Race, Language, and Subjectivation Liesa Rühlmann, 2023-10-28 Many school students in Germany are plurilingual and use German and further languages in their daily lives This use is differently approached and valued Not only languages spoken but race too plays a role in how language use is addressed in schools Interviews that were conducted and analyzed with a Grounded Theory approach show that subject positions assigned to students concerning plurilingualism shape how they reflect on experiences in school from a retrospective focus By turning to a raciolinguistic perspective and drawing on subjectivation theory the terms used to signify dominantly found re positionings are raciolinguistic norm and raciolinguistic Other The results highlight the necessity of focusing in more detail on how listening positionalities shape language use in society and in schools specifically The Palgrave Handbook of Race and Ethnic Inequalities in Education P. Stevens,A. Dworkin,2014-01-22 This comprehensive state of the art reference work provides the first systematic review to date of how sociologists have studied the relationship between race ethnicity and educational inequality over the last thirty years in eighteen different national contexts Key Concepts in Race and Ethnicity Nasar Meer,2014-07-28 A conceptually power packed volume that is at once erudite and accessible expansive and focused true to sociological traditions yet stimulatingly exploratory Scholars and students will be served very well by this absorbing far reaching enquiry into ethnicity and race Raymond Taras Tulane University This concise profound and beautifully written book offers a tour de force across the landscape of race and ethnicity by a young author who masters them all Per Mouritsen Aarhus University This book offers an accessible discussion of both foundational and novel concepts in the study of race and ethnicity Each account will help readers become familiar with how long standing and contemporary arguments within race and ethnicity studies contribute to our understanding of social and political life more broadly Providing an excellent starting point with which to understand the contemporary relevance of these concepts Nasar Meer offers an up to date and engaging consideration of everyday examples from around the world This is an indispensable guide for both students and established researchers interested in the study of race and ethnicity Affectivity and Race Rikke Andreassen,Kathrine Vitus,2016-03-09 This book presents new empirical studies of social difference in the Nordic welfare states in order to advance novel theoretical perspectives on the everyday practices and macro politics of race and gender in multi ethnic societies With attention to the specific political and cultural landscapes of the Nordic countries Affectivity and Race draws on a variety of sources including television programmes news media fictional literature interviews ethnographic observations teaching curricula and policy documents to explore the ways in which ideas about affectivity and emotion afford new insights into the experience of racial difference and the unfolding of political discourses on race in various social spheres Organised around the themes of the politicisation of race through affect the way that race produces affect and the affective experience of race this interdisciplinary collection sheds light on the role of feelings in the formation of subjectivities how race and whiteness are affectively circulated in public life and the ways in which emotions contribute to regimes of inclusion and exclusion As such it will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in sociology anthropology media literary and cultural studies race and ethnicity and Nordic studies The Unfinished Politics of Race

Re-Turns, Entanglements and Collaborations Jelena Tošić,Sabine Strasser,Annika Lems,2025-08-01 This collection marks the EASA Book Series 50th volume and celebrates collaborative forms of knowledge production in anthropology It is organized around eight key themes and concepts that have marked anthropological debates in Europe over the past 20 years Featuring engaging contributions anthropologists from different generations and backgrounds come together to collaboratively reflect on questions that keep recurring throughout the book series As a tribute to anthropology in and of Europe the book is an experiment in collaboration as much as a testament to anthropology s vitality and relevance in a world which sees itself confronted by challenges of planetary dimension Race, Racism and the Geography Curriculum John Morgan,David Lambert,2023-03-23 Changes in the nature of knowledge production plus rapid social and cultural change have meant that the curriculum question what is to be taught and by extension whose knowledge has been hotly contested The question of what to teach has become more and more controversial This book asks what is an appropriate curriculum response to the acute renewed interest in issues of race and racism How does a school subject like geography respond The struggle over the school curriculum has frequently been portrayed as being between educational traditionalists and progressives This book suggests a way out of this impasse Drawing upon and extending insights from social realism it explores what a Future 3 geography curriculum might look like one that recognizes the importance of the academic discipline as a source of curriculum making but at the same time avoids geographical knowledge becoming set in stone The book focuses very sharply on issues of race and racism enabling teachers to engage in curriculum making in geography that is racially literate The Foreword is written by Julian Agyeman a former geography teacher in the UK and now Professor of Urban and Environmental Policy and Planning at Tufts University USA Diversifying the Teaching Force in Transnational Contexts Clea Schmidt,Jens Schneider,2016-10-26 Diversifying the teaching force has become a priority in many migrant receiving jurisdictions worldwide with the growing mismatch between the ethnic backgrounds cultures languages and religions of teachers and those of students and families Arguments for diversification tend to be couched in terms of disproportionate representation and students from minority backgrounds needing positive role models yet research identifies other compelling reasons for diversification including the fact that teachers of migrant backgrounds often possess outstanding qualifications when multilingualism and internationally obtained education and experience are taken into account and the fact that all students including majority background students benefit from a diversity of role models in schools Nevertheless the process of diversification is fraught with complexity Depending on the context systemic discrimination an oversupply of teachers in the profession generally and outdated hiring policies and practices can all impede efforts to diversify the teaching force This volume comprises original research from Canada the U S Germany Ireland Scotland and England that problematizes issues of diversifying the teaching force and identifies promising practices A foreword written by Charlene Bearhead of the National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation questions the very purpose of education in and for diverse societies An introduction written by the editors defines key concepts and establishes a rationale for diversifying the teaching force in migrant receiving contexts Following this key international scholars offer empirical perspectives using a range of methodologies and theories rooted in critical social science paradigms The volume informs future research programming and policy development in this area div div
