New Directions In Urban Public Housing:

New Directions in Urban Public Housing David Varady, 2017-09-29 Public housing is at a crossroads buffeted by demographic economic and political winds Privatization rehabilitation demolition rent certificates and vouchers tenant management tenant ownership resident empowerment these are just some of the current and proposed policy initiatives that could change the face of urban public housing In this book the nation's foremost housing policy experts explore the problems and identify solutions that will define the future of this essential housing sector The contributors review the origins of public housing policy probe the current policy climate and anticipate new directions Chapters are illustrated with case studies from Boston Chicago Decatur Indianapolis San Francisco and Seattle as well as the United Kingdom The book contains sections addressing historical perspectives social issues design issues comprehensive approaches to public housing revitalization and future directions The contributors include Alexander von Hoffman Peter Marcuse William Petersen Leonard F Heumann Karen A Franck David M Schnee Gayle Epp Lawrence J Vale Richard Best Mary K Nenno Irving Welfeld and James G Stockard Jr This book should be read by all city planners housing officials and government personnel

The Unseen Politics of Public Housing Tiffany Gayle Chenault, 2015-08-15 The Department of Housing and Urban Development HUD emphasizes the word community for building economic development citizen participations and revitalization of facilities and services in urban and rural areas Resident Councils are one way to develop and build community among residents of public housing Despite HUD stressing community building in public housing and investing money and policies around it there are some resident councils that are not fulfilling the expectations of HUD This book is my attempt to describe and explain HUD's expectations for the resident council as an active agent for community building and the actual practices of the resident council I argue that policies and regulations of resident councils which exist to support the effectiveness of the resident council in creating and implementing community building self sufficiency and empowerment activities and goals in a public housing community may do more harm than good The Department of Housing and Urban Development invests and spends billions on Public Housing Programs 6.6 billion in 2013 The majority of the 1.2 million people who live in public housing do not live in large urban areas with thousands of people confined to a certain space The majority of public housing units 90% have fewer than 500 units These smaller units and the people that live in them tend to go unnoticed This ethnographic case study focuses on explaining and understanding the factors and constraints that exist between HUD's expectations for the resident council as an active agent for community building and the actual practices of the resident council To explain the disjunction in fact to determine if such disjunctions identified by Rivertown council members are real Using the tenets of Critical Race Theory allows us to understand what forces either real or imagined structural or cultural prevent the resident council from being an effective agent for change in the public housing community
