Refugees And Gender

Thomas Spijkerboer

Refugees And Gender:

Gender in Refugee Law Efrat Arbel, Catherine Dauvergne, Jenni Millbank, 2014-04-16 Questions of gender have strongly influenced the development of international refugee law over the last few decades This volume assesses the progress toward appropriate recognition of gender related persecution in refugee law It documents the advances made following intense advocacy around the world in the 1990s and evaluates the extent to which gender has been successfully integrated into refugee law Evaluating the research and advocacy agendas for gender in refugee law ten years beyond the 2002 UNHCR Gender Guidelines the book investigates the current status of gender in refugee law It examines gender related persecution claims of both women and men including those based on sexual orientation and gender identity and explores how the development of an anti refugee agenda in many Western states exponentially increases vulnerability for refugees making gendered claims The volume includes contributions from scholars and members of the advocacy community that allow the book to examine conceptual and doctrinal themes arising at the intersection of gender and refugee law and specific case studies across major Western refugee receiving nations The book will be of great interest and value to researchers and students of asylum and immigration law international politics and gender studies

Refugees and Gender Heaven Crawley, 2001 Refugees and Gender Law and Process examines how those representing asylum seekers can ensure that all gender related aspects of an asylum claim are considered and appropriately reflected in the determination process The book aims to provide a comprehensive understanding of the concepts of gender related persecution as well as a gendered framework for the interpretation of the key elements of the 1951 Refugee Convention Detailed information is provided on the implications of gender in asylum law policy and practice in the UK with comparative case law and materials from other countries including Canada US and Australia Refugees and Gender Law and Process provides a theoretical overview an outline of case law and a practical resource which is intended to improve standards of representation and decision making and to increase awareness of the gendered experiences of refugees facing persecution

Refugee Women Leah Bassel, 2012-05-31 Debates over the headscarf and niqab so called sharia tribunals Female Genital Operations and forced marriages have raged in Europe and North America in recent years raising the question does accommodating Islam violate women s rights The book takes issue with the terms of this debate It contrasts debates in France over the headscarf and in Canada over religious arbitration with the lived experience of a specific group of Muslim women Somali refugee women The challenges these women eloquently describe first hand demonstrate that the fray over accommodating culture and religion neglects other needs and engenders a democratic deficit In Refugee Women Beyond Gender versus Culture new theoretical perspectives recast both the story told and who tells the tale By focusing on the politics underlying how these debates are framed and the experiences of women at the heart of these controversies women are considered first and foremost as democratic agents rather than actors in the culture versus gender script Crucially the institutions and processes created to address women's needs are critically assessed from this perspective. Breaking from scholarship that focuses on whether the accommodation of culture and religion harms women, Bassel argues that this debate ignores the realities of the women at its heart. In these debates, Muslim women are constructed as silent victims. Bassel pleads compellingly for a consideration of women in all their complexity as active participants in democratic life. The book will appeal to students and scholars throughout the social sciences, particularly of sociology, political science, and women's studies.

Gender, Violence, Refugees
Susanne Buckley-Zistel, Ulrike Krause, 2017-08-01

Providing nuanced accounts of how the social identities of men and women in the context of displacement and the experience or manifestation of violence interact, this collection offers conceptual analyses and in-depth case studies to illustrate how gender relations are affected by displacement, encampment, and return. The essays show how these factors lead to various forms of direct, indirect, and structural violence. This ranges from discussions of norms reflected in policy documents and practise the relationship between relief structures and living conditions in camps to forced military recruitment and forced return, and covers countries in Africa, Asia, and Europe.

Development & Diaspora
Wenona Mary Giles, Penny Van Esterik, 1996

Extrait de l'introduction: The survival strategies and resilience of refugee women are vital to subsistence and social change in their households, workplaces, and communities. As we write this introduction, Rwandese women and men and their families are becoming refugees in huge numbers, just as in the past people from Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Bosnia, Sudan, Mozambique have moved into exile. News reports tell of the devastating circumstances that often await refugees: makeshift camps devoid of water, food, health care, and other basic human needs, in addition to threats to security. The forced displacement of millions of people across the world indicates that to remain safely in one's home community and country is no longer a fundamental human right. It is difficult to step back from devastating images of refugees to see these women as individuals. And it is equally difficult to distance oneself by theoretical and abstract analysis. But feminist praxis must always be informed by theory, and theory by praxis. In this book, we work toward change by examining the position of various groups of refugee women in history and theory, cross-culturally and across disciplines and professions.

Gender and Refugee Status
Thomas Spijkerboer, 2017-03-02

This is the first comprehensive socio-legal study of the interrelation between gender and the law of refugee status. In the past decade, the issue has received increasing attention in academic writing, the media, and the courtroom. This book contains an interdisciplinary analysis. The empirical data collected for this study and not published previously concerns Dutch asylum practice. The Netherlands is a prominent refugee-receiving country in Europe, yet hardly any English texts address Dutch refugee law. The book also covers foreign case law and academic writing. Therefore, the analysis is relevant for all refugee-receiving countries in the Western world. The empirical data on The Netherlands functions as a case study. The book combines perspectives of post-structuralist feminism and post-colonial studies. Refugee women are constructed as a double other. This intersectionality is related to the construction of the Third World as feminine, passive, in need of active outside intervention, etc. etc. The book provides a comprehensive overview of academic writing and of case law on the subject On this basis of theoretical perspectives that were almost ignored until now it develops an innovative critique of refugee law discourse and outlines its possible consequences for legal doctrine

Gender and Migration Anastasia Christou, Eleonore Kofman, 2022-03-07 This open access short reader offers a critical review of the debates on the transformation of migration and gendered mobilities primarily in Europe though also engaging in wider theoretical insights Building on empirical case studies and grounded in an analytical framework that incorporates both men and women masculinities sexualities and wider intersectional insights this reader provides an accessible overview of conceptual developments and methodological shifts and their implications for a gendered understanding of migration in the past 30 years It explores different and emerging approaches in major areas such as gendered labour markets across diverse sectors beyond domestic and care work to include skilled sectors of social reproduction the significance of families in migration and transnational families displacement asylum and refugees and the incorporation of gender and sexuality in asylum determination academic critiques and gendered discourses concerning integration often with the focus on Muslim women The reader concludes with considerations of the potential impact of three notable developments on gendered migrations and mobilities Black Lives Matter Brexit and COVID 19 As such it is a valuable resource for students academics policy makers and practitioners

The Gender and Security Agenda Chantal de Jonge Oudraat, Michael E. Brown, 2020-05-27 This book examines the gender dimensions of a wide array of national and international security challenges The volume examines gender dynamics in ten issue areas in both the traditional and human security sub fields armed conflict post conflict terrorism military organizations movement of people development environment humanitarian emergencies human rights governance The contributions show how gender affects security and how security problems affect gender issues Each chapter also examines a common set of key factors across the issue areas obstacles to progress drivers of progress and long term strategies for progress in the 21st century The volume develops key scholarship on the gender dimensions of security challenges and thereby provides a foundation for improved strategies and policy directions going forward The lesson to be drawn from this study is clear if scholars policymakers and citizens care about these issues then they need to think about both security and gender This will be of much interest to students of gender studies security studies human security and International Relations in general The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Research Handbook on Migration, Gender, and COVID-19 Marie McAuliffe, Céline Bauloz, 2024-01-18 Drawing together the latest research on migration gender and COVID 19 this erudite Research Handbook contributes to a better understanding of the immediate and longer term implications of the pandemic on gender dynamics and roles in international migration Providing a wealth of expert critical analysis it considers post COVID 19 realities and assesses the future scope of research in this interdisciplinary field of study

Only Rape!

Human Rights and Gender Equality for Refugee Women Eileen Pittaway, Linda Albina Bartolomei, 2022-11-29 This book charts the roller coaster ride taken by the authors over the past 33 years in the ongoing fight to acknowledge prevent and respond to the rape and sexual abuse of women in conflict and displacement situations They have worked with an international network of academics refugee women and human rights activists in 22 countries The story moves between refugee camps and the United Nations refugee settlements in cities and national governments Theory and ethical research methods are an important part of the story At times it is very confronting sometimes amusing and often uplifting The Palgrave Handbook of Gender and Migration Claudia Mora, Nicola Piper, 2021-02-16 This handbook adopts a distinctively global and intersectional approach to gender and migration as social class race and ethnicity shape the process of migration in its multiple dimensions A large range of topics exploring gender sexuality and migration are presented including feminist migration research care family emotional labour brain drain and gender parenting gendered geographies of power modern slavery women and refugee law masculinities and more Scholars from North and South America Europe Asia and Oceania delve into institutional normative and day to day practices conditioning migrants rights opportunities and life chances based on material from around the world This handbook will be of great interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including Women s and Gender Studies Sociology Sexuality Studies Migration Studies Politics Social Policy Public Policy and Area Studies Women and Borders Seema Shekhawat, Emanuela C. Del Re, 2017-12-18 Borders whether settled or contested violent or calm closed or open may have a direct and often acute human impact Those affected may be people living nearby those attempting to cross them and even those who succeed in doing so At the border vulnerable refugee and migrant communities especially women are exposed to state centred boundary practices paving the way for both their alienation and exploitation The militarization of borders subjugates the very position of women in these marginalized areas and often subjects them to further victimization which is facilitated by patriarchal socio cultural practice Structural violence is endemic to these regions and gender interlocks with their perimeters to reinforce and shape violence This book locates gender and violence along geographical edges and critically examines the gendered experiences of women as global border residents and border crossers Broadly it explores two questions First what are women s experiences of engaging with borders Second where are women positioned in the theory and practice of marking remarking and demarking these margins Offering a nuanced and thorough approach this book suggests that research on borders and violence needs to focus on how bordered violence shapes the embodiment of gender identity and norms and how they are challenged It examines an array of issues including forced migration trafficking and cross border ties to explore how gender and borders intersect The Sage Encyclopedia of Refugee Studies Yen Le Espiritu, 2025-09-01 Refugees and displacement are defining issues of the 21st century with over 70 million asylum seekers refugees and stateless individuals forced from their homes as of 2020 Every two seconds one person is forcibly displaced due to climate change global epidemics and ongoing conflicts The SAGE Encyclopedia of Refugee Studies edited by members of The Critical Refugee Studies Collective serves as a vital and comprehensive resource for understanding the historical political and cultural dimensions of displacement. Featuring over 250 authoritative articles, this landmark reference work is organized into three key themes: law, politics, and policy; humanitarianism and humanitarian organizations; and media, culture, and storytelling. Drawing from disciplines such as migration studies, Indigenous studies, critical race studies, environmental studies, sociology, political science, law, anthropology, and the arts, this encyclopedia critically examines refugee issues in relation to imperialism, racism, patriarchy, and militarism. Beyond academic analysis, The SAGE Encyclopedia of Refugee Studies centers refugee voices through narratives, first person accounts, and visual storytelling, highlighting the lived experiences, communities, and creative expressions of displaced individuals. This essential resource is invaluable for scholars, educators, policymakers, community-based organizations, and refugees themselves.

Gendering the International Asylum and Refugee Debate J. Freedman, 2015-06-23. This revised and updated 2nd edition of Freedman's hard-hitting study aims to remedy the current lack of gender-specific analyses of asylum and refugee issues. It provides a comprehensive account of the situation of women in global forced migration and explains the ways in which women's experiences are shaped by gendered relations and structures.

Gender and Refugee Status Thomas Spijkerboer, 2000. A comprehensive socio-legal study of the interrelation between gender and the law of refugee status. The book contains an interdisciplinary analysis. The empirical data collected for this study concerns Dutch asylum practice. The Netherlands is a prominent refugee-receiving country in Europe, yet hardly any English texts address Dutch refugee law. The book also covers foreign case law and academic writing. Therefore, the analysis is relevant for all refugee-receiving countries in the Western world. The empirical data on the Netherlands functions as a case study. The book combines perspectives of post-structuralist feminism and post-colonial studies. Refugee women are constructed as a double other. This intersectionality is related to the construction of the Third World as feminine, passive, in need of active outside intervention.

Sudanese Women Refugees J. Edward, 2007-10-29. This book examines the social, cultural, economic, and political transformations that have occurred among southern Sudanese women refugees as they experience life in Cairo, Egypt. It intends to show how these women use their newly acquired skills and knowledge to challenge their past and to challenge the image of women refugees as victims and dependents. The author counters previous literature's tendency to categorize these women as victimized, dependent, and backwards, rather than recognizing their strength and contributions to their new societies.

Women, Gender and Labour Migration Pamela Sharpe, 2002-01-31. New and original research which fills a gap in the market of migration studies. Covers a broad range of topics. Clearly and accessibly written.

The Routledge Handbook of Gender and Development Anne Coles, Leslie Gray, Janet Momsen, 2015-02-20. The Routledge Handbook of Gender and Development provides a comprehensive statement and reference point for gender and development policy-making and practice in an international and multi-disciplinary context. Specifically, it provides critical reviews and appraisals of the current state of gender and development and considers future trends. It includes theoretical and practical approaches as well as empirical studies. The international reach and scope of the Handbook and the contributors' experiences allow engagement with and reflection upon these bridging and linking themes as well as the examining the politics and policy of how we think about and practice gender and development. Organized into eight inter-related sections, the Handbook contains over 50 contributions from leading scholars looking at conceptual and theoretical approaches, environmental resources, poverty and families, women and health-related services, migration and mobility, the effect of civil and international conflict, and international economies and development. This Handbook provides a wealth of interdisciplinary information and will appeal to students and practitioners in Geography, Development Studies, Gender Studies, and related disciplines.

The Ideal Refugees Elena Fiddian-Qasmiyeh, 2014-02-11 Refugee camps are typically perceived as militarized and patriarchal spaces, and yet the Sahrawi refugee camps and their inhabitants have consistently been represented as ideal in nature, uniquely secular and democratic spaces, and characterized by gender equality. Drawing on extensive research with and about Sahrawi refugees in Algeria, Cuba, Spain, South Africa, and Syria, Fiddian-Qasmiyeh explores how, why, and to what effect such idealized depictions have been projected onto the international arena.

Gender and Sexuality in the Migration Trajectories Emiliana Mangone, Giuseppe Masullo, Mar Gallego, 2017-12-01 The concept of gender has recently become one of the symbols of what many consider a clash of civilizations between the West and Muslim countries. Recent events highlight how gender issues are emblematic of the basic traits of a country's culture and thus constitute some of the elements allowing for the construction of dividing lines between cultures, arbitrarily distinguishing between the evolved and backward ones, therefore with the aim to establish demarcation lines between Us and the Others. The existential condition of migration leads to formation of multiple and diasporic identities, de-territorialized and reassembled at the individual level. In this scenario, the integration of migrants is the result of a two-way process in which, significantly, the social representations that migrants are being built on the population and of the host society before and after the arrival, and intangible resources, cognitive and relational, experienced by migrants. Gender studies, usually employing a constructionist perspective, have seldom dealt with the issue of migration by analysing the experiences of the migrants themselves. The few studies that have highlighted how migrants' gender and sexuality underline the persistence of a model of domination and alteration typical of the colonial era, emphasizing the social identity allocation mechanisms used by Western societies that follow essentialist visions of migrants' ethnic and sexual identity, that is, of a social status considered as inferior and undesirable. There are several theoretical and methodological challenges calling for a perspective that takes into account the interconnection between gender, sexuality, and migration. Studies on sexuality have now taken two roads, often strongly polarized and non-communicating between them, on the one hand, also because of the spread of sexually transmitted diseases, appeared a new generation of surveys on sexual behaviour of Western and other populations, and on the changes in sexual behaviour along the main socio-economic and cultural fractures. On the other, a research trend on sexuality New Sexuality Studies has developed with mixed purposes both analytical and critical emancipatory ones This branch which focuses almost exclusively on the study of minority sexual subcultures portrayed sexuality mostly through the lens of power and regarded with suspicion any attempt to develop a systematic and methodologically documented analysis of sexuality The book will have repercussions on the progress of knowledge from a macro dimension represented by the growth and the transformation of migration flows across the Mediterranean to Europe to meso dimension of social representations of gender and sexuality that the migrant builds himself and the population of the host society finally the micro dimension through the analysis of case studies From these problems the book aims to initiate a transdisciplinary reflection on such issues and sexuality in part by reducing the clear vacuum in scientific research taking shape as an experimental laboratory of new research perspectives because we recognize critically how the methods of the social sciences do not simply reproduce the phenomena under study but also contribute a greater or lesser degree to their construction And at the same time making an issue of sex sexuality and the multiple identifications of gender of and in migration involving migratory experiences both on the side of leaving a country and on that of arriving to another
