A Tuscan Penitent Cuthbert,2013-10-04 MARGARET OF CORTONA was born in the year 1247 at Laviano a little town in Tuscany Her father was a small farmer whose chief thought was for his farm and the soil he tilled Of her mother we know only that she died when her daughter was but seven years old and that she was a good woman of simple faith O Lord Jesus I beseech Thee for the salvation of all whom Thou wouldst have me pray for was a prayer she impressed upon the memory of her daughter a prayer which Margaret never forgot And without doubt the thought of her mother was a saving influence in Margaret s life Two years after her mother s death Tancred her father took to himself another wife and with that Margaret s history may be said to begin The situation is not difficult to reconstruct A high spirited sensitive girl full of vitality her whole being athirst for life and a stepmother whose nature had no response for the girl s a woman who would brook no contradiction who worshipped the respectabilities and the order of her own household and expected others to walk in the narrow way of her own decalogue With two such natures brought into daily contact you may forecast disaster Nor could the father s influence have availed Inuch even had he had the will to smooth his child s path He had committed the error of marrying a woman who most misunderstand his child Consciously or unconsciously he had by that act sacrificed his daughter to his own pleasure or convenience perhaps he had not thought of her at all in his anxiety to provide his house hold with a careful Inistress At any rate such evidence as we have points to the conclusion that the new wife ruled her husband as well as his farm house and that Margaret was left to bear her burden as best she might A Tuscan Penitent Cuthbert,2016-03-07 St Margaret of Cortona the mediaeval Magdalen was not precisely a wanton or an abandoned woman but a girl who fell through excessive gayety and over great affection She lived nine years with her lover in defiance of law and convention the only mitigation of her sin being her constant hope of lawful marriage with the man who had deluded her He was murdered his promise remaining unfulfilled But his death was the occasion of the conversion of Margaret Her reversion to virtue and to God was characteristically whole hearted She fought her way through many temptations gave her life to the poor outdoing them in voluntary poverty merited admission to the third order of St Francis and died a saint Her legend by her confessor Fra Giunta is given with the delicious simplicity and na vet of the early Franciscan chroniclers The introduction to it in seventy five pages by Father Cuthbert is an admirable little treatise on her religious psychology with not a little unobtrusive moralizing The contrast between the modern touch of Father Cuthbert and the mediaeval artlessness of Fra Giunta is most striking but each in his own way is extremely enjoyable Catholic World Volume 8 A Tuscan Penitent Father Cuthbert,2014-08-07 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1900 Edition A Tuscan Penitent Father Cuthbert,2014-08-07 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1900 Edition LIFE OF SAINT MARGARET OF CORTONA ANTONIO FRANCESCO. GIOVAGNOLI,2018 The Life of Saint Margaret of Cortona Anthony Giovagnall,2013-03-12 The Life of Saint Margaret that heroic model of penance which is here presented to the English reader received a Roman approbation in 1751 having been carefully examined by command of the Master of the Sacred Palace The Carmelite Father Aloysius Mary of Jesus thus speaks In obedience to the commands of the Most Rev Father Augustine Orsi Master of the Sacred Apostolic Palace I have read with attention and pleasure the book entitled Life of Saint Margaret of Cortona by Canon Anthony Francis Giovagnoli and found it worthy of being reprinted here at Rome and most seasonable to sinners as a strong inducement to be converted and rise to a better life to the just as a salutary instruction teaching them at what pace they should press on and advance in that more excellent way whereof the Apostle speaks in his first epistle to the Corinthians This need of satisfaction and restoration is general among us Pure virginal souls are no longer satisfied to keep aloof from the world s corruption they also wish to pray mourn immolate themselves for others make reparation to the Almighty and present themselves before his mercy as victims of expiation Those whom sin has uncrowned and blighted but who are aspiring to return to God aspire also to restore themselves completely in his eyes to recover the virginal splendor of their pristine purity But alas among these many hesitate despair halt in the way of expiation If at least they could hope to reach the point from which they had fallen re enter that group of virgins who follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth and from which they have been banished if they could restore to their crown that beautiful flower of virginity which they have allowed to wither sacrifice would cost less But is complete reparation possible here Can what no longer exists revive This cruel doubt fills them with interior desolation and bitterness their strength To these fainthearted and unhappy souls we offer a consolation a home The Life of Saint Margaret of Cortona To them we say Take and read here is a penitent whose whole life is a solemn protestation against the doubt which troubles and arrests you proof that virginity may be restored before God that it is susceptible of an unspeakable reparation
