Redefining Motherhood Changing Identities And Patterns:

Redefining Motherhood Sharon Abbey, Andrea O'Reilly, 1998 Women have through choice and circumstance changed what it means to be a mother today No longer is there one clear and correct prescribed definition As economic social cultural and political conditions evolve women are revolutionizing concepts of mothering in a way unrecognizable short decades ago In this unique collection twenty three women teaching at colleges and universities throughout Canada explore how traditional views of motherhood have been influenced by changing social and cultural conditions Their essays unravel patriarchal constructions of motherhood and re present new definitions drawn from women s lived experiences

Matricentric Feminism: Theory, Activism, Practice. The 2nd Edition Andrea O'Reilly, 2021-04-04 The 2nd edition includes a new preface that considers how matricentric feminism in positioning mothering as a verb affords a gender neutral understanding of motherwork and allows for an appreciation of how motherwork is deeply gendered and how this may be challenged and changed through empowered mothering The book argues that the category of mother is distinct from the category of woman and that many of the problems mothers face are specific to women s role and identity as mothers Indeed mothers are oppressed under patriarchy as women and as mothers Consequently mothers need a feminism of their own one that positions mothers concerns as the starting point for a theory and politic of empowerment O Reilly terms this new mode of feminism matricentric feminism and the book explores how it is represented and experienced in theory activism and practice

Mothers and Children Susan E. Chase, Mary Frances Rogers, 2001 Motherhood is a highly personal array of experiences with a uniquely public dimension preoccupying policymakers advice givers health care providers religious leaders child care workers educators and total strangers who feel entitled to judge mothers they see with their children in the neighborhood or on the TV news Chase U of Tulsa and Rogers U of West Florida approach motherhood and mothering as feminist sociologists focusing on questions such as how ideas about motherhood are shaped by social and historical conditions how ideas about motherhood change over time and across social contexts who has the power to make their definitions of motherhood stick and what diverse groups of mothers themselves think Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR the maternal tradition to the matrilineal and matrifocal perspectives that have emerged over the last few decades as the mother's voice moved from silence to speech. Mad Mothers, Bad Mothers, and What a "Good" Mother Would Do Sarah LaChance Adams, 2014-05-20 When a mother kills her child we call her a bad mother but as this book shows even mothers who intend to do their children harm are not easily categorized as mad or bad. Maternal love is a complex emotion rich with contradictory impulses and desires and motherhood is a conflicted state in which women constantly renegotiate the needs mother and child the self and the other. Applying care ethics philosophy and the work of Emmanuel Levinas Maurice Merleau Ponty and Simone de Beauvoir to real world experiences of motherhood Sarah LaChance Adams throws the inherent tensions of motherhood into sharp relief drawing a more nuanced portrait of the mother and child relationship than previously conceived. The maternal example is particularly instructive for ethical theory highlighting the dynamics of human interdependence while also affirming separate interests. LaChance Adams particularly focuses on maternal ambivalence and its morally productive role in reinforcing the divergence between oneself and others helping to recognize the particularities of situation and negotiating the difference between one's own needs and the desires of others. She ultimately argues maternal filicide is a social problem requiring a collective solution that ethical philosophy and philosophies of care can inform

Troubling Maternity Emily Jeremiah, 2003 The question of maternity is crucial for feminists to whom it represents both challenge and inspiration as it is for many thinkers engaged with the issues of agency corporeality and ethics This examination puts forward the idea of a maternal performativity drawing on the work of Judith Butler and numerous other feminist theorists to offer new ways of looking at 1970s and 1980s literary texts by ten German speaking women writers including Barbara Frischmuth Elfriede Jelinek Irmtraud Morgner and Karin Struck It argues that as yet maternal agency has not adequately been theorized a project which is urgent given the traditional view in Western culture of the mother as passive and suggests that Butler's notion of performativity can assist in this task It proposes a performative conception of both mothering and literature and links both of these to the question of ethics which is understood as involving embodiment and relationality To different extents all of the texts examined depict mothers as marginal abject or insane thus demonstrating the operations of exclusion and the need for a maternal agency to be developed and enacted The idea of maternal performativity is refined in five chapters which focus respectively on community corporeality the mother child relationship the family and discursive production The conclusion explores the ethics of literary practice and knowledge production and argues that in the light of the developing fields of new reproductive technologies and genetics it is imperative that we seek new understandings of embodiment community and care a task to which this study aspires to contribute
