Ecofeminist Literary Criticism Greta Claire Gaard, Patrick D. Murphy, 1998 Ecofeminist Literary Criticism is the first collection of its kind a diverse anthology that explores both how ecofeminism can enrich literary criticism and how literary criticism can contribute to ecofeminist theory and activism Ecofeminism is a practical movement for social change that discerns interconnections among all forms of oppression the exploitation of nature the oppression of women class exploitation racism colonialism Against binary divisions such as self other culture nature man woman humans animals and white non white ecofeminist theory asserts that human identity is shaped by more fluid relationships and by an acknowledgment of both connection and difference Once considered the province of philosophy and women s studies ecofeminism in recent years has been incorporated into a broader spectrum of academic discourse Ecofeminist Literary Criticism assembles some of the most insightful advocates of this perspective to illuminate ecofeminism as a valuable component of literary criticism

Race in the College Classroom Maureen T. Reddy, Bonnie TuSmith, 2002 Winner of the 2003 American Educational Studies Association Critics Choice Awards Winner of the 2003 Gustavus Myers Outstanding Book Award Did affirmative action programs solve the problem of race on American college campuses as several recent books would have us believe If so why does talking about race in anything more than a superficial way make so many students uncomfortable Written by college instructors from many disciplines this volume of essays takes a bold first step toward a nationwide conversation Each of the twenty nine contributors addresses one central question what are the challenges facing a college professor who believes that teaching responsibly requires an honest and searching examination of race Professors from the humanities social sciences sciences and education consider topics such as how the classroom environment is structured by race the temptation to retreat from challenging students when faced with possible reprisals in the form of complaints or negative evaluations the implications of using standardized evaluations in faculty tenure and promotion when the course subject is intimately connected with race and the varying ways in which white faculty and faculty of color are impacted by teaching about race
