How School Leaders Contribute to Student Success Kenneth Leithwood,Jingping Sun,Katina Pollock,2017-03-15 While considerable evidence indicates that school leaders are able to make important contributions to the success of their students much less is known about how such contributions are made This book provides a comprehensive account of research aimed at filling this gap in our knowledge along with guidelines about how school leaders might use this knowledge for their own school improvement work Leadership practices known to be effective for improving student success are outlined in the first section of the book while the remaining sections identify four paths along which the influence of those practices flow to exercise an influence on student success Each of the Rational Emotional Organizational and Family paths are populated by conditions or variables known to have relatively direct effects on student success and also open to influence by effective leadership practices While the Four Path framework narrows the attention of school leaders to a still considerable number conditions known to contribute to student success it leaves school leaders the autonomy to select for improvement efforts the sub set of conditions that make the most sense in their own local circumstances The approach to leadership described in this book provides evidence based guidance on what to lead and flexibility on how to lead for purposes of improving student learning

School Leadership, Citizenship Education and Politics in China Shuqin Xu, 2016-08-23 This book examines and theorizes the dynamics and complexities of leadership in citizenship education in junior secondary schools in Shanghai China Specifically it examines from a macro and micro political theoretical perspective the interactions between principals and school party secretaries SPSs and how they respond to the demands of macro and micro political actors This qualitative empirical research found four major school leadership citizenship education scenarios in which principals and SPSs addressed the interests of different macro and micro political actors Moreover principals and SPSs enjoyed a complicated working relationship at the micro political school level in which they collaborated to fulfill their responsibilities and respond to school macro and micro political actors while competing for power over leadership in citizenship education Principals and SPSs leadership in citizenship education was shaped by inter related factors including diverse influences in a multi leveled world the integration of politics and education the demands of macro and micro political actors and personal factors To interpret these findings this study proposes a theoretical framework for understanding leadership in citizenship education in China as a political exercise This theoretical framework is useful for understanding the complexity of school and citizenship education leadership the micro political relationship between Chinese principals and SPSs and their dynamic and complex interactions with macro and micro political actors
