which has never before been available in English Extensively illustrated in colour and black and white Alas, for the Pelicans Anne Chittleborough,2002 In 1802 a Frenchman and an Englishman famously encountered each other off the shores of South Australia The voyages of discovery of Nicolas Baudin and Matthew Flinders opened the way for the increasingly rapid colonisation of Terra Australis Race and the Scottish Enlightenment Linda Andersson

Burnett,Bruce Buchan,2025-08-26 How colonialism shaped the Scottish Enlightenment s conception of race and humanity In the decades after 1750 an increasing number of former medical students from the University of Edinburgh construed humanity as a subject of both intellectual curiosity and colonial interest They drew on a shared educational background blending medicine with natural history and moral philosophy in a range of encounters with non European and Indigenous peoples across the globe whom they began to classify as races Focusing on a surprising number of these understudied students this book reveals the gradual predominance of race in Scottish Enlightenment thought Teaching provided a toolbox of concepts and theories for students who went on to careers as military and naval surgeons colonial administrators and natural historians While some such as Mungo Park who traveled in Africa are well known many others such as the long term residents in the Russian Empire Matthew Guthrie and his wife Maria Guthrie or the Caribbean botanist Alexander Anderson are less remembered Among this group were those such as the Pacific traveler Archibald Menzies and the circumnavigator of Australia Robert Brown who are known primarily as botanists rather than as ethnographers Together they formed a global network of colonial travelers and natural historians sharing a common educational background and a growing interest in race

The Great Race David Hill,2014-07-03 On the afternoon of 8 April 1802 in the remote southern ocean two explorers had a remarkable chance encounter Englishman Matthew Flinders and Frenchman Nicolas Baudin had been sent by their governments on the same quest to explore the uncharted coast of the great south land and find out whether the west and east coasts four thousand kilometres apart were part of the same island And so began the race to compile the definitive map of Australia These men s journeys were the culmination of two hundred years of exploration of the region by the Dutch most famously Abel Tasman the Portuguese the Spanish and by Englishmen such as the colourful pirate William Dampier and of course James Cook The three year voyages of Baudin and Flinders would see them endure terrible hardships in the spirit of discovery They suffered scurvy and heat exhaustion and Flinders was shipwrecked and imprisoned always knowing he was competing with the French to produce the first map of this mysterious continent Written from diaries and other first hand accounts this is the thrilling story of men whose drawings recorded countless previously unknown species and turned mythical creatures into real ones and whose skill and determination enabled Terra Australis Incognita to become Australia

Science, Voyages, and Encounters in Oceania, 1511-1850 Bronwen Douglas,2014-03-26 Blending global scope with local depth this book throws new light on important themes Spanning four centuries and vast space it combines the history of ideas with particular histories of encounters between European voyagers and Indigenous people in Oceania Island Southeast

Asia New Guinea Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands      Macassan History and Heritage Marshall Clark, Sally May, 2013-06-01 This book presents inter disciplinary perspectives on the maritime journeys of the Macassan trepangers who sailed in fleets of wooden sailing vessels known as praus from the port city of Makassar in southern Sulawesi to the northern Australian coastline These voyages date back to at least the 1700s and there is new evidence to suggest that the Macassan praus were visiting northern Australia even earlier This book examines the Macassan journeys to and from Australia their encounters with Indigenous communities in the north as well as the ongoing social and cultural impact of these connections both in Indonesia and Australia      South Australian Geographical Journal ,2007      The Sydney Wars Stephen Gapps, 2018-05-01 The Sydney Wars tells the history of military engagements between Europeans and Aboriginal Australians described as this constant sort of war by one early colonist around the greater Sydney region Telling the story of the first years of colonial Sydney in a new and original way this provocative book is the first detailed account of the warfare that occurred across the Sydney region from the arrival of a British expedition in 1788 to the last recorded conflict in the area in 1817 The Sydney Wars sheds new light on how British and Aboriginal forces developed military tactics and how the violence played out Analysing the paramilitary roles of settlers and convicts and the militia defensive systems that were deployed it shows that white settlers lived in fear while Indigenous people fought back as their land and resources were taken away Stephen Gapps details the violent conflict that formed part of a long period of colonial strategic efforts to secure the Sydney basin and in time the rest of the continent A powerful and cogent contribution to one of the most contentious aspects of Australian history the war between British settlers and the First Nations The fine detailed research will mean that we will have to radically reassess our understanding of the history of the first thirty years of settlement Henry Reynolds      Sailing with Flinders: The Journey of Seaman Samuel Smith Samuel Smith, 2019      Matthew Flinders Private Journal from 17 December 1803 at Isle de France to 10 July 1814 at London Matthew Flinders, 2005 Flinders begins his journal at the time of his landfall on Mauritius in December 1803 and the subsequent entries describe his six years of imprisonment by the French his eventual return to England and the events of his later life up until nine days before his death in July 1814      The Life of Captain Matthew Ernest Scott, Matthew Flinders was the third of the triad of great English sailors by whom the principal part of Australia was revealed A poet of our own time in a line of singular felicity has described it as the last sea thing dredged by sailor Time from Space Bernard O Dowd Dawnward 1903 and the piecemeal partly mysterious largely accidental dragging from the depths of the unknown of a land so immense and bountiful makes a romantic chapter in geographical history All the great seafaring peoples contributed something towards the result The Dutch especially evinced their enterprise in the pursuit of precise information about the southern Terra Incognita and the nineteenth century was well within its second quarter before the name New Holland which for over a hundred years had borne testimony to their adventurous pioneering gave place in general and geographical literature to the more convenient and euphonious designation suggested by Flinders himself Australia Not universally however even in official documents In the Report of the Committee of the Privy Council dated May 1 1849 New Holland is used to designate the continent but Australia is employed as including both the continent and Tasmania See Grey s Colonial Policy 1 424 and 439 Journal of the Royal Australian Historical Society Royal Australian Historical Society,2003 Includes the Society s Annual report and statement of accounts

The Hydrographic Journal ,2006 The Eighteenth Century American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies,Jim Springer Borck,2006-12 This 17th volume from the series of bibliographies of the 18th century is divided into sections on printing and bibliographic studies historical social and economic studies philosophy science and religion the fine arts literary studies and individual authors Works Issued by the Hakluyt Society ,2015 History Today ,2003 Ill-starred Captains Anthony J.
