Many of the entries include original interviews with cast or crew members. With such rich information, each show's entry constitutes a chapter in the history of television through the story of the show and the people who made it happen. The best of variety, drama, game shows, comedies, adventures, and many more categories are featured. An appendix offers interesting facts and figures and ranks shows according to such statistics as longest run, longest delay from debut to win, and most Emmys won.

I Stand Convicted R. L. Tirschel, 2005-04 The cop busted through the door and I dove out the window and into the cold night air. It was 4am, mid-December, and all I was wearing was my underwear. A thin swirl of snow circled the ground three floors below. With his gun in one hand, the cop grabbed my leg as soon as I was out the window. He held me in place and I stood perpendicular to the outside wall of the building. I tried to kick off the wall with the foot that was free, but I kicked the cop's hand instead, and he dropped his gun and loosened his grip on my leg. I pulled free and flew away, and as I floated in the air, time played a cruel trick on me. It let me fall so slow that I had plenty of time to think how bad it was going to hurt when I landed. I calmly wondered if I would be alive once I hit the ground. I was comforted by the thought that if I wasn't, I would have made good my escape. The cops would certainly have me then, but at least I would be free. It felt good sailing through that black void, expecting what was to come. Because in that period of time, I was free. I was as free as a bird in captivity.
