Satire In Narrative Petronius Swift Gibbon Melville And Pynchon:

Satire in Narrative Frank Palmeri, 2012-02-01 Virtually all theories of satire define it as a criticism of contemporary society. Some argue that satire criticizes the present in favor of a standard of values that has been superseded and thus that satire is generally backward looking and conservative. While this is often true of poetic satire, in this study Frank Palmeri asserts that narrative satire performs a different function: that it parodies both the established view of the world and that of its opponents, offering its own distinctive critical perspective. This theory of satire builds on the idea of dialogical parody in the work of Russian theorist Mikhail Bakhtin, while revising Bakhtin's estimate of carnival. In Palmeri's view, the carnivalesque offers only an inverted mirror image of authoritative discourse, while parodic narrative satire suggests an alternative to both the official world and its inverted opposite. Palmeri applies this theory of narrative satire to five works of world literature, each of which has generated sharp controversy about the genre to which it rightly belongs: Petronius' Satyricon, Jonathan Swift's A Tale of a Tub, Edward Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Herman Melville's The Confidence Man, and Thomas Pynchon's The Crying of Lot 49. He analyzes the features that link these works and shows how the changing pairs of alternatives that are parodied in these satires reflect changes in the terms of social and cultural oppositions. Satire in Narrative will appeal to comparatists, specialists in eighteenth century and American literature, and others interested in theories of genre and the relations between literary forms and social history. Satire in Narrative Frank Palmeri, 1990

Satire, History, Novel Frank Palmeri, 2003 Narrative satire was one of the dominant literary forms of the 18th century, but it came to be displaced by novelistic and historical forms of narrative. Palmeri, English U of Miami, argues that these new forms defined themselves in opposition to satire but also by appropriating elements of satire. Satire in Narrative Frank Palmeri, 2014-08-04 Virtually all theories of satire define it as a criticism of contemporary society. State in 1922 The book discusses works by Darrell Figgis Eimar O Duffy Austin Clarke Flann O'Brien and Mervyn Wall in the context of political and social developments particularly relating to economic policy the role of the Church and censorship Mikhail Bakhtin defines Menippean satire as an unresolved dialogue between actual and or implied voices designed to test a truth or philosophical idea The Irish satirists of the first half of the twentieth century use medieval Ireland as a setting for addressing contemporary concerns or borrow characters from medieval Irish texts that they place in a modern context Each satire thus creates a series of dialogues between the past and present between characters who represent opposing values and ideologies and between the older texts and their modern reworkings Unauthorized Versions reveals the double bind at the core of every Menippean satire Each writer discussed in the book expresses an awareness of the paradox of an author writing in the vacuum created by official censorship seeking to engage his audience in the dethroning of the very authorities by whom he is deprived of his audience By revealing his own ambiguous position the satirist knowingly subverts his own authority along with that of his opponents This study will appeal to students and scholars interested in Irish literature genre studies the reception of the Middle Ages and the relationship between literature and history Jos Lanters associate professor of classics at the University of Oklahoma will begin her position as associate professor of English at the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee in Fall 2000 She is author of Missed Understandings A Study of Stage Adaptations of the Works of James Joyce and coeditor of Troubled Histories Troubled Fictions Twentieth Century Anglo Irish Prose Irish satire in the twentieth century has awaited a critic as intelligent and well informed as Jose Lanters whose Unauthorized Versions nicely complements Vivian Mercier's pioneering efforts For several of the works she discusses Lanters here provides the only substantial criticism they have received to date Her approach combines sensitivity to form and expression with a constant attentiveness to historical context while her study is anchored in a lucid and suggestive use of Bakhtin Every library with an interest in Irish writing will want this book R Brandon Kershner Alumni Professor of English University of Florida Lanters well argued volume will be a valuable resource for the study of modern Irish prose at the upper division undergraduate level and above Choice Works discussed in Unauthorized Versions Darrell Figgis The Return of the Hero Eimar O Duffy King Goshawk and the Birds The Spacious Adventures of the Man in the Street Asses in Clover Austin Clarke The Bright Temptation The Singing Men at Cashel The Sun Dances at Easter Flann O'Brien At Swim Two Birds The Third Policeman Mervyn Wall The Unfortunate Fursey The Return of Fursey

Animals and Other People Heather Keenleyside, 2016-11-21

In Animals and Other People Heather Keenleyside argues for the central role of literary modes of knowledge in apprehending animal life Keenleyside focuses on writers who populate their poetry novels and children's stories with conspicuously figurative animals experiment with conventional genres like the beast fable and write the lives of mice as well as men From such writers including James Thomson Daniel Defoe Jonathan Swift Laurence Sterne Anna Letitia Barbauld and others she recovers a key insight about the representation of living beings when we think and write about animals we are never in the territory of strictly literal description relying solely on the evidence of our senses Indeed any description of animals involves personification of a sort if we understand personification not as a rhetorical ornament but as a fundamental part of our descriptive and conceptual repertoire essential for distinguishing living beings from things Throughout the book animals are characterized by a distinctive mode of agency and generality they are at once moving and being moved at once individual beings and generic or species figures every cat is also The Cat Animals thus become figures with which to think about key philosophical questions about the nature of human agency and of social and political community They also come into view as potential participants in that community as one sort of people among others Demonstrating the centrality of animals to an eighteenth century literary and philosophical tradition Animals and Other People also argues for the importance of this tradition to current discussions of what life is and how we might live together
