Race and Ethnicity in the United States William Velez, 1998-01-01 To find more information on Rowman Littlefield titles please visit us at www.rowmanlittlefield.com Race and Ethnicity in the United States William Velez, 1998 To find more information on Rowman Littlefield titles please visit us at www.rowmanlittlefield.com Tierra Y Libertad Steven Bender, 2010-09-29 One of the quintessential goals of the American Dream is to own land and a home a place to raise one's family and prove one's prosperity Particularly for immigrant families home ownership is a way to assimilate into American culture and community However Latinos who make up the country's largest minority population have largely been unable to gain this level of inclusion Instead they are forced to cling to the fringes of property rights and ownership through overcrowded rentals transitory living arrangements and at best home acquisitions through subprime lenders In Tierra y Libertad Steven W Bender traces the history of Latinos struggle for adequate housing opportunities from the nineteenth century to today's anti immigrant policies and national mortgage crisis Spanning southwest to northeast rural to urban Bender analyzes the legal hurdles that prevent better housing opportunities and offers ways to approach sweeping legal reform Tierra y Libertad combines historical cultural legal and personal perspectives to document the Latino community's ongoing struggle to make America home Race Rules Baodong Liu, James M. Vanderleeuw, 2007-10-15 Race Rules Electoral Politics in New Orleans 1965-2006 examines one of the innumerable ramifications of Hurricane Katrina a reversal in the decades long process of racial transition from white dominant to black dominant The electoral consequences of such a racial change in a city where race has historically played a pronounced social economic and political role are potentially dramatic In light of the 2006 New Orleans mayoral election the following emerges as a significant question Does a change in the population's racial composition mean a reversal in the political status of African Americans in New Orleans To address this question Liu and Vanderleeuw investigate racial voting patterns in New Orleans municipal elections over a forty year span from 1965 to 2006 Race Rules argues that as an enduring influence in urban politics race manifests as either electoral conflict or electoral accommodation but not as acceptance of the political empowerment of other race members

Constructing Borders/Crossing Boundaries Caroline Brettell, 2008-01-01 The essays in this volume tackle the construction and significance of race and ethnicity as boundary making processes among diverse immigrant populations in the United States Race and ethnicity can both unite and divide The individual scholars contributing to this volume model deploy and explain notions of borders and boundaries in various ways but collectively they emphasize the fluidity of racial and ethnic identities that are shaped negotiated and contested in specific contexts and situations Constructing Borders Crossing Boundaries also captures the range of spaces in which ethnicity and race become salient the university the immigrant enclave the detention center the work place the nightclub and even the trans Atlantic passage This interdisciplinary work features essays on a diverse range of immigrant populations from past to present and will interest scholars from across disciplines At the Core and in the Margins Julia Albarracín, 2016-05-01 Beardstown and Monmouth Illinois two rural Midwestern towns have been transformed by immigration in the last three decades This book examines how Mexican immigrants who have made these towns their homes have integrated legally culturally and institutionally What accounts for the massive growth in the Mexican immigrant populations in these two small towns and what does the future hold for them Based on 260 surveys and 47 in depth interviews this study combines quantitative and qualitative research to explore the level and characteristics of immigrant incorporation in Beardstown and Monmouth It assesses the advancement of immigrants in the immigration residency citizenship process the immigrants level of cultural integration via language their connectedness with other members of society and their relationships with neighbors the degree and characteristics of discrimination against immigrants in these two towns and the extent to which immigrants participate in different social and political activities and trust government institutions Immigrants in new destinations are likely to be poorer to be less educated and to have weaker English language skills than immigrants in traditional destinations Studying how this population negotiates the obstacles to and opportunities for incorporation is crucial

Father of All Louise Pubols,2010-01-04 This deeply researched engagingly presented and immensely valuable book demolishes longstanding myths about Mexican California as a colorful custom bound world apart In place of this fantasy past Louise Pubols offers a history of the de la Guerras that reveals a family and a society caught up in yet not wholly overcome by the global economic and political developments of the first half of the nineteenth century Stephen Aron Professor of History at the University of California Los Angeles and Executive Director of the Institute for the Study of the American West at the Autry National Center The Father of All combines first rate historical analysis with in depth archival research Don Jos de la Guerra and his extended family are fascinating historical personages and their encounters with other Californio elites provide a compelling story but Pubols takes us to a higher level of understanding by demonstrating the crucial role of extended family ties in the economic and political history of California during the Mexican Period Pubols provides a convincing argument that family ties kept the prevalent political unrest from breaking out into more violent civil conflict Dr Jarrell C Jackman Executive Director Santa Barbara Trust for Historic Preservation

American Families Stephanie Coontz,Maya Parson,Gabrielle Raley,1999 This collection by leading scholars discusses race gender and class stressing their effects on American families It emphasizes the many varied formations of the family and the ways in which government policy class race and gender both past and present affect these various family formations in different ways

Effective Environmental Emergency Responses Paul A. Erickson,2022-07-18 This book focuses on the variety of subsequent consequences that may follow the conclusion of the immediate emergency response effort consequences that require multi disciplinary efforts and most likely may require a revamping of the historical interplay of national and other political authorities The book is essentially a critique of contemporary emergency response which in both the public perception and unfortunately in the mind set of many practicing professionals emphasizes an emergency as a singular event It is a mistaken view an emergency is actually a sequence of multiple singular events that unfold over time sometimes measured in days and weeks and most often in months years and decades This book focuses on the need in the current and recent past generation to revamp our thinking about planning for and responding comprehensively to those periodic disruptions to daily routine we call emergencies
