10 ESSENTIAL PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

To protect and promote the health of all people in all communities

The 10 Essential Public Health Services provide a framework for public health to protect and promote the health of all people in all communities. To achieve optimal health for all, the Essential Public Health Services actively promote policies, systems, and services that enable good health and seek to remove obstacles and systemic and structural barriers, such as poverty, racism, gender discrimination, and other forms of oppression, that have resulted in health inequities. Everyone should have a fair and just opportunity to achieve good health and well-being.

Measuring Expenditures For Essential Public Health Services:

Measuring Expenditures for Essential Public Health Services Kay W. Eilbert, Mike Barry, Ron Bialek, Marc Garufi, 1996-06-01 A rapidly changing health care financing delivery system combined with a lack of public awareness regarding public health's contribution to improved health life expectancy poses considerable challenges to the nation's public health infrastructure. Baseline estimates of expenditures for essential public health services are needed at Federal, state, local levels. This report develops tests a methodology for estimating investments in the 10 essential public health services including both personal health services, direct care services to individuals, population-based public health services, preventing disease, promoting health among entire populations. Measuring Expenditures for Essential Public Health Services Kay W. There is growing interest in using performance measurement as a means of holding federal, state, and local health agencies accountable for their use of public funds. Health Performance Measurement in the Public Sector is the second of two books for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services on using and improving performance measurement in publicly funded health programs and the implications for data needs and systems. This book focuses on data and information system issues at the federal, state, and local levels. Recommendations address Policy framework for selecting performance measures and using performance measurement. Operational principles related to data and data systems that support performance measurement. Essential investments in data systems and in training and technical assistance. Research needed to improve performance measures and performance measurement. Public Health in the Americas Pan American Health Organization, 2002. This book describes the principal conceptual, methodological, and empirical developments stemming from PAHO and WHO's institutional efforts in public health which have entailed the broad and committed participation of the Member States. It provides an overview of the status of Essential Public Health Functions (EPHF) in 41 countries and territories of the Americas based on self-evaluation exercises performed by health authorities to measure their performance. District of Columbia Appropriations for 1999 United States.
