Redeeming The Dream Feminism Redemption And Christian Tradition:

Redeeming the Dream Mary C. Grey,1999      Redeeming the Dream Mary Grey,2000      Feminism, Redemption, and the Christian Tradition Mary C. Grey,1990      Divine Flesh, Embodied Word Anne-Claire Mulder,2006 What has Luce Irigaray s statement that women need a God to do with her thoughts on the relation between body and mind or the sensible and the intelligible Using the theological notion incarnation as a hermeneutical key Anne Claire Mulder brings together and illuminates the interrelations between these different themes in Luce Irigaray s work Seesawing between Luce Irigaray s critique of philosophical discourse and her constructive philosophy Mulder elucidates Irigaray s thoughts on the relations between becoming woman and becoming divine She shows that Luce Irigaray s restaging of the relation between the sensible and the intelligible between flesh and Word is key to her reinterpretation of the relation between woman and God In and through her interpretation of Luce Irigaray s thoughts on the flesh she argues that the relation between flesh and Word must be seen as a dialectical one instead of as a dualistic relation This means that incarnation is no longer seen as a one way process of Word becoming flesh but as a continuing process of flesh becoming word and word becoming flesh For all images and thoughts including those of God are produced by the flesh divine in its creativity inexhaustibility in response to the touch of the other And these images thoughts words in turn become embodied by touching and moving the flesh of the subject

Reading, Feminism, and Spirituality Dawn Llewellyn,2016-01-03 Through original interviews and research Llewellyn uses spirituality to uncover new commonalities between the second and third feminist waves and sacred and secular experiences Her lively approach highlights the importance of reading cultures in feminist studies connecting women s voices across generations literary practices and religions

Feminist Theology and the Challenge of Difference Margaret D. Kamitsuka,2007-07-20 Drawing from poststructuralist postcolonial and queer theory this text explores the challenges of cultivating attentiveness to difference in women s experiences and reflects on the impact of race and sexuality on feminist theology

The Father's Will Nicholas E. Lombardo,2013-12 Drawing on philosophical analysis and historical critical exegesis this study sets out to clarify the Father s will for Christ and how it relates to his death on the cross Then after considering the theologies of Anselm and Peter Abelard it argues for the recovery of the early Christian category of ransom

Salvation as Praxis Wayne Morris,2013-12-19 Will people of other faiths be saved and to what extent should the response to this question shape Christian engagements with people of other faiths Historically the predominant answer to these questions has been that the person of another faith will not be saved and is therefore in need of conversion to Christianity for their salvation to be possible Consequently it has been understood to be the obligation of Christian persons to convert people of other faiths More recent theologies of religions for the past half century and more have sought to reconsider these approaches to soteriology This has sometimes led to a reaffirmation of the status quo and at other times to an alternative soteriological understanding In seeking to articulate soteriologies that make logical and doctrinal sense too often these new approaches to salvation and people of other faiths have paid little attention to questions of practice Drawing on alternative understandings of soteriology as deification healing and liberation each perspective having ancient roots in the Christian tradition it is argued that salvation can be understood as form of concrete earthly practice Understood in this way this book considers how these alternative theologies of salvation might shape Christian practices in a way that departs from a history in which the person of another faith has been perceived as a threat to Christianity and therefore in need of conversion Further it asks how the complex multi faith world of the twenty first century might better inform and shape the way in which Christian theologies frame soteriological understandings

Transforming the Struggles of Tamars Lina Androvienė, 2014-05-29

This book explores the unprecedented challenge of involuntary singleness for women and the implications of disregarding this challenge for the Christian and particularly baptistic communities of faith It argues that these communities not only fail involuntarily single women but also in so doing suffer a serious detriment to their own communal health and Christian witness Taking the challenge of involuntary singleness as a test case this book explores the method of convictional theology and argues for a holistic framework that can draw together the personal communal and visionary spheres of human existence Although primarily a work of theological ethics it also draws from a number of different disciplines including cultural studies and sociology as well as intersections of science and theology

Works of Love in a World of Violence Deidre Nicole Green, 2016-11-10

As she constructively engages feminist critiques of Christianity's complicity in violence Deidre Nicole Green challenges traditional beliefs that self sacrifice amounts to love and that suffering is inherently redemptive by arguing for a Kierkegaardian conception of Christian love that limits self sacrifice

Christology in Cultural Perspective Rev. Dr. Colin J. D. Greene, 2015-10-14

Christology defines the very heart of the Christian faith Traditionally the study of the person and work of Christ has been understood largely as an exercise in biblical exegesis or historical and doctrinal analysis Rarely if ever has Christology focused on the changing cultural paradigms that have deeply influenced the development of human knowledge and self understanding This unique volume by Colin Greene reverses that trend and in line with developments in modern cultural theory explores the interlaces between successive cultural contexts and the story of Jesus to which the Scriptures bear witness Starting with an examination of the three main Christological trajectories that have dominated the history of Christology cosmological Christology political Christology and anthropological Christology Greene proceeds to concentrate on the subtle and complex linkages between Christology and the sociopolitical paradigms that have bolstered the epistemological assumptions of modernity Greene's wide ranging study closes with a creative exploration into how Christology might once again provide us with a Christ centered vision of reality

The Liberative Cross Hye Kyung Heo, 2015-03-24

The Liberative Cross offers a theological grounding of the orthopraxy that calls North American Korean women to live as imago Dei mirroring the perichoretic fellowship of the triune God in contemporary social relations through living in imitatio crucis and imitatio relationis In so doing this book emphasizes three elements First an appropriate theology of the cross meets the challenges or concerns of developing reality Second it is a feminist theology in the sense that it seeks to retrieve a theology of the cross that is life giving and liberating for women Third it is a social trinitarian approach to the theology of the cross that can reveal the essence of God to be in relation mutuality and community in diversity The constructive work achieved in this book makes a great contribution to pastoral and ecclesial praxis and imagination

Religion and Knowledge Mathew Guest, Elisabeth Arweck, 2016-04-15 Religions have always been associated with particular forms of knowledge often knowledge accorded special significance and sometimes knowledge at odds with prevailing understandings of truth and authority in wider society New religious movements emerge on the basis of reformulated often controversial understandings of how the world works and where ultimate meaning can be found Governments have risen and fallen on the basis of such differences and global conflict has raged around competing claims about the origins and content of religious truth Such concerns give rise to recurrent questions faced by academics governments and the general public How do we treat statements made by religious groups and on what basis are they made What authorities lie behind religious claims to truth How can competing claims about knowledge be resolved Are there instances when it is appropriate to police religious knowledge claims or restrict their public expression This book addresses the relationship between religion and knowledge from a sociological perspective taking both religion and knowledge as phenomena located within ever changing social contexts It builds on historical foundations but offers a distinctive focus on the changing status of religious phenomena at the turn of the twenty first century Including critical engagement with live debates about intelligent design and the new atheism this collection of essays brings recent research on religious movements into conversation with debates about socialisation reflexivity and the changing capacity of social institutions to shape human identities Contributors examine religion as an institutional context for the production of knowledge as a form of knowledge to be transmitted or conveyed and as a social field in which controversies about knowledge emerge
