Tourism Management James E. S. Higham, Michael Lück, 2008 This book seeks to underscore the need for scientific approaches to first understanding and then managing tourist interactions with marine wildlife It draws upon the work of leading natural and social scientists whose work serves the interests of sustainable wildlife based marine tourism Thus from within the natural science disciplines of marine biology environmental science behavioural ecology conservation biology and wildlife management come chapters that provide insights into the effects of human disturbance on marine wildlife the impacts that tourists may have upon wild animals and the management approaches to mitigating impacts that may in the long term be biologically significant Equally from the social science disciplines of geography sociology management and social anthropology are drawn chapters that explore demand for marine wildlife experiences the benefits that visitors derive from their experiences ethical and legislative contexts and management issues that arise when tourists interact with populations of wild animals in coastal and marine environments From The Vault of Schrodinger's Cat Natasha

Parkinson, 2023-08-02 Schrodinger's Cat was a science blog set out to debunk the science misinformation that was and is rampant on social media as well as be a credible and trusted source to answer all of readers science questions such as What makes fireworks different colours How do birds find their way when migrating What is a GMO Is it possible to recreate Frankenstein's Monster What causes that Thanksgiving day turkey coma What is healthier Eating meat or being vegan Is green energy more efficient and how much would a city need to power itself Can sunscreen really give you cancer How far away are we from having a zoo full of extinct animals Is the science and technology in my favourite movie video game even possible Did they actually find water on Mars Why are the InSight and Parker Solar Probe missions so important All of this and more are answered in From The Vault of Schrodinger's Cat a collection of readers favourite posts from the beloved blog Schrodinger's Cat including footnotes of updates of how the science has progressed since the post was released and extensive works cited and resources to provide the same level of transparency dedication to fact checking and search for knowledge that the readers of Schrodinger's Cat have come to know A study of shark and ray non-fin commodities in

Mexico Tovar-Ávila, J., Diliegros-Valencia, M.L., Castillo-Géniz, J.L., Braccini, J.M., Rentería-Bravo, J., Friedman, K., Walsh, M., 2024-07-16 The work presented here summarizes published research from Mexico also linked to an FAO summary plus studies from India Indonesia and Peru In collaboration with various country programmes and local research groups the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO examined shark and ray value chains The goal was to provide valuable information for fisheries and environmental agencies shedding light on the role of non fin commodities derived from sharks and rays in fisheries and trade To effectively conserve shark and ray resources we must adopt a more holistic understanding of their fisheries and markets Historically the focus has primarily centred on regulating the export of shark fins often overlooking traditional and emerging fishing practices and markets related to other elasmobranch products such as meat skin cartilage liver oil and gill plates Due to limited examination of non fin commodities we lack clarity on their sources the extent of exploitation and their significance as drivers of elasmobranch utilization The report aims to shift attention towards non fin commodities in shark and ray management By doing so we hope to expand the range of potential interventions that can be employed to achieve sustainable elasmobranch fisheries a critical source of food security nutrition and livelihoods for coastal communities worldwide
