Loving Sabotage Adele Martin Bach, 2005 Aimer et mourir Eilene Hoft-March, Judith Holland Sarnecki, 2009-01-23 Aimer et Mourir offers a wide ranging selection of essays that collectively address how from the Middle Ages to the present the notions of love and death get inextricably associated with the narratives that are women's lives Some of the essays tackle male writers representations that link women and in particular women's sexuality with death resulting in the figures of the femme fatale the woman in parturition and the desiring vampire A number of essays reiterate that women's hyper sexualized bodies have been used as a social construct and a psychological screen upon which to project a fear of death The challenges to this pat reduction of woman s domain come from the mostly women writers represented here and they span from Marguerite de Navarre to Am lie Nothomb These women writers rework the old formulae giving us instead death defying memories of love love regenerative of language as of bodies love forcing the frontiers of death or love creatively redefined within the parameters of death Nor are these new narratives imagined as belonging to women alone but rather as attesting to a richer more varied and greatly sensitized human experience

Francophone Women Writers Eric Touya de Marenne, 2024-03-26 This anthology seeks to introduce women writers in the global Francophone world by investigating the place of feminist postcolonial and cross cultural theories in interpreting women francophone literature The book also allows the reader to examine the extent to which women writers reflect or negate the conventional archetypes of Francophone literature how they reinvent the political cultural and critical discourse of their time and place and create their own identity from objectification to subjectivity The ambition of this anthology is to explore these themes at a time when globalization is redefining the concepts of language identity space and history and transforming the rapport of each individual to the other While most research on the subject focus on specific countries or regions this volume offers a new critical introduction to Francophone women authors from a broad geographical range in North and West Africa the Near East the Pacific North America the Caribbean Islands and Europe Significantly this study assembles a broad and representative collection of texts written by women authors that will generate a fruitful and critical reflection among students and scholars The selected texts present critical issues that students and readers at large need to explore to further their knowledge of francophone literature and culture

The Book of Proper Names Amelie Nothomb, 2015-07-21 The Book of Proper Names is set in contemporary Paris its main character an orphan named Plectrude Before the child s birth her nineteen year old mother shoots and kills her nineteen year old and somewhat feckless father because she hates the names he s devised for their child she fears they will doom their unborn child to mediocrity The mother confesses openly to what she has done and why She is arrested and thrown into prison where she gives birth to the child names her to everyone s bafflement Plectrude an obscure saint and an albatross of a name and then hangs herself The novel therefore begins on the borderline between tragedy and absurdity but as Plectrude grows raised by a loving indulgent and eccentric aunt it becomes a deeply moving and simultaneously chilling portrait of girlhood Plectrude s great gift turns out to be for ballet and she throws herself into dance as if her life depended upon it Few novels have shown us the implacable and unforgiving world of ballet with more intuitive sympathy yet also with a keen eyed assessment of the true price of artistic perfection Inevitably the doom hovering over Plectrude s life from birth returns to haunt her and in the end she learns to survive in the only way she knows how by committing an act of deadly self preservation her mother would have perhaps understood best The Book of Proper Names is vintage Amelie Nothomb alternatively mordant and poignant a portrait of adolescence that is fierce and funny at the same time There is nothing mediocre either about Nothomb nor her creations

The Character of Rain Amelie Nothomb, 2007-04-01 The Japanese believe that until the age of three children whether Japanese or not are gods each one an okosama or lord child On their third birthday they fall from grace and join the rest of the human race In Amelie Nothomb's new novel The Character of Rain we learn that divinity is a difficult thing from which to recover particularly if like the child in this story you have spent the first two and a half years of life in a nearly vegetative state I remember everything that happened to me after the age of two and one half the narrator tells us She means this literally Once jolted out of her plant like tube like trance to the ecstatic relief of her concerned parents the child bursts into existence absorbing everything that Japan where her father works as a diplomat has to offer Life is an unfolding pageant of delight and danger a ceaseless exploration of pleasure and the limits of power Most wondrous of all is the discovery of water oceans seas pools puddles streams ponds and perhaps most of all rain one meaning of the Japanese character for her name Hers is an amphibious life The Character of Rain evokes the hilarity terror and sanctity of childhood As she did in the award winning international bestseller Fear and Trembling Nothomb grounds the novel in the outlines of her experiences in Japan but the self portrait that emerges from these pages is hauntingly universal Amelie Nothomb's novels are unforgettable immersion experiences leaving you both holding your breath with admiration your lungs aching and longing for more
