Ellison,2023-12-11 This study examines third and fourth century portraits of married Christians and associated images reading them as visual rhetoric in early Christian conversations about marriage and celibacy and recovering lay perspectives underrepresented or missing in literary sources Historians of early Christianity have grown increasingly aware that written sources display an enthusiasm for asceticism and sexual renunciation that was far from representative of the lives of most early Christians Often called a silent majority the married laity in fact left behind a significant body of work in the material record Particularly in and around Rome they commissioned and used such objects as sarcophagi paintings glass vessels finger rings luxury silver other jewellery items gems and seals that bore their portraits and other iconographic forms of self representation This study is the first to undertake a sustained exploration of these material sources in the context of early Christian discourses and practices related to marriage sexuality and celibacy Reading this visual evidence increases understanding of the population who created it the religious commitments they asserted and the comparatively moderate forms of piety they set forth as meritorious alternatives to the ascetic ideal In their visual rhetoric these artifacts and images comprise additional voices in Late Antique conversations about idealized ways of Christian life and ultimately provide a fuller picture of the early Christian world Plentifully illustrated with photographs and drawings this volume provides readers access to primary material evidence Such evidence like textual sources require critical interpretation this study sets forth a careful methodology for iconographic analysis and applies it to identify the potential intentions of patrons and artists and the perceptions of viewers It compares iconography to literary sources and ritual practices as part of the interpretive process clarifying the ways images had a rhetorical edge and contributed to larger conversations Accessibly written The Visual Rhetoric of the Married Laity in Late Antiquity is of interest to students and scholars working on Late Antiquity early Christian and late Roman social history marriage and celibacy in early Christianity and early Christian Roman and Byzantine art Studies in Ancient Technology Robert James Forbes,1955 The Pilgrim and the Book Julia Bolton Holloway,1992 Julia Bolton Holloway s The Pilgrim and the Book A Study of Dante Langland and Chaucer investigates major fourteenth century texts the Commedia Piers Plowman and The Canterbury Tales in the light of the medieval theory and practice of pilgrimage especially concentrating on Emmaus and Exodus paradigms Holloway s analysis draws extensively on iconography musicology typology and anthropology The concluding chapter explains why each poet places himself within his poem in his own image as a pilgrim Dictionary Catalog of the Department Library United States. Department of the Interior. Library,1967 The Biology of the Mollusca R. D. Purchon,2013-10-22 Reviews the most important literature on the functional morphology and natural history of molluscs over a period of half a century from 1925 to the present day and draws extensively upon authoritative papers published mostly in the English language in a large number of international journals during this period By these means it is hoped to provide an anthology of what is most interesting in the literature in a number of selected topics Appendices give some practical assistance for the dissection of selected examples "Architecture and Pilgrimage, 1000?500 " Deborah Howard,2017-07-05 Although there is an obvious association between pilgrimage and place relatively little research has centred directly on the role of architecture Architecture and Pilgrimage 1000 1500 Southern Europe and Beyond synthesizes the work of a distinguished international group of scholars It takes a broad view of architecture to include cities routes ritual topographies and human interaction with the natural environment as well as specific buildings and shrines and considers how these were perceived represented and remembered The essays explore both the ways in which the physical embodiment of pilgrimage cultures is shared and what we can learn from the differences The chosen period reflects the flowering of medieval and early modern pilgrimage The perspective is that of the pilgrim journeying within or embarking from Southern Europe with a particular emphasis on Italy The book pursues the connections between pilgrimage and architecture through the investigation of such issues as theology liturgy patronage miracles and healing relics and individual and communal memory Moreover it explores how pilgrimage may be regarded on various levels from a physical journey towards a holy site to a more symbolic and internalized idea of pilgrimage of the soul

At the Dawn of a New Consciousness Bernard Nesfield-Cookson, 2010 The Italian Renaissance is considered by many to mark the beginning of the modern age The name itself literally rebirth accurately expresses the innovation that took place during that period Renaissance thinkers took a vital interest in history literature and the arts focusing on the human world as much as if not more than that of God The rapid development of the arts and sciences reflected their study of the visible physical world in all its three dimensional glory The source of these new impulses says the author can be found in what Rudolf Steiner calls the birth of the consciousness soul the faculty for objective self awareness Instead of a primarily inward looking consciousness people began looking outward with greater intensity observing the world around them in detail With greater conscious of their separate being people of the Renaissance began to study the phenomena of the world of nature from an individual personal perspective In this enlightening book illustrated with sixteen pages of color plates the author illuminates the concept of the consciousness soul showing how it is reflected in fifteenth century Florentine painting sculpture and architecture as well as in the impulses issuing from Plato's Academy of Athens Studies in Ancient Technology, Volume 6 Heat and Heating: Refrigeration, the Art of Cooling and Producing Cold: Light Forbes,2023-07-24 Physiology A.
