Responsiveness in Race-Related Crisis Events Vickie T. Carnegie,2022-11-28 Government Responsiveness in Race Related Crisis Events argues that decision making in crisis events related to race and ethnicity RRCEs is distinctive based upon the historical treatment of people of color and current narratives surrounding race in the United States The author presents racially sensitive crisis events not as independent problems but as symptoms of an underlying condition which began upon the country s founding She contends public officials will need to recognize and draw upon the interrelated nature of these crises for effective solutions and introduces a decision making model for race related crisis events The author uses grounded theory and a critical race lens to explore the decision making of public officials in Alabama South Carolina and Mississippi concerning the removal of the Confederate Flag from state grounds in the aftermath of the 2015 Charleston Church Shooting

Effective and attractive communication signals in social, cultural, and business contexts Oliver Niebuhr,Francesca D'Errico,Ellen Anke Schmid,Alexander Michael Brem,Anna Esposito,2023-06-30 Health, Hazards and Public Debate

Carlos Dora,2006 This publication is based on research into the strategies used to communicate information to the public about the risks of BSE bovine spongiform encephalopathy and CJD Creutzfeldt Jakob disease in four European countries the UK Germany Italy and Finland between 1985 and 2000 through political means and health information systems as well as through mass media reporting of the issue It considers the lessons to be learned from the BSE CJD crisis given the need for timely and effective communication on real and perceived risks in such situations both to prevent and to respond to food and environmental health scares The book approaches the debate about effective risk communication as an evolving and interactive process between decision makers and their publics and emphasises the importance of creating mechanisms for interaction at all stages of policy making Using a range of qualitative and quantitative methods the research also looks at the way people construct their perceptions about risk and how they make decisions on risk avoidance Media Audiences John L. Sullivan,2019-07-24 Whether we are watching TV surfing the Internet listening to our iPods or reading a novel we all engage with media as an audience Despite the widespread use of this term in our popular culture the meaning of audience is complex and it has undergone significant historical shifts as new forms of mediated communication have developed from print telegraphy and radio to film television and the Internet Media Audiences Effects Users Institutions and Power 2nd Edition explores the concept of media audiences from four broad perspectives as victims of mass media as market constructions and commodities as users of media and as producers and subcultures of mass media The goal of the text is for students to be able to think critically about the role and status of media audiences in contemporary society reflecting on their relative power in relation to institutional media producers The Impact of International Television Michael G.

Elasmar,2014-04-08 For several decades cultural imperialism has been the dominant paradigm for conceptualizing labeling predicting and explaining the effects of international television It has been used as an unchallenged premise for numerous essays on the topic of imported television influence despite the fact that the assumption of strong cultural influence is not necessarily reflected in the body of research that exists within this field of study In The Impact of International Television A Paradigm Shift editor Michael G Elasmar and his contributors challenge the dominant paradigm of cultural imperialism and offer an alternative paradigm with which to evaluate international or crossborder message influence In this volume Elasmar has collected original research from leading scholars working in the area of crossborder media influence and contributes his own meta analysis to examine what research findings actually show on the influences of crossborder messages The contributions included here illustrate points such as the contentions of cultural imperialism and the context in which its assumptions emerged and developed the complexities of the relationship between exposure to foreign television and its subsequent effects on local audience members the applicability of quantitative methods to a topic commonly tackled using argumentation critical theory and other qualitative approaches and the difficulty of achieving strong and homogenous effects In bringing together the work of independent researchers The Impact of International Television A Paradigm Shift bridges over 40 years of research efforts focused on imported television influence the results of which as a whole challenge the de facto strong and homogenous effects assumed by those who support the paradigm of cultural imperialism The volume sets a theory driven agenda of research and offers an alternative paradigm for the new generation of researchers interested in international media effects As such the volume is intended for scholars researchers and students in international and intercultural communication cross cultural communication mass communication media effects media and society and related areas It will also be of great interest to academics in international relations cross cultural and social psychology intergroup and international relations international public opinion and peace studies Normalizing Mental Illness and Neurodiversity in Entertainment Media Malynnda Johnson,Christopher J. Olson,2021-04-20 This volume examines the shift toward positive and more accurate portrayals of mental illness in entertainment media asking where these succeed and considering where more needs to be done With studies that identify and analyze the characters viewpoints and experiences of mental illness across film and television it considers the messages conveyed about mental illness and reflects on how the different texts reflect reinforce or challenge sociocultural notions regarding mental illness Presenting chapters that explore a range of texts from film and television covering a variety of mental health conditions including autism post traumatic stress disorder PTSD depression and more this book will appeal to scholars of sociology cultural and media studies and mental health
