reception While translation theorists influenced by the current sociological turn view social factors as determining translation activities and strategies this volume argues that the translator's or the dramatist's theology and religious values interact with the socio cultural milieu to carve out a unique drama production Often it is the religious values of the translating agents that determine the product rather than social factors Further the translatability of religious discourse should be understood in a broader sense according to the seven dimensions proposed by Ninian Smart rather than merely focusing on untranslatability as a result of semantic and linguistic differences
