Ernst, 2010 In this important new book on the declining health of one of America's leading environmental treasures Howard Ernst reveals a Chesapeake bay that has become functionally dead He argues that the Chesapeake Bay succumbed to a light green environmental movement that has too often adopted a philosophy of compromise over confrontation and that has fueling a political dead zone where political leaders posture but fail to make the hard decisions needed to achieve real improvement in the Bay's health While blunt in his evaluation of past and present failures to restore the Bay Ernst believes that there is still time to turn the restoration effort around and sets out new dark green strategies to do so In the concluding chapter five long time bay activists provide first person accounts of their battles and hopes for the future Hailed by Robert F Kennedy Jr as a must read for anyone concerned about environmental protection this challenging book provides a wake up call for everyone concerned about the future of the Chesapeake Bay and other ecological treasures through out America Industrial Ecology Ronald S. Smith, 1998-10-15 Complying with environmental protection laws need not punch a hole in a firm s bottom line Smith shows that compliance can be profitable He provides corporate executives with easily accessed data and analyses of the theory of environmental management systems EMS and in doing so covers the major environmental concerns worrying corporate America The result is a practical guide to the tools of environmental management and how they can be used to enhance a corporation s profitability while at the same time reducing its impact on the environment and consequent financial liabilities Readers will find ways to tailor an appropriate strategy to their specific business needs justify that strategy financially and integrate the EMS into an existing business plan Smith takes the reader through all of the environmental factors that affect profits and productivity He demonstrates the practicality of not only considering the life cycle of a single product or service but also the impact of life cycles throughout the entire company A degree in environmental science is not needed to follow Smith s reasoning and advice but solid business knowledge Iis R important Smith provides all of the background needed to start an EMS program the benefits of which are limited only by management s priorities and the creativity of a company s people The Environment and the Press Mark Neuzil, 2008-07-16 This history of environmental journalism looks at how the practice now defines issues and sets the public agenda evolving from a tradition that includes the works of authors such as Pliny the Elder John Muir and Rachel Carson It makes the case that the relationship between the media and its audience is an ongoing conversation between society and the media on what matters and what should matter Guide to Sources for Agricultural and Biological Research J. Environmental Protection Agency. Library Systems Branch, 1974 The Symbolic Earth James G. Cantrill, Christine L. Oravec, 2021-10-21 The core dilemma in environmental advocacy may be illustrated by the question When we communicate about the world should we stress what we know or what we feel The contributors to The Symbolic Earth argue that it is more important to decide how we should talk about what we know and feel In their view the environment is larely a product of how we talk about the world Because the environment is a social construction the only hope we have of preserving it is to understand and alter the fundamental ways we discuss it This collection first examines the ways in which discourse creates environment perceptions Subjects discussed range from the description of natural scenery to the advocacy of political interest groups from the everyday interactions of citizens facing environmental crises to the greenwashing of corporate imagemakers and from the psychology of the mass public to the social constructions of the mass media The authors include nationally known scholars of environmental history rhetorical theory ethnography communication and journalism studies public policy and media criticism
