Scottish Studies Peter Gilchrist, 1984-01-01 Geography: Discipline, Profession and Subject since 1870 Gary S. Dunbar, 2013-03-14 Gary S Dunbar Professionalization and ZAY shun! I do not think I like that word I am quite certain I do not like that word! said A F Martin of Oxford University in 1980 when I mentioned to him that I was making a study of the professionalization of geography in Europe and North America from about 1870 to 1930 I should not have been surprised by his reply because Mr Martin a highly regarded lecturer tutor and university man was in some ways a typical example of his generation of British geographers in that he did not have an advanced degree and his publication record was meager Except for a single remarkable essay Martin 1951 he was not well known in the field of geography at least not outside the United Kingdom Was he then a professional geographer Yes indeed because he was a full time scholar in a distinguished university even though he lacked the sort of credentials that have been demanded of subsequent generations of scholars at Oxford and elsewhere I certainly do not mean to denigrate Martin or his ilk I am simply using this anecdote to launch a book on the emergence of modern geography Education (Scotland). Great Britain. American and British Women in Science, 1800-1900 Mary R.S. Creese, 2000-01-01 A systematic survey and comparison of the work of 19th century American and British women in scientific research this book covers the two countries in which women of the period were most active in scientific work and examines all the fields in which they were engaged The field by field examination brings out patterns and concentrations in women's research in both countries and allows a systematic comparison of the two national groups Through this comparison new insights are provided into how the national patterns developed and what they meant in terms of both the process of women's entry into research and the contributions they made there Ladies in the Laboratory features a specialized bibliography of nineteenth century research journal publications by women created from the London Royal Society's Catalogue of Scientific Papers 1800-1900 In addition 23 illustrations present in condensed form information about American and British women's scientific publications throughout the nineteenth century This well organized blend of individual life stories and quantitative information presents a great deal of new data and field by field analysis its broad and methodical coverage will make it a basic work for everyone interested in the story of women's
