Research And Argumentation:

Rhetorical Argumentation Christopher W. Tindale, 2004-05-27 The study of argumentation has primarily focused on logical and dialectical approaches with minimal attention given to the rhetorical facets of argument Rhetorical Argumentation Principles of Theory and Practice approaches argumentation from a rhetorical point of view and demonstrates how logical and dialectical considerations depend on the rhetorical features of the argumentative situation Throughout this text author Christopher W Tindale identifies how argumentation as a communicative practice can best be understood by its rhetorical features Rhetorical Argumentation uniquely presents argumentation through the idea of an invitational rhetoric by encouraging readers to think about the ways in which they encounter arguments The book explores the processes involved in the argumentative exchanges between arguers and audiences thus emphasizing the collaborative nature of the arguer audience relationship in the argumentative situation That is argument is presented not as a set of ideas imposed upon a passive audience but rather as a dynamic exchange wherein the audience is involved in self persuasion Key Features Explores the ancient foundations of rhetoric from Aristotle to the relatively contemporary works of Perelman and Olbrechts Tytecta Toulmin and Bakhtin Includes numerous examples illustrating the ways in which the reasoning within arguments involves the audience from premise through to conclusion Presents the idea of dialogism drawn from the theories of Mikhail Bakhtin to create a more dynamic and interactive sense of the argumentative context Examines current theory as well as the historical relationship between argument and rhetoric Provides detailed discussions of topics such as nature of the dialogical rhetorical context audiences and standards of appraisal Rhetorical Argumentation is designed to provide advanced undergraduate and graduate students with a clear understanding of the rhetorical view of argumentation and how it can be effective in contemporary society The book is an ideal text for courses in Communication Rhetoric Argumentation Informal Logic Critical Thinking and Conflict Resolution

Why Good Argument is Critical to Useful Research Mike Metcalfe, 2007 Writers like Rorty Popper Dewey and Feyerabend suggest that rather than searching for more and more exacting and rigorous rules for how to undertake well justified research we need to be concerned with communities of doubters These if adequately applying dialectic argument will act to challenge unjustified knowledge claims and so save us all from being deceived This book encourages doubt by providing over a dozen ways to critique research especially where that research results in knowledge claims about human activities Each chapter provides another pragmatic conception of knowledge used to question the assumptions behind whatever research work you have just read Therefore the book offers a way of learning about your own discipline specific research literature while also learning how to design a well justified research report

Business Research Through Argument Mike Metcalfe, 2012-12-06 This book suggests that business research in the collection analysis and communication of evidence will benefit from explicit acceptance of research as argumentation Argumentation is the process of compiling an argument through selection and organization of the relevant

Argumentation Through Languages and Cultures Christian Plantin, 2022-11-16 This book examines argumentative situations as they develop in different cultures and language groups. It considers the development of argumentation studies making greater allowance for the specificities of argument as developed by non-mainstream cultures: the contribution of Jainism to the framework of philosophical disputation in India; duels as an institutionalized argumentative genre practiced by Ammassalik culture within the Inuit community; the application of the Muslim theological legal reasoning system to evaluate two traditional pre-Muslim traditional practices in Borneo; the annotation of schemes on the basis of Walton's taxonomy of argument schemes and Wagemans' Periodic Table of Arguments; methodology proposed for the reconstruction and analysis of double mode arguments in advertisements combining the instruments developed in social semiotics, pragmatics and argumentation theory; and a review of the argumentation theoretical literature on metaphor in argumentative discourse. This book is of interest to students and researchers in argumentation studies, rhetoric, philosophy, cultural studies and language studies. Previously published in Argumentation Volume 35 issue 1 March 2021. Chapters 'Annotating Argument Schemes' and 'The Study of Metaphor in Argumentation Theory' are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com.

Understanding and Evaluating Research Sue L. T. McGregor, 2017-10-25 Understanding and Evaluating Research: A Critical Guide shows students how to be critical consumers of research and to appreciate the power of methodology as it shapes the research question, the use of theory in the study, the methods used and how the outcomes are reported. The book starts with what it means to be a critical and uncritical reader of research, followed by a detailed chapter on methodology and then proceeds to a discussion of each component of a research article as it is informed by the methodology. The book encourages readers to select an article from their discipline, learning along the way how to assess each component of the article and come to a judgment of its rigor or quality as a scholarly report.
