Experiencing Environment and Place through Children's Literature Amy Cutter-Mackenzie,Phillip Payne,Alan Reid,2014-06-11 Recent scholarship on children s literature displays a wide variety of interests in classic and contemporary children s books While environmental and ecological concerns have led to an interest in ecocriticism as yet there is little on the significance of the ecological imagination and experience to both the authors and readers young and old of these texts This edited collection brings together a set of original international research based chapters to explore the role of children s literature in learning about environments and places with a focus on how children s literature may inform and enrich our imagination experiences and responses to environmental challenges and injustice Contributions from Australia Canada USA and UK explore the diverse ways in which children s literature can provide what are arguably some of the first and possibly most formative engagements that some children might have with nature Chapters examine classic and new storybooks mythic tales and image based and or written texts read at home in school and in the field Contributors focus on exploring how children's literature mediates and informs our imagination and understandings of diverse environments and places and how it might open our eyes and lives to other presences, understandings and priorities through stories, their telling and re-telling and their analysis. This book offers practical strategies for incorporating narrative tools and structures into the classroom and encouraging effective conceptual, pedagogical and personal avenues for engaged teaching and learning across languages and cultures. Supporting Literacies for Children of Color Daniel R. Meier, 2019-11-26 A comprehensive theory to practice guidebook. Supporting Literacies for Children of Color argues for a new strength-based view of teaching to support the literacy talents and abilities of preschool-aged children of Color. The early childhood field is at a critical juncture in preschool literacy education as educators confront an ever-changing array of curricular approaches and assessment measures while still trying to meet the social, cultural, language and literacy needs of individual children. By integrating parent and teacher literacy perspectives as well as calling on the author's own decades of teaching, this book offers practical tools and strategies for culturally responsive pedagogy and demonstrates effective methods for using oral language and multilingualism to celebrate and deepen the literacy capabilities of children of Color. Featuring examples of children's literacy processes and products both at home and in preschools to illustrate effective instructional strategies as well as boxes noting important ideas and strategies in each major section, this text will guide students and educators toward creating a supportive learning environment for children of Color.
