Reframing Science Teaching and Learning David Stroupe, 2017-02-03 Responding to recent reform efforts such as the Next Generation Science Standards which call for students to learn science practices this book proposes a conceptual reframing of the roles of teachers and students in formal and informal science learning settings Inviting the field to examine the state of science practice it provides concrete examples of how students supported by the actions of educators take on new roles shifting from passive recipients of information to active participants in conceptual social epistemic and material features of science work Each chapter provides an examination of how and why science practice evolves in learning communities in which students and teachers negotiate disciplinary work an analysis of how specific pedagogical and social actions taken by someone with authority a teacher or other educator provides opportunities for students to shape science practices a set of concrete recommendations for working with young students in formal and informal learning settings and a set of suggestions and questions to catalyze future research about and the evolving relationships between educators students and science practices in the field of science education Showing how and why the conceptual ideas presented are important and providing specific actionable suggestions for teachers and other educators for their daily work this book includes both elementary and secondary learning sites

Argumentation in Science Education Sibel Erduran, María Pilar Jiménez-Aleixandre, 2007-12-06 Our conversations about arguments began in Nashville in the Spring of 1996 in Richard Duschl's doctoral seminar that we were both attending Marilar Jim nez Aleixandre as a visiting scholar at Vanderbilt University Jim nez Aleixandre and Duschl were designing authentic problems in genetics for the University of Santiago de Compostela based RODA project aimed at engaging high school students in argumentation Erduran and Duschl had been working on Project SEPIA extending their work in Pittsburgh schools to the design of curricula that support epistemological aspects of scientific inquiry including argumentation In that spring we attended a NARST's sion in St Louis where Gregory Kelly Steven Druker and Catherine Chen presented a paper about argumentation As a consequence a symposium about argumentation was organised possibly the first of its kind at the 1997 NARST meeting in Chicago including papers from Kelly and colleagues and from Jim nez Aleixandre Bugallo and Duschl The symposium was attended among others by Rosalind Driver who had just submitted an application for funding of an argumentation project based at King's College London a project Erduran would incidentally work on after Driver's untimely death From this time frame in the 1990s to the present day argumentation studies in science education have increased at a rapid pace from stray papers for which we were unable to find an appropriate strand in a conference to a wealth of research base exploring ever more sophisticated issues

Science Communication Annette Leßmöllmann, Marcelo Dascal, Thomas Glöning, 2019-12-16 The volume gives a multi perspective overview of scholarly and science communication exploring its diverse functions modalities interactional structures and dynamics in a rapidly changing world In addition it provides a guide to current research approaches and traditions on communication in many disciplines including the humanities technology social and natural sciences and on forms of communication with a wide range of audiences

A Geopolitics Of Academic Writing A. Suresh Canagarajah, 2002-12-15 A Geopolitics of Academic Writing critiques current scholarly publishing practices exposing the inequalities in the way academic knowledge is constructed and legitimized As a periphery scholar now working in and writing from the center Suresh Canagarajah is uniquely situated to demonstrate how and why contributions from Third World scholars are too often relegated to the perimeter of academic discourse He examines three broad conventions governing academic writing textual concerns matters of languages style tone and structure social customs the rituals governing the interactions of members of the academic community and publishing practices from submission protocols to photocopying and postage requirements Canagarajah argues that the dominance of Western conventions in scholarly communication leads directly to the marginalization or appropriation of the knowledge of Third World communities Handbook of
