Revenge Of The Methodist Bicycle Company The:

The Revenge of the Methodist Bicycle Company Christopher Armstrong, H. V. Nelles, 1977 A delightful tale of the battle over whether streetcars should be allowed to run on Sundays in late 1800s High Victorian Toronto Illustrated with many photographs and political cartoons of the time The authors both at the time of writing associate professors of history at York University tell their impeccably researched story in a lighthearted tone proving once again that history does not have to be dull

Canadian History: Confederation to the present Martin Brook Taylor, Doug Owram, 1994-01-01 In these two volumes which replace the Reader's Guide to Canadian History experts provide a select and critical guide to historical writing about pre and post Confederation Canada with an emphasis on the most recent scholarship Cover The Un-bluing of Toronto and the Revenge of the Methodist Bicycle Company : the Fight Over Sunday Street Cars, 1891-1898 Christopher Armstrong, H. V. (Henry Vivian) Nelles, Canadian Historical Association, 1973

Newspaper City Phillip Gordon Mackintosh, 2017-04-24 In Newspaper City Phillip Gordon Mackintosh scrutinizes the reluctance of early Torontonians to pave their streets He demonstrates how Toronto's two liberal newspapers the Toronto Globe and Toronto Daily Star nevertheless campaigned for surface infrastructure as the leading expression of modern urbanity despite the broad resistance of property owners to pay for infrastructure improvements under local improvements by laws To boost paving newspapers used their broadsheets to fashion two imagined cities for their readers one overrun with animals dirt and marginal people the other civilized modern and crowned with clean streets However the employment of capitalism to generate traditional public goods such as concrete sidewalks asphalt roads regulated pedestrianism and efficient automobilism is complicated Thus the liberal newspapers promotion of a city of orderly infrastructure and contented people in actual Toronto proved strikingly illiberal Consequently Mackintosh's study reveals the contradictory nature of newspapers and the historiographical complexities of newspaper research

The Regenerators, 2nd Edition Ramsay Cook, 2016-01-01 A crisis of faith confronted many Canadian Protestants in the late nineteenth century With their religious beliefs challenged by the new biological sciences and historical criticism of the Bible they turned from personal salvation to the dire social problems of the industrial age The Regenerators explores the nature of social criticism in this era and its complex ties to the religious thinking of the day showing how the path blazed by nineteenth century religious liberals led not to the Kingdom of God on earth but ironically to the secular city The winner of the Governor General's Literary Award for Non Fiction when it was first published in 1985 The Regenerators became an instant classic for its fascinating portraits of evolutionists rationalists spiritualists socialists and free thinkers before the turn of the century This new edition features an introduction by historian and biographer Donald Wright

Toronto, the Belfast of Canada William J. Smyth, 2015-01-01 Toronto the Belfast of Canada explores the intolerant origins of today's cosmopolitan city

The Young Vincent Massey Claude Bissell, 1981-12-15 For Vincent Massey youth was a period of protest and emerging public fame He broke with his strong family traditions of Methodist piety and American ties He became known as a patron of the arts innovator politician and diplomat This volume begins with his prosperous Victorian childhood and carries through days as a student and wartime officer He plans Hart House which becomes a cultural centre Promised a cabinet post he runs for Parliament and is defeated Instead he is sent to Washington as Canada's first minister there and achieves brilliant success He is prominent in educational circles he helps to reorganize the Liberal party presses for progressive policies and flirts with the idea of replacing Mackenzie King The book ends in 1935 as he sails to London as his country's high commissioner He considers it his first major job In between he writes poetry usually light sometimes venom tipped He acts and directs plays He sponsors a string quartet of international stature He marries Alice Parkin a handsome woman of strong convictions and with her builds a country home near Port Hope Ontario He becomes a leading collector of modern Canadian art and is involved with the painter David Milne The book is as well a history of the people and ideas which influenced the young Massey family teachers friends associates One chapter is given to his relations with Mackenzie King each of them convinced of his own rightness but separated by fundamental differences loud in protestations of friendship but nourishing an inner contempt for one another Claude Bissell has built this complex and absorbing portrait from the unpublished papers of Vincent Massey and members of his circle diaries of King and other politicians memories of artists and musicians He writes with vigour and elegance quoting extensively from private records and letters coining epigrams of his own His portrait is sympathetic but not uncritical with plenty of scope for the reader to make his own judgements This is the first of two volumes about one of Canada's best known and least understood figures statesman cultural advocate patron family man and first native governor general

Suburb, Slum, Urban Village Carolyn Whitzman, 2010-01-03 Suburb Slum Urban Village examines the relationship between image and reality for one city neighbourhood Toronto's Parkdale Carolyn Whitzman tracks Parkdale's story across three eras its early decades as a politically independent suburb of the industrial city its half century of ostensible decline toward becoming a slum and a post industrial period of transformation into a revitalized urban village This book also shows how Parkdale's image influenced planning policy for the neighbourhood even when the prevailing image of Parkdale had little to do with the actual social conditions there Whitzman demonstrates that this misunderstanding of social conditions had discriminatory effects For example even while Parkdale's reputation as a gentrified area grew in the post sixties era the overall health and income of the neighbourhood's residents was in fact decreasing and the area attracted media coverage as a dumping ground for psychiatric outpatients Parkdale's changing image thus stood in stark contrast to its real social conditions Nevertheless this image became a self fulfilling prophecy as it contributed to increasingly skewed planning practices for Parkdale in the late twentieth century This rich and detailed history of a neighbourhood's actual conditions imaginary connotations and planning policies will appeal to scholars and students in urban studies planning and geography as well as to general readers interested in Toronto and Parkdale's urban history

Riverdale Elizabeth Gillan Muir, 2014-10-08 A complete history of

Toronto's Riverdale community this book narrates the lives of early inhabitants reaching as far back as Simcoe's first settlement of the region the construction boom of 1915 and the waves of immigration that made Riverdale one of Toronto's most diverse areas

"Architecture, Design and Craft in Toronto 1900-1940 " Alla Myzelev, 2017-07-05 Toronto the largest and one of the most multicultural cities in Canada boasts an equally interesting and diverse architectural heritage Architecture Design and Craft in Toronto 1900 1940 tells a story of the significant changes in domestic life in the first 40 years of the twentieth century Adopting a multidisciplinary approach to studies of residential spaces the author examines how questions of modernity and modern living influenced not only architectural designs but also interior furnishings modes of transportation and ways to spend leisure time The book discusses several case studies some of which are known both locally and internationally for example Casa Loma while others such as Guild of All Arts or Sherwood have been virtually unstudied by historians of visual culture The overall goal of the book is to put Toronto on the map of scholars of urban design and architecture and to uncover previously unknown histories of design craft and domesticity in Toronto This study will be of interest not only to the academic community namely architects designers craftspeople and scholars of these disciplines along with social historians but also the general public interested in local history and or visual culture
