The Stupidity Epidemic Joel Best, 2012-08-06 Critics often warn that American schools are failing and that our students are ill prepared for the challenges the future holds and may even be the dumbest generation We can think of these claims as warning about a Stupidity Epidemic This essay begins by tracing the history of the idea of that American students teachers and schools are somehow getting worse the record shows that critics have been issuing such warnings for more than 150 years It then examines four sets of data that speak to whether educational deterioration is taking place First data on educational attainment show a clear trend more students are getting more education Second standardized test scores suggest that American students are performing somewhat better certainly most test scores do not indicate that students are getting worse Third measures of popular knowledge also show evidence of improvement Fourth there is clear evidence that IQ scores have been rising In other words the best available evidence fails to support claims about a Stupidity Epidemic The essay then turns to exploring several reasons why belief in educational decline is so common and concludes by suggesting some more useful ways to think about educational problems The goal of this new unique Series is to offer readable teachable thinking frames on today s social problems and social issues by leading scholars all in short 60 page or shorter formats and available for view on <http://routledge.customgateway.com/routledge/socialissues.html> For instructors teaching a wide range of courses in the social sciences the Routledge Social Issues Collection now offers the best of both worlds originally written short texts that provide overviews to important social issues as well as teachable excerpts from larger works previously published by Routledge and other presses

21st Century Literacy Renita Schmidt, Paul Lee Thomas, 2008-11-09 Renita Schmidt and P L Thomas The guiding mission of the teacher education program in the university where we teach is to create teachers who are scholars and leaders While the intent of that mission is basically sound in theory we instill the idea that teachers at all levels are professionals always learning and growing in knowledge that theory that philosophical underpinning does not insure that the students who complete our program are confident about the act or performance of teaching In our unique program students work closely with one teacher and classroom for the entire senior year and then are supervised and mentored during their first semester of teaching the program is heavily field based and it depends on the effectiveness of mentoring throughout the methods coursework and the first semester of full time teaching Students tell us this guidance and support is invaluable and yet we feel the disjuncture between university and school just as many of you in more traditional student teaching settings Students hear best practice information from us in methods classes and they receive ample exposure to the research supporting our field but have a hard time implementing research based practices in their cla room settings and an even harder time finding it in the classrooms around them
