New to this Edition: Chapter 1 now includes a discussion of colonialism as one of the forces that shaped modern society. The Historical Sketch chapters contain new material on the historical significance of early women founders and on the contributions of W. E. B. Du Bois. Chapters on Marx, Durkheim, Weber, and Simmel now conclude with sections on contemporary applications of ideas from these 19th-century thinkers. A new chapter focuses on theories of race, racism, and colonialism, as well as theories about indigenous peoples and theories from the Global South that challenge the work of scholars from Europe and North America. The concluding chapter has a new section on theories of prosumption, one of the newest developments in consumer theory. New material on colonization, women, classical theorists, and race theory, as well as new timelines, are added to history chapters.

This book equips students with skills in critical thinking and theory built around nine central ideas of thought: modernity, society, self, religion, capitalism, power, gender, race, and globalization. Coverage of both classical and contemporary theorists is included, and the text is organized around the discourses of modernity, democracy, and citizenship. Rethinking Sociological Theory Stephen K. Sanderson, 2015-11-17. Stephen K. Sanderson's latest book recaptures a scientific, theoretical sociology, one whose fundamental aim is the formulation of real theories that can be empirically tested. Sanderson reviews the major theoretical traditions within contemporary sociology, explicating their key principles, critically evaluating these principles, and their applications, and showcasing exemplars. He judges each tradition by asking whether it has generated falsifiable research programs.
