Teaching Science to Every Child John Settlage, Sherry Southerland, 2012-04-23 Teaching Science to Every Child provides timely and practical guidance about teaching science to all students. Particular emphasis is given to making science accessible to students who are typically pushed to the fringe especially students of color and English language learners. Central to this text is the idea that science can be viewed as a culture including specific methods of thinking particular ways of communicating and specialized kinds of tools. Written in a conversational style it treats readers as professional partners in efforts to address vital issues and implement classroom practices that will contribute to closing achievement gaps and advancing the science learning of all children. Features include Point Counterpoint essays that present contrasting perspectives on a variety of science education topics explicit connections between National Science Education Standards and chapter content and chapter objectives bulleted summaries key terms reflection and discussion questions.
