Re Constructing Archaeology:

Re-constructing Archaeology Michael Shanks, Christopher Tilley, 2016-09-17 In Re Constructing Archaeology Shanks and Tilley aim to challenge the disciplinary practices of both traditional and the new archaeology and to present a radical alternative a critically self conscious archaeology aware of itself as practice in the present and equally a social archaeology that appreciates artefacts not merely as objects of analysis but as part of a social world of past and present that is charged with meaning It is a fresh and invigorating contribution to the emergence of a philosophically and politically informed archaeology Re-constructing Archaeology Michael Shanks, Christopher Y. Tilley, 1992 First published in 1992 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Re-constructing Archaeology Michael Shanks, 1992

Re-constructing Archaeology Michael Shanks, 1987 Reconstructing Past Monastic Life: Volume 1: Bioarchaeology, Life and Death Lluís Lloveras, Carme Rissech, Jordi Nadal, Philip Banks, 2025-07-30 Explores health and lifeways in monastic communities focusing on palaeopathological insights into well being disabilities and burial practices across various periods Monasticism is a form of religious life in which participants renounce worldly activities to dedicate themselves primarily to spiritual matters living in small communities subject to a set of rules and isolated from the secular world Christian monasticism which originated at the end of the 3rd century in Egypt and North Africa spread to different parts of Europe in the 6th century However it was not until the Middle Ages that monastic communities became one of the most powerful institutions in Europe Monasteries and convents played a very important role not only as centers of spirituality but also as focal points of economic technological and cultural activity This multiplicity of activities carried out alongside their religious social and political roles make monasteries spaces that can be studied from very different perspectives and that unfailingly provide essential information about our history This first of two titles originates from an international conference that took place in Barcelona in January 2024 which sought to examine different aspects related to monastic life in the past and to promote and disseminate the results obtained in the latest studies undertaken within the framework of monastic complexes and their environments These include contributions and multidisciplinary studies from archaeological bioanthropological and or documentary perspectives Specialists from different disciplines present developments on the topic of monasticism from different fields of study such as zooarchaeology bioanthropology palaeopathology archaeology history documentary disciplines archives cultural heritage etc Volume 1 concentrates on health and lifeways within monastic communities focusing on palaeopathological information providing insights into physical well being and in particular the presence and significance of disabled individuals and evidence for long term health and dental issues A variety of scientific methods of analysis are applied to cemetery populations from monasteries and nunneries of different periods to examine both causes of and contributions to the death of individuals the composition of communities and the treatment of the dead Studies of assemblages of faunal remains from monastic complexes consider how faunal analysis can help interpret the role of domestic species The Disunity of Science Peter Louis Galison, David J. Stump, 1996 Is science unified or disunified Over the last century the question has raised the interest and hackles of scientists philosophers historians and sociologists of science for at stake is how science and society fit together Recent years have seen a turn largely against the rhetoric of unity ranging from the plea of condensed matter physicists for disciplinary autonomy all the way to discussions in the humanities and social sciences that involve local history feminism multiculturalism postmodernism scientific relativism and realism and social constructivism Many of these varied aspects of the debate over the disunity of science are reflected in this volume which brings together a number of scholars studying science who otherwise have had little to say to each other feminist theorists philosophers of science sociologists of science How does the context of discovery shape knowledge What are the philosophical consequences of a disunified science Does for example an antirealism a realism or an arealism become defensible within a picture of local scientific knowledge What politics lies behind and follows from a picture of the world of science more like a quilt than a pyramid Who gains and loses if representation of science has standards that vary from place to place field to field and practitioner to practitioner

Reconstructing Past Population Trends in Mediterranean Europe (3000 BC - AD 1800) John Bintliff, Kostas Sbonias, 2016-10-03 Archaeology of Populus Monograph in Archaeology of Mediterranean Landscapes Series Population trends and demographics in general are discussed through a variety of case studies based in Mediterranean Europe The range of archaeological techniques and methods of analysis includes regional field surveys artifact scatter analysis palaeoanthropology historical and documentary sources and studies of cemeteries Reconstructing the Development of Somerset's Early Medieval Church Carole Lomas, 2024-05-09 This book uses Somerset as a case study to contribute to a broader understanding of how the Church developed across the British Isles during the transition from the post Roman Church to the 11th century It collates and cross references all earlier research and offers the most up to date study of Somerset's post Roman churches Reconstructing a Maritime Past Matthew Harpster, 2022-12-30 Reconstructing a Maritime Past argues that rather than applying geo ethnic labels to shipwrecks to describe Greek or Roman seafaring a more intriguing alternative emphasizes a maritime culture's valorization of the Mediterranean Sea Doing so creates new questions and research agendas to understand the past human relationship with the sea This study makes this argument in three sections Chapters 1 and 2 contrasting intellectual histories of maritime archaeological interpretive approaches common in Northern Europe and the Mediterranean propose that the former perspective which embodies contemporary and fluid perceptions of culture is a better theoretical framework for future research Chapters 3 5 re interpret the corpus of submerged sites in the Mediterranean Sea with this approach arguing that this dataset does not represent Phoenician Muslim or Byzantine seafaring but the practices of a maritime culture Key to this section is the author s method that utilizes superimposed polygons to model patterns of maritime activity generating centennial results at different scales Having built the models of a maritime culture s valorization of the Mediterranean Sea Chapter 6 contains the first comparisons of these models to other datasets questioning the relevance of textual media to understand maritime activity while finding closer analogues with other archaeological corpora By deconstructing interpretive methods in maritime archaeology offering a new synthesizing interpretive approach that is scalable and decoupled from past perceptions and critically examining the applicability of various media to illuminate the past maritime experience this book will appeal to scholars at various stages of their careers

Reconstructing Tascalusa's Chiefdom Amanda L. Regnier, 2014-07-31 Reconstructing Tascalusa s Chiefdom is an archaeological study of political collapse in the Alabama River Valley following the Hernando de Soto expedition To explain the cultural and political disruptions caused by Hernando de Soto s exploration deep into north America Amanda L Regnier presents an innovative analysis of ceramics and theory of cultural exchange She argues that culture consists of a series of interconnected models governing proper behavior that are shared across the belief systems of communities and individuals Historic cognitive models derived from ceramic data via cluster and correspondence analysis can effectively be used to examine these models and explain cultural exchange The results of Regnier s work demonstrate that the Alabama River Valley was settled by populations migrating from three different regions during the late fifteenth century The mixture of ceramic models associated with these traditions at Late Mississippian sites suggests that these newly founded towns controlled by Tascalusa comprised ethnically and linguistically diverse populations Perhaps most significantly Tascalusa s chiefdom appears to be a precontact example of a coalescent society that emerged after populations migrated from the deteriorating Mississippian chiefdoms into a new region A summary of excavations at Late Mississippian sites also includes the first published chronology of the Alabama River from approximately AD 900 to 1600
