Scalpel The Heart:

The Heart of David Jeffrey Hazim, 2006-04      The Operated Heart at Autopsy Stuart Lair Houser, 2009-06-10 After 17 years of private practice as a cardiovascular surgeon my partners questioned the rationality of my decision to leave the clinical practice behind and become a cardiovascular pathologist. Infact their disbelief of my intention to make the leap of faith was understandable. For a surgeon the operating room is where the action is. It is as simple as that. And when a cardiac surgeon can hold in his hand a beating heart now off bypass and improved by an operation just completed satisfaction is real and profound. However life is complex. Throughout my surgical career questions regarding the pathogenesis of atherosclerotic cardiovascular disease arose. Curiosities of various phenotypes of the disease piqued my interest. I became aware of the power of investigative techniques that might address these questions. I then began to realize that my career in the operating room left me little time to address them. I needed to study the disease full time in order to contribute to my understanding of it. Ironically my first autopsy as a pathology resident was on an individual with a past history of coronary artery bypass surgery. When it came to examining the heart the dissection as all pathologists know was complex. However I found it to be straightforward and enjoyable. But I subsequently learned that my fellow residents and mentors did not share my intrigue and comfort in defining the nuances of the operated heart.

Journey Into the Heart David Monagan, 2007 The twentieth century journey to understand the human heart was a saga on a par with the race to the moon. Physicians have evolved from fearing to even touch a living human heart to rebuilding and transplanting hearts. Today heart attacks can often be stopped.

A Laboratory Course in Physiology Walter Bradford Cannon, 1919      The Heroic Heart Jetsunma Tenzin Palmo, 2022-08-16 A guidebook to making life meaningful by cultivating compassion embracing adversity and training the mind from one of the foremost living Buddhist nuns. Freeing ourselves from our habitual emotional patterns starts with taming the mind. Why is this so important? Because a wild mind tends to hurt rather than heal. Taming the mind helps us uncover our true nature and connect with those around us from a grounded place of self awareness. Through caring for others you can walk the Buddhist path of bodhisattvas becoming a spiritual hero of compassion. Based on the classic fourteenth century mind training text of Tibetan Buddhism called the Thirty Seven Practices of a Bodhisattva this guidebook shares pithy advice on how to act as bodhisattvas in our everyday lives enabling us to possess compassion in an authentic way. Jetsunma Tenzin Palmo an exemplary spiritual teacher who spent over a dozen years meditating in the Himalayas and one of the first Buddhist nuns to be ordained in the West shares her reflections on this famous teaching and how to live a life of mindfulness and selflessness.
