 the end of the 6th century B C E the fall of Jerusalem to the Babylonians the exile of the elite to Babylon and the reshaping of the territory of the new province of Judah culminating at the end of the century with the first return of exiles all have been subjects of intense scrutiny during the last decade Lipschits takes into account the biblical textual evidence the results of archaeological research and the reports of Babylonian and Egyptian sources and provides a comprehensive survey and analysis of the evidence for the history of this 100 year long era He provides a lucid historical survey that will no doubt become the baseline for all future studies of this era Differentiation, Tissue Adaptation and Function of Memory T Cells Weiguo Cui,Carmen Gerlach,Klaas Van Gisbergen,2020-06-16 Upon antigen encounter na ve T cells differentiate into i effectors that combat infected or malignant cells and at later time points into ii memory cells that provide long lasting immunity This differentiation process allows some T cells to leave the confines of secondary lymphoid organs and to enter peripheral tissues in search of pathogens or tumor cells These different environments pose specific challenges for effector and memory T cells to maintain homeostasis T cells directed into the lungs are likely to encounter higher levels of oxygen but lower amounts of nutrients than those directed into the intestinal epithelium In addition to oxygen tension and nutrient concentrations other key factors such as the commensal flora and stromal components create unique conditions that require tissue specific adaptations of T cells These steady state conditions can dramatically change during infection when inflammatory mediators and T cell growth factors are released requiring the immediate response of T cells The gradual changes imposed by growing tumors can also be challenging for T cells due to competition with rapidly cycling tumor cells that deplete essential resources of oxygen and glucose The strategies that T cells employ to respond to the diverse cues from their surroundings are the focus of current research It appears that next to circulating memory T cells that are confined to the circulation and those that survey all of the peripheral tissues dedicated populations of resident memory T cells exist that can optimally adapt to the local circumstances within each tissue Restrictions on the metabolic requirements of T cells residing in tumor tissue have been found to directly impact on effector functions such as cytokine production The fundamental principles of how the machinery of T cells can translate local cues into tissue specific differentiation processes are fascinating and warrant further investigation

Tissue-Resident Memory T Cells Fathia Mami-Chouaib, Eric Tartour, 2019-08-19 Tissue resident memory T TRM cells play a major role in control of viral infections Their involvement in cancer diseases has been more recently demonstrated This non circulating T lymphocyte subset lacks molecules enabling egress from the tissue and migration to lymph nodes expresses specific markers of residency and displays specific transcription factors The present special issue elucidates our current knowledge on CD8 TRM cells and explores less frequently described resident subsets such as CD4 TRM and innate like cells as well as their specific metabolism and niches for their formation in infectious and cancer diseases Marine Organisms as Model Systems in Biology and Medicine Malgorzata Kloc, Jacek Z. Kubiak, 2018-08-06 This book highlights the potential advantages of using marine invertebrates like tunicates echinoderms sponges and cephalopods as models in both biological and medical research Bioactive compounds found in marine organisms possess antibacterial antifungal anti diabetic and anti inflammatory properties and can affect the immune and nervous systems Despite substantial research on the medicinal attributes of various marine invertebrates they are still very much underrepresented in scientific literature the majority of cell developmental and evolutionary scientific journals only publish research conducted on a few well known model systems like Drosophila melanogaster or Xenopus laevis Addressing that gap this book introduces readers to new model organisms like starfish or nemertera By showing their benefits with regard to regeneration stem cell research and Evo Devo the authors provide a cross sectional view encompassing various disciplines of biological research As such this book will not only appeal to scientists currently working on marine organisms but will also inspire future generations to pursue research of their own Gastrulation Ray Keller, Wallis H. Clark Jr., Frederick Griffin, 2012-12-06 Gastrulation is a fundamental process of early embryonic development It involves virtually every aspect of cell and developmental biology and results in the formation of fundamental structural elements around which a developing animal's body plan is organized As such it is not only an important process but also one that is complicated and not easily dissected into its component parts To understand the mechanisms of gastrulation one must acknowledge that gastrulation is fundamentally a biomechanical process that is a problem of cells generating forces in a three dimensional array patterned in space and time such that appropriate tissue movements are executed Three intertwined questions emerge what cell activities generate forces how are these cell activities patterned in space and time and how are the resulting forces harnessed in three dimensional domains To address these issues it is important to define and characterize regional cell behaviors and to learn how they are patterned in the egg and or by subsequent cell and tissue interactions At the biochemical level what are the cellular and extracellular molecules that control cell behavior Finally how are specific patterns of cellular activity integrated to produce tissue behavior The task of answering the above questions an immense task in itself is compounded by the fact that the morphogenetic movements of gastrulation and their underlying mechanisms vary between different organisms
