Intangible Cultural Heritage and New Methodological Frameworks Eleftheria Rania Kosmidou, Leslie Grace McMurtry, 2025-05-08 This book examines media performance and the public space as sites of intangible cultural heritage a heritage that moves beyond physical museums and monuments to encompass film and media performing arts oral traditions social practices rituals artifacts and cultural spaces Focusing on the current methodological challenges and new frameworks that surround the study of intangible cultural heritage in the public space this volume explores the ways in which intangible cultural heritage is formed represented appropriated and changed The authors propose a broad understanding of cultural heritage emerging from the public sphere encompassing museums oral traditions performing arts social practices artifacts media and cultural spaces as the inclusive collective cultural expressions of everyday culture This unique and interdisciplinary volume will interest scholars and students of cultural studies cultural heritage media and film studies performance studies history and sociology Conservation of Historic Buildings and Their Contents David Watt, Belinda Colston, 2016-01-08 The conference entitled Where Conservation Meets Conservation held at De Montfort University Leicester on 9 September 2002 provided the opportunity to explore the interface between historic buildings and their contents by recognizing the interrelationships between architectural and object conservation Within this consideration was given to the role of conservation science and technology in achieving appropriate and sustainable solutions The emphasis of the conference was on raising awareness at a practical interdisciplinary level and providing a platform for sharing knowledge and experience "Craft, Space and Interior Design, 1855-2005" Sandra Alföldy, 2017-07-05 Constructed space is defined by its shape by the materials with which it is enclosed and by the objects that are placed within or decorate its exterior or interior The interaction of these crafted objects or decorated surfaces with space provides viewers or inhabitants with visual clues about the environment as well as visual cues about decorum viewers can know what kind of behaviour is expected and what the space means Furnishings and dress textile panels and clay pots stained glass and gesso panels all defined as craft or decorative art give architectural space defined as high art its character without craft architecture is empty and devoid of meaning This engaging collection of essays presents the first sustained exploration of the relationship of craft to architectural spaces The book unravels the complex ways in which craft controls manipulates organises and defines space to highlight how the relationship between craft and space can be understood as a form of communication between related parts that combine to form a unified whole Records of the Glasgow Bibliographical Society Glasgow Bibliographical Society,1920 Craft and Heritage Susan Surette, Elaine Cheasley Paterson, 2021-10-21 This collection of 19 original essays argues for a critical and sustained engagement between the fields of craft and heritage The book's interdisciplinary and international array of authors consider how heritage and craft institutions policies practices and audiences encounter the constraints and opportunities of production recognition and exhibition Case studies spanning 125 years raise and address questions concerning authenticity and commodification innovation and improvisation diasporas and decolonization global economies and national and professional identities Authors also analyse mechanisms through which craft mobilises and has been harnessed by heritage processes and designations Examples range from an Irish village at the 1893 Chicago World's Fair and the role of chronopolitics in contemporary Vietnamese pottery to the invisibility of crochet within Swedish heritagisation processes and the application of game theory in a ceramics museum With section one considering citizenship and identity section two sustainability and section three dynamic craft in cultural institutions Craft and Heritage interrogates how craft objects makers and processes intersect with current heritage concerns and practices Medieval and Early Modern Representations of Authority in Scotland and the British Isles Kate Buchanan, Lucinda H.S. Dean, 2016-05-20 What use is it to be given authority over men and lands if others do not know about it Furthermore what use is that authority if those who know about it do not respect it or recognise its jurisdiction And what strategies and language written and spoken visual and auditory material cultural and political did those in authority throughout the medieval and early modern era use to project and make known their power These questions have been crucial since regulations for governance entered society and are found at the core of this volume In order to address these issues from an historical perspective this collection of essays considers representations of authority made by a cross section of society within the British Isles Arranged in thematic sections the 14 essays in the collection bridge the divide between medieval and early modern to build up understanding of the developments and continuities that can be followed across the centuries in question Whether crown or noble government or church burgh or merchant all desired power and influence but their means of representing authority were very different These essays encompass a myriad of methods demonstrating power and disseminating the image of authority including material culture art literature architecture and landscapes saintly cults speeches and propaganda martial posturing and strategic alliances music liturgy and ceremonial display Thus this interdisciplinary collection illuminates the variable forms in which authority was presented by key individuals and institutions in Scotland and the British Isles By placing these within the context of the European powers with whom they interacted this volume also underlines the unique relationships developed between the people and those who exercised authority over them
