ARCHAEOLOGY - Volume II Donald L. Hardesty,2010-06-15 Archaeology is a component of Encyclopedia of Social Sciences and Humanities in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias Archaeology is a road for traveling into the past that is independent of and complementary to documents and memory The archaeological record provides historical perspectives on variability and change in human life support systems with the potential for use in planning for future sustainable development The Theme is organized into four different topics which represent the main scientific areas of the theme Foundations of Archaeology The Archaeology of Life Support Systems World Cultural Heritage Preserving Archaeological Sites and Monuments which are then expanded into multiple subtopics each as a chapter The first topic deals with historical methodological and theoretical foundations of archaeology The second topic explores the archaeological record of human life support systems and includes chapters on foraging food production such as farming and nomadic lifestyles civilizations water management systems and sustainability World cultural heritage is the third topic Finally the fourth topic covers the preservation of cultural memorials such as archaeological sites landscapes and monuments These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers NGOs and GOs

Rescue Archaeology Funding in 1987/88 English Heritage,1987 Rescue Archaeology Philip A. Rahtz,1974 The Scientific Treatment of Material from Rescue Excavations Ancient Monuments Board for England. Committee for Rescue Archaeology,Great Britain. Directorate of Ancient Monuments and Historic Buildings,1978 Archaeology's Visual Culture Roger Balm,2015-12-14 Archaeology's Visual Culture explores archaeology through the lens of visual culture theory The insistent visibility of archaeology is a key stimulus for the imaginative and creative interpretation of our encounters with the past Balm investigates the nature of this projection of the visual revealing an embedded subjectivity in the imagery of archaeology and acknowledging the multiplicity of meanings that cohere around artifacts archaeological sites and museum displays Using a wide range of case studies the book highlights how archaeologists can view objects and the consequences that ensue from these ways of seeing Throughout the book Balm considers the potential for documentary images and visual material held in archives to perform cultural work within and between groups of specialists With primary sources ranging from the mid nineteenth to the early twenty first century this volume also maps the intellectual and social connections between archaeologists and their peers Geographical settings include Britain Cyprus Mesoamerica the Middle East and the United States and the sites of visual encounter are no less diverse ranging from excavation reports in salvage archaeology to instrumentally derived data sets and remote sensing imagery By forensically examining selected visual records from published accounts and archival sources enduring tropes of representation become apparent that transcend issues of style and reflect fundamental visual sensibilities within the discipline of archaeology

Down to Earth Archaeology William Y. Adams,2022-05-19 Professor William Y Adams presents sixteen papers on Nubia written at various times during his lengthy and productive academic career Most of those selected had been previously published only in a limited way encompassing a wide range of topics Adams wanted to enable them to reach a wider readership than they had originally Archaeological Heritage Management Henry Cleere,2020-11-25 This book results from discussions at the 1982 World Archaeological Congress on Public Archaeology and Cultural Resource Management It brings to everyone's notice the common need of a coherent well planned response to the potentially destructive threats of development and tourism to archaeology

Underground Bruce O'Neill,2024-04-02 This book gets to the bottom of the twenty first century city literally Underground moves beneath Romania's capital Bucharest to examine how the demands of global accumulation have extended urban life not just upward into higher skylines and outward to ever more distant peripheries but also downward beneath city sidewalks Underground details how developers and municipal officials have invested tremendous sums of money to gentrify and expand Bucharest's constellation of subterranean Metro stations and pedestrian pathways basements and cellars bunkers and crypts to provide upwardly mobile residents with space to live work and play in an overcrowded and increasingly unaffordable city center In this sense the repurposed underground facilitates dreams of middle class ascendancy This sense of optimism the book shows invariably gives way to ambivalence as the middle classes confront the indignities of being incorporated into the city from below Bruce O'Neill argues that these loosely coordinated efforts have not only introduced novel forms of social fragmentation but also a new aesthetics of inequality that are fundamentally shaping where and how the middle classes fit in the city Pushing urban studies beyond a cartographic perspective with its horizontal focus upon centers and peripheries walls and gates O'Neill brings into focus the vertical dynamics of gentrification that place some on the bottom and others on top of the city As cities around the world extend further downward in the name of development and sustainability Underground makes clear that scholars and practitioners of the twenty first century city will need to become ever more attuned to the cultural politics of urban verticality asking not just who is included in the city and who has been pressed outside of it but also who is on top and who is placed on the bottom

Archaeological Method and Theory Linda Ellis, 2003-12-16 This Encyclopedia brings together the most recent scientific information on a collection of subjects that are too often and inconveniently treated in separate publications It provides a survey of archaeological method and theory as well as the application of physical and biological sciences in archaeological research Every aspect of archaeological work is represented from the discovery process to the ultimate disposition of materials Thus the reader will find entries on subject matter covering disciplinary theory legislation affecting the work of archaeologists pre excavation surveying excavation methodology on site conservation techniques post excavation analysis The rapid evolution of analytical technology is often superficially treated or not covered at all in textbooks or other commonly available sources Here the latest refinements in techniques such as radiometric dating stable isotopic analysis and the PCR technique of DNA analysis are presented clearly and authoritatively The discussion of these techniques is amplified by including results of the work of professionals conducting interdisciplinary research and by covering the methodological enhancements provided by the physical and natural sciences Cultural property legislation regardless of its country of origin has affected how archaeologists conduct their work This encyclopedia covers all major U.S. legislation developed for the protection of cultural property including the recent Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act and offers a substantial article on worldwide legislation concerning the reburial of human remains and its effects on the present and future practice of archaeology Without some sort of conservation program at the point of excavation valuable materials may be inadvertently contaminated or destroyed Many simple and low cost techniques to promote both sample integrity and long term preservation for major classes of materials are described in this volume Traditional treatments of method and theory usually focus on prehistoric periods and are limited in their geographic range This volume includes discussions based on various historical periods on different continents as reflected in entries such as Historical Archaeology Industrial Archaeology Medieval Archaeology and Classical Archaeology Boudica Graham Webster, 2013-08-06 Queen Boudica leader of the Iceni revolted against the Romans in AD60 only to have her efforts avenged by a humiliated Roman army This lively and fascinating book examines in detail the evidence and theories which surround these events Spectacle and Display: A Modern History of Britain's Roman Mosaic Pavements Michael Dawson, 2021-05-20 Antiquarian interest in the Roman period mosaics of Britain began in the 16th century This book is the first to explore responses and attitudes to mosaics not just at the point of discovery but during their subsequent history It is a field which has received scant attention and provides a compelling insight into the agency of these remains
