Law's Community Roger Cotterrell, 1995 Law's Community offers a distinctive analysis of law identifying political and moral problems that are fundamental to contemporary legal theory It portrays contemporary law as institutionalized doctrine emphasizing ways in which legal modes of thought influence wider currents of understanding and belief in contemporary Western societies Exploring relationships between law and sociology as contrasting and competing fields of knowledge Law's Community develops ideas from social theory to identify key problems for legal development in particular those of restoring moral authority to law and of elaborating a concept of community that can guide legal regulation The analysis leads to radical conclusions among them that law's functions need reconsideration at the most general level that a unitary state legal system as portrayed in traditional kinds of legal theory may no longer be adequate in complex contemporary societies and that law should be reconceptualized as a diverse but co-ordinated plurality of systems sites and forms of regulation

Nowak,2012-12-06 This is the first part of a textbook for students of sociology and for those students of other social sciences who wish to make use in their work of the research methods elaborated in the course of the development of empirical sociology over the last few decades The development of empirical sociological research in our country and the growing demand both for a practical application of its results and for graduates of sociological studies in various fields of social practice testifies to a much broader trend It is evidence of a desire to base our understanding and conscious transformation of social phenomena on a sound scientific perception of social processes and the mechanisms governing them The increasing volume of studies in Poland is accompanied by a growing need for a particular type of research method namely one in which questions addressed to the sociologist would be answered in a manner as free as possible of conclusions based on impressions and defining as unambiguously as possible both the limits of the generality and the degree of validity of the inferences drawn from the results of the research These conditions are met by the so called standardized methods of investigating social phenomena which together with statistical methods of analyzing
