Postcolonial Studies Pramod K. Nayar, 2015-09-28 This new anthology brings together the most diverse and recent voices in postcolonial theory to emerge since 9 11 alongside classic texts in established areas of postcolonial studies Brings fresh insight and renewed political energy to established domains such as nation history literature and gender Engages with contemporary concerns such as globalization digital cultures neo colonialism and language debates Includes wide geographical coverage from Ireland and India to Israel and Palestine Provides uniquely broad coverage offering a full sense of the tradition including significant essays on science technology and development education and literacy digital cultures and transnationalism Edited by a distinguished postcolonial scholar this insightful volume serves scholars and students across multiple disciplines from literary and cultural studies to anthropology and digital studies Creating Postcolonial Literature C. Davis, 2013-04-21 Using case studies this book explores the publishing of African literature addressing the construction of literary value relationships between African writers and British publishers and importance of the African market It analyses the historical political and economic conditions framing the emergence of postcolonial literature

Emerging Traditions Vicki Briault Manus, 2012-07-10 The monograph explores the linguistic impact of the colonial and postcolonial situations in South Africa on language policy on literary production and especially on the stylistics of fiction by indigenous South Africans writing in English A secondary concern is to investigate the present place of English in the multilingual spectrum of South African languages and to see how this worldly English relates to Global English in the South African context The introduction presents a socio linguistic overview of South Africa from pre historic times until the present including language planning policies during and after the colonial era and a cursory review of how the difficulties encountered in implementing the Language Plan provided for by the new South African constitution impinge on the development of black South African English Six chapters track the course of English in South Africa since the arrival of the British in 1795 considered from the point of view of the indigenous African population The study focuses on ways in which indigenous authors indigenize their writing innovating and subverting stylistic conventions including those of African orature in order to bend language and genre towards their own culture and objectives Each chapter corresponds to a briefly outlined historical period that is largely reflected in linguistic and literary developments A small number of significant works for each period are discussed one of which is selected for a case study at the end of each chapter where it is subjected to detailed stylistic analysis and appraised for the degree of indigenization or other linguistic or socio historic influences on style The methodology adopted is a linguistic approach to stylistics focusing on indigenization of English inspired by the work of
