Cantori,2019-02-26 Although development at the local level is a primary goal of most assistance schemes most development agencies and banks know little of politics at the local level in developing countries As a result assistance programs generally lack relevance to indigenous populations and are at the community level viewed as being controlled from the outside The authors of this book concentrate on how local politics influence development in the Middle East with the intent of encouraging more appropriate and thus more effective assistance programs They discuss general policy issues and the nature of center periphery relations in Middle East countries and delve into specific problems encountered in Egypt Jordan Lebanon Syria Iraq Turkey Tunisia and North Yemen showing how information about local political schemes can aid administrators of development programs in providing assistance that is acceptable and accepted at the local level The case studies provide a broad base for planning encompassing capitalist state capitalist and socialist systems in both rural and urban settings Cultural Anthropology of the Middle East ,1992 During the last two decades the number of anthropological studies on the Middle East has increased exponentially This partially annotated bibliography offers a comprehensive survey of studies written in English French and German and covers the period from 1965 to 1987 Local Politics and Contemporary Transformations in the Arab World M. Spoils of War in the Arab East Aziz Al-Azmeh, Harout Akdedian, Haian Dukhan, 2024-01-11 Post conflict scenarios are often proposed for Arab countries that have witnessed significant changes and civil wars Yet the plans for reconciliation transitional justice and the return of the displaced often overlook the real conditions that make these recommendations impossible This book provides a critical analysis of current post conflict frameworks for Syria and Iraq Drawing on empirical research the book shows that reconciliation and reconstruction scenarios need to be considered alongside the realities on the ground It argues that Iraq and Syria exist in a condition of conflict transformation rather than of conflict termination because the extreme changes that accompanied these countries into war continue long after the conflicts end Furthermore the chapters highlight why experts should not seek solutions in culturalist terms and ancestral enmities or rely on the wartime status quo Rather they should look to the specific military political economic and socio cultural conditions that require different solutions A critical analysis of existing post conflict frameworks their applicability and their potential outcomes in Iraq and Syria the book is a vital contribution to post conflict studies It highlights the need for new approaches to reconstruction and peacebuilding in Arab countries and points to how they should be found

The Middle Eastern Village Richard Lawless, 2023-05-31 Rapid and uneven change to the fabric of rural life is widespread in modern Middle Eastern countries Modernisation usually in the Western model has often brought major improvements in agricultural technology education and public health but has also had the effect of weakening the traditional rural economy of many villages and encouraging their growing dependence on external sources of income most notably oil remittances This collection of research on the Middle Eastern village looks at the impact on rural life and environment of such factors as the mass exodus of labour to urban centres emigration immigration environmental change and the changing role of women in rural communities particularly the wives of migrant workers who have to fill a new role in the family structure State sponsored agrarian policies have weakened the power of traditional landed interests and together with labour migration have provoked new tension and inequalities in rural society The book makes clear that the pattern of change has been highly uneven and has served to heterogenise the countryside As the oil states enter a period of recession and the likelihood of substantial return migration increases rural communities will need to make further major adjustments and the book examines the tensions this new development is likely to produce First published in 1987

Documenting Transnational Migration Richard T. Antoun,2005-07-01 Most studies on transnational migration either stress assimilation circulatory migration or the negative impact of migration This remarkable study which covers migrants from one Jordanian village to 17 different countries in Europe Asia and North America emphasizes the resiliency of transnational migrants after long periods of absence social encapsulation and stress and their ability to construct social networks and reinterpret traditions in such a way as to mix the old and the new in a scenario that incorporates both worlds Focusing on the humanistic aspects of the migration experience this book examines questions such as birth control women s work retention of tribal law and the changing attitudes of migrants towards themselves their families their home communities and their nation It ends with placing transnational migration from Jordan in a cross cultural perspective by comparing it with similar processes elsewhere and critically reviews a number of theoretical perspectives that have been used to explain migration

Arabs in America Michael Suleiman,2010-06-29 Setting the record straight about Arab American culture

Home and Homeland Linda L. Layne,2019-01-15 In this provocative examination of collective identity in Jordan Linda Layne challenges long held Western assumptions that Arabs belong to easily recognizable corporate social groups Who is a true Jordanian Who is a true Bedouin These questions according to Layne are examples of a kind of pigeonholing that has distorted the reality of Jordanian national politics In developing an alternate approach she shows that the fluid social identities of Jordan emerge from an ongoing dialogue among tribespeople members of the intelligentsia Hashemite rulers and Western social scientists Many commentators on social identity in the Middle East limit their studies to the village level but Layne s goal is to discover how the identity building processes of the locality and of the nation condition each other She finds that the tribes creates their own cultural homes through a dialogue with official nationalist rhetoric and

Jordanian urbanites while King Hussein in turn maintains the idea of the homeland in many ways that are powerfully influenced by the tribespeople The identities so formed resemble the shifting irregular shapes of postmodernist landscapes but Hussein and the Jordanian people are also beginning to use a classically modernist linear narrative to describe themselves Layne maintains however that even with this change Jordanian identities will remain resistant to all or nothing descriptions Linda L Layne is Alma and H Erwin Hale Teaching Professor of Humanities and Social Sciences in the Department of Science and Technology Studies at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Originally published in 1994 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
